TO THE HONOURABLE THE MINISTER,
Department of Reform Institutions.

SIR:

I have the honour and pleasure of submitting the Annual Report of the Department for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1959. As this report is, in view of my impending retirement, to be my last, it would seem fitting to take stock of the progress that has been made during the past seven years, not only in order that we may see where we fell short of, or exceeded, our target, but also that such an evaluation might clearly indicate the shape that our future plans should take.

It is well to remember that it was only in 1946 that the Department was formed and, at that time, adopted a policy aimed at the rehabilitation of the offender through a treatment and training programme within the institutions complemented by an intensive programme of after-care. At that time, it was recognized that to state the future policy and to outline the methods that would be used to bring it to fruition was relatively an easy task; to implement the policy, however, and to make a living reality out of a declared intention was equally recognized as being a task which would take some years to achieve.

The Policy and the Planning

When this policy was announced, it was rightly proclaimed as a progressive and constructive step forward. Unfortunately, some people, foolishly but understandingly, expected immediate results, not realizing that a system of classification, which must be the basis of individual treatment, could not be achieved overnight. Classification meant the grouping of offenders in such a way that each would receive that treatment and training which was most appropriate to his needs; this in turn meant that there would have to be established, not only institutions which were open, medium-security or maximum-security for men, for women, and for young people, but also special units with the necessary facilities for the treatment of special cases such as the drug addict, the alcoholic and the severely emotionally disturbed. When all these buildings were made available, and not until then, could thought be given to the establishment of a complete Reception and Diagnostic Centre for all offenders.

Obtaining the necessary physical plants was one difficulty which had to be overcome. A second was the establishment within these institutions of trained professional personnel since a programme of individual treatment would be impossible without the services of psychiatrists, doctors, psychologists, social workers and rehabilitation officers. Moreover, these specialists would have to be obtained at a time when commerce and industry, themselves realizing the important role that workers in the field of the human sciences have to play in these times, would be competing for their services with inducements in the shape of salaries and conditions which any Government Service would find impossible to equal.

The third difficulty to be foreseen was this: having obtained the buildings and physical facilities, having built up the professional services, what could be done to encourage the custodial officer to become treatment-oriented and to promote that atmosphere within the institutions which is constructive, not repressive, and which can give the offender every cause for hope and no reason for despair? At the time this seemed an almost insurmountable problem due to the fact that salaries and conditions of service were then such as to cause a heavy turnover in staff and the percentage of custodial officers who looked upon their work as a true vocation was small. These salaries would have to be improved, higher standards of personnel selection would have to be set and then, having obtained the right type of applicant, he would have to be trained, not only in routine custodial procedures but eventually in how to develop in his charges a sense of self-respect and personal responsibility.

In addition to these treatment aspects the training programme then in existence would have to be further developed and broadened. For treatment, in the narrow sense of diagnosing and attempting to correct those difficulties which have been the cause of the original offence, would have to go hand in hand with the establishment of acceptable habits, the acquisition of certain skills, the pursuit of knowledge and the search for spiritual guidance. To this end more chaplains, librarians, teachers and trade instructors would need to be attracted to our service.

Underlying all these plans was the ever-present realization that outlawing the more negative aspects of older methods would not be of any avail, until a more positive approach was ready to take its place. Progress had to be sure, but immediate and drastic changes might well be misunderstood or misapplied and bring about disturbances which could set back the whole scheme for many years to come.

The Achievement

At the end of my report is a list of institutions over which you have jurisdiction. A glance at this list will show the extent to which we have been able to provide that variation in the specific purpose of each institution without which no system of classification can be operated. Two Training Centres for men are now firmly established; and one Guidance Centre for women is presently under construction; two special schools for the treatment of severe behaviour problems in the Training Schools have been opened; an Alcoholics Clinic and a Drug Addiction Clinic are now past the pilot stage and are gaining a reputation for their fine work; a Neuro-Psychiatric Centre is performing the essential task of diagnosis and treatment of those who are severely disturbed; a Reformatory has been built where can be segregated the aggressive psychopaths, the severe behaviour problems, and the sex deviates, for whom clinical services have been provided. In addition, plans are presently being considered for two new units to relieve the present situation of overcrowding in our Training Schools, a school for girls centrally located and a school for boys in the South, while within months of the submission of this report a small experimental unit for girls will be opened at Lake Simcoe. We feel that within the time that has been allotted to us, this is not an unimpressive achievement and the range in the nature and purpose of our institutions compares very favourably with those of other countries, visitors from which have expressed their admiration and their envy.

Taking stock of our second problem, the finding and developing of professional staff, we have been able to attract a growing number of psychologists, doctors and social workers. This has been made possible partly through recruitment of personnel from overseas and partly by establishing Annual Training Fellowships, which helped to focus the attention of students on the correctional field and encouraged some to proceed to post-graduate work. In the field of psychiatry we have to date fallen far short of what we see as the ideal and are performance having to rely in many instances upon part-time services which, however frequent and regular, can never satisfactorily take the place of full-time help.

As we have indicated treatment in its fullest sense means meeting the needs of the individual and restoring to him a feeling of adequacy, a strengthening of self-respect and instilling a sense of personal responsibility. A well-known sociologist has pointed out that to evaluate the efficacy of the treatment programme within an institution the visitor should not ask the question, "How many visits are paid to the psychologist in a month?" but "How many times a week can a man change his socks?" The more prosaic aspects of treatment are apt to be overlooked, if we think of treatment only in terms of a clinical approach. We, therefore, consider the appointment we made in recent years of a Food Services Administrator as a complement to our treatment team and the remarkable improvement in the quality of meals served in our institutions only serves to strengthen this view. During the past year, yet another specialist was added when we engaged a Librarian to completely revise the very antiquated library system in vogue in many of our institutions. Food for thought or solace for the spirit could hardly be found in such gems as "The Boilermaker's Guide for 1877" and this appointment, though of only recent date, has already seen sweeping changes in the number and types of books now available and, naturally, in the extent to which they are now used.

Turning to our third problem in fully instituting a treatment and training programme, namely, the re-orientation of the custodial officer's approach and attitude to his charges, we feel that while much has still to be done, much has been achieved. The inauguration of a 5-day, 40-hour week, and the improvements in salaries which have been effected, have markedly stabilized our staff situation, reducing the previous heavy turnover and ensuring an increasing number of officers who look upon their work as a vocation. Staff Training is now mandatory for the staff of Reformatories, Training Centres, Clinics, etc., and the courses held at the Staff Training School at Guelph give weight to the necessity of staff understanding human behaviour, as well as to the needs for supervision and the maintenance of discipline. While we have not been able in the past to keep pace with the demand for basic training, that point is rapidly approaching and when it does it will be possible to set down a course of advanced training which will primarily lay emphasis upon the necessity for those who are in closest contact with inmates to equip themselves to understand the inmates' behaviour and problems and how these can best be solved. During the past year, three of our Training Schools have initiated short in-service training courses and it is our intention to encourage the continuation of such courses and to stimulate other institutions to adopt similar plans. The striking feature of these courses in general has been the evident enthusiasm of those participating and their obvious desire to come to grips with the problems, which our new era of reform has presented to the custodial officer.

We have to date been fortunate so far in having avoided the situation, which has arisen in other systems, of having open and bitter conflict between the demands of custody and control on one side and those of treatment and training on the other. This is in part due to the attitude taken by our professional staff to their task and in part to the willingness of other staff to learn new techniques and themselves adopt a professional attitude. It has been our good fortune to have few staff members who look upon the specialist as being a well-intentioned idealists bent on changing people from what they are not into what they do not want to be, or to have specialists who look upon other staff members as being incapable of understanding more than simple routine procedures.

It is not easy to find and train officers who will be fair and impartial, who, while bearing in mind the necessities of custody and of the maintenance of good discipline, can still balance against them the sometimes conflicting needs of rehabilitation, and who can set an example which can give others the will to lead a better life. It is, therefore, very pleasing to report that our Superintendents feel that they have today a better calibre of man entering the service than ever before. This is worthy of note since a custodial officer's job is one in which there is neither publicity nor glory, one which has incited all too often the suspicion rather than the admiration of the public. It is salutary here to pay tribute to a body of men who do an ever-arduous, often thankless, sometimes dangerous job, and do it remarkably well.

The training programme during this decade has made great strides. Trade skills taught in our institutions now include machine shop, sheet metal work, carpentry, radio and electronics, bricklaying, auto mechanics, cooking, baking, hairdressing, welding, and painting, while our farm operations cover almost every aspect of modern farming. For those who have not the interest or ability to profit from such courses and for those who are obviously in need of training in good work habits, there is an industrial production programme which can supply that need and the revenue from which is now no less than $3 million per annum. The academic programme varies according to the institution, being most intensive, of course, in our Training Schools, where we feel all our wards must further their education, and being on only a voluntary basis in our Reformatories. The important fact to notice is that any man who is desirous of continuing his studies is encouraged to do so and the necessary facilities are available for him to use.

The period under review has also seen an increasing number of "interest" groups formed, e.g., hobbies and crafts, increasing attention paid to after-care and continued yeoman service from the Salvation Army representatives and the clergy of all faiths. Perhaps one of the most impressive developments has been that of our work camps. Started in 1955, the scheme, planned co-operatively with the Department of Lands and Forests, called for a small number of inmates to work on projects for the service of others—fire-fighting, park clearing, reforestation and land conservation. Since then the scheme having been outstandingly successful has involved inmates from all five of our Industrial Farms and from one of our Reformatories. The significance of this development lies in the fact that the workers at these camps, which had either no security measures or only minimum security features, came not from our open institutions but from centres of medium security. Staff and inmates were brought into close personal contact and the personal example set by staff led to an excellent standard of morale. The work because it was useful and had a purpose gave great satisfaction to the workers and the complete success of the whole plan only serves to emphasize the value of the group approach to rehabilitation, as opposed to the mass approach. The results obtained underlined our firm belief in the therapeutic effect of serving others. A similar venture tackled this year in one of our Training Schools was that of a group of boys who volunteered to work one evening a week producing toys for the local Retarded Children's Association. The effect on the workers of the presentation of the finished product to a group, who are suffering a misfortune greater than their own, was immeasurable; the event was discussed for long afterwards and the project cheerfully and willingly assumed as an annual event.

The Future

The above review will have indicated the areas which still require attention, if our policy of rehabilitation and reform is to be as effective as it can be made. It is evident that we must continue to make every effort to recruit more trained psychiatrists, social workers, psychologists and teachers. It is evident that we must further develop our staff training courses and provide opportunities there for our senior officers and our specialized personnel to further their knowledge of their respective jobs. We must continue to recognize the importance of after-care and make every effort to reduce the caseload of rehabilitation and placement officers in order that they may the more thoroughly and effectively complete the work done inside the institutions.

We would further submit that every consideration be given to meeting the following needs:

- (a) The establishment of a Reception and Diagnostic Centre. At present classification is carried out at the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph, with the resulting anomalous situation that the decision as to whether a man needs the treatment of a Training Centre, a Clinic, or a Reformatory, is only taken after he has already spent some time in a Reformatory. We believe that a Centre, given a treatment team of clinicians, is a vital complement to our present facilities.
- (b) The possible reduction of our larger institutions. Just as true education can only be achieved with a small group, so true therapy is only possible with relatively small numbers, where the impact of an officer's personal example and the benefit of his counsel can be felt. It is realized that such a reduction, which entails the establishment of more small institutions, is a long term target on economic grounds alone, but it must never be out of our sight.
- (c) The extension of research facilities. To this end preliminary discussions have already been held with those in the Federal field aimed at achieving a method of record keeping and statistics, which will in time be most valuable in arriving at an assessment of our success or failure in rehabilitation. In addition, our own staff should be given every encouragement to further their own lines of endeavour in the field of research, for at the moment, like our colleagues in other countries, with some particular types of offenders we are still working in the dark.

In outlining our past achievements and indicating those areas where much still needs to be achieved, we feel that there is cause neither for smug self-satisfaction nor for despair. We must continue to take stock, to experiment, to introduce variety within our pattern, remembering that many of our programmes began cautiously as pilot projects. We can do so, however, with the awareness that we have been able to effect a quiet revolution in our attitude to, and in our methods of dealing with, the offender.

In previous years, it has been the practice to publish two separate reports, one dealing with Reformatories, Industrial Farms and Jails, the other with Training Schools. This year the two reports are being published in one volume, Part I and Part II respectively. The Annual Report of the Training Schools Advisory Board, which covers the work of that body, is the introduction to Part II.

May we express our appreciation for the co-operation and assistance received from officials of other departments, the many religious and other organizations, who have visited our institutions, and employers who have helped to provide employment for discharged prisoners and those proceeding on parole. We are also grateful to a loyal and devoted staff who have been most conscientious in the discharge of their duties.

Yours sincerely,

ANNUAL REPORT THE ONTARIO BOARD OF PAROLE

For the Year Ending March 31st, 1959

During the year the Board conducted 93 monthly meetings at the following Institutions: Industrial Farm, Burwash; Ontario Reformatory, Guelph; Ontario Training Centre, Brampton; Ontario Reformatory, Mimico; The Andrew Mercer Reformatory, Toronto; and The Good Shepherd Industrial Refuge, Minnow Lake, Ontario. Some 2,073 inmates were interviewed for parole consideration and 1,315 paroles were effected.

All male inmates who are serving a definite plus an indeterminate sentence appear automatically before the Board approximately two months prior to the expiration of their definite sentence. All female inmates interviewed by the Board are serving indeterminate sentences only and it is the policy of the Board to interview these cases approximately two months prior to the expiration of half the indeterminate sentence. Previous to the inmate's appearance before the Board, reports are obtained from Magistrates, Police, R.C.M.P., Probation Officers, home investigation, psychiatric, medical or psychological authorities, and family history. This, together with an institutional report, is thoroughly reviewed by the Board, and following the inmate's personal interview, the decision of the Board is conveyed to the inmate by letter.

The Ontario Parole Board has been diligent and zealous in its work during the year. At each Institution we have had the opportunity to meet and speak to the men and women whose presence before the Board has the dual purpose of (a) offering fresh hope to the inmate and (b) affording the Board the privilege of assisting men and women to a new and more useful way of life. Great care is exercised in all interviews to encourage the man or the woman to take time to discuss freely their problem, and needless to say, it is most encouraging to observe how co-operative, frank, and honest most of them are. All are counselled to keep before them the possibility of new and better achievements, and while there are some failures, still the number that do succeed is most encouraging.

Behind our efforts are many organizations that are constantly assisting in the rehabilitation of the parolee; among them the Parole and Rehabilitation Officers, the National Employment Service, the Elizabeth Fry Society, the John Howard Society, the Salvation Army, and religious welfare services. Through the good offices of these organizations, accommodation and employment are secured. While no one can foretell how the inmates will respond to their freedom and liberty, still the Board is hopeful that with all the sympathetic groups that are working on their behalf, there is every reason to believe that the majority of parolees will succeed.

Mr. D. C. Mason is the Chief Parole and Rehabilitation Officer, and Mr. G. R. Trumbell, Secretary of the Board.

THE SALVATION ARMY

REPORT OF THE POLICE COURT, PRISON, JAIL AND AFTER-CARE WORK IN THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

For Year Ending December 31, 1958

The Correctional Services Department of the Salvation Army continued to extend its service to meet the increasing demands made in this particular field during 1958.

Three new Officers were appointed to serve in the Toronto City Courts, and plans were formulated for the commencement of an entirely new work in the caring for teen age youths who would be on probation under the wing of the Salvation Army at Concord.

The Correctional Services Officers on full-time service in this Department are helped by Salvation Army Officers in 180 places (Corps) in the Province. They are further aided by the facilities offered by 20 Institutions of Social Service as Men's Hostels, Rehabilitation Centres, Receiving Homes, etc. They are able to draw on these resources whenever needed in either helping inmates of Penal Institutions or their families.

Many of our Corps Officers attend Police Court, visit jails and conduct Sunday Services there, as well as responding to calls to visit the families of prison inmates.

Thus home visitations, counselling offenders on their arrest, arranging representation and making appeals on their behalf in the Courts when requested, contacting prospective employers as release dates draw near, arranging accommodation, assisting with train fares, giving out clothing, and helping the families in many ways, are all part of the work of many Salvation Army Officers throughout the Province.

The work inside Penal Institutions has been carried out with greater understanding and skill as our Officers take courses in penology whenever possible, and attend both Provincial and National Congresses of Correction.

The daily visits of Correctional Officers to these Institutions with the privileges of personal interviews afforded them, the conducting of religious services, Bible Study Classes or Correspondence Courses have all made it possible to know the inmates better, to assess their attitude and assist them in pre-release plans.

Offers to help those released under the Ontario Parole Board's jurisdiction have been accepted in many cases and we are still anxious to serve this Board whenever possible.

In addition, as the Remission Service Branch of the Department of Justice has swung into its enlarged programme as the National Parole Board, we stand ready to give even greater assistance in the supervision of those released under its authority.

We acknowledge with sincere appreciation the financial support given by the Provincial Government and trust that in view of our ever-enlarging service our greater needs may be remembered.

Still more do we acknowledge and express our thanks for the splendid support that is given by the Government in our Correctional Services, by Magistrates and Crown Attorneys, by Wardens and Custodial Officers, and all others engaged in Penal Institutions of every kind.

Again the motto of the recent Congress of Corrections at Miami is exemplified, "Correctional Growth through Co-operative Effort".

Ontario Reformatory, Guelph, has a capacity for over 800 prisoners. It was the first reformatory established in Ontario and is the largest in the Province.

Burch Industrial Farm, outside Brantford, is a small institution with a capacity for some 200 prisoners. The buildings are of frame construction having been converted from a former air force depot.

The Industrial Farm, Burwash, is composed of three separate Camps—Main—Bison—Spruce. Camp Spruce, shown above, is approximately two miles from the Main Camp, and is the centre of a large farming section of the Institution.

Rideau Industrial Farm, located east of Smiths Falls, is constructed of military type buildings which were transported to the site and re-erected. The above photograph depicts a section of the institution.

During the past few years the Ontario Reformatory, Mimico, has operated an annex in Simcoe County, near Hillsdale. The buildings, of frame construction, are winterized and throughout the year prisoners carry out various projects of a conservation-wise nature in the surrounding area. The above photograph is of Hillsdale Camp.

A section of the Industrial Farm, Monteith, located in the northern part of the Province, near Timmins. It has accommodation for some 200 prisoners who are employed chiefly in farming.

At Hillsdale Camp in Simcoe County, all heating is by wood burning stoves.
The wood is cut and hauled by the prisoners during winter months.

At the Industrial Farm, Burwash, the main employment of prisoners in summer is farming. Burwash has some 4,000 acres of arable land. Above is shown one of the several cattle barns on the property.

Visitors building, Industrial Farm, Burwash. Recently constructed entirely by inmate labour, it is used by prisoners and their relatives and friends for visiting purposes.

Visiting room of the Andrew Mercer Reformatory for Women, Toronto, is used by inmates and their relatives and friends during visiting hours.

A section of the library at the Ontario Reformatory, Millbrook. The books are available to the inmates who are keenly interested in and enjoy the varied selection of books.

A recent innovation at the Ontario Reformatory, Millbrook, is the printing of books in braille by the inmates there. This work is performed in liaison with officials of the C.N.I.B. in Toronto, and the books translated are educational text books for blind children. The above photograph shows the stereotyping of aluminum sheets in braille preparatory to printing.

PART II

TO THE HONOURABLE, THE MINISTER,
Department of Reform Institutions.

SIR:

We have pleasure in submitting our Annual Report for the year ended March 31, 1959.

During the year your Board has met on fifty-one occasions. In addition, its members, collectively or individually, have visited and inspected every training school under your jurisdiction. Separate reports have been submitted from time to time.

At its weekly meetings, your Board has dealt with the recommendations for placement submitted by the Superintendents of the Training Schools; attendance or progress reports of students; progress reports of wards on placement; applications for admission to the schools; and terminations of wardship. Particulars, giving the number so dealt with, are to be found elsewhere in this report, from which it is satisfactory to note that, of those whose wardships were terminated during the year, some 78% made a good adjustment.

Your Board has the responsibility of assuring you that the training programme which your Department provides is, in the opinion of its members, adequate and effectively administered. In this connection, the Board sees no reason for not sharing the satisfaction, expressed by the Director of Training Schools in his last report, when he reminded us that our Training Schools in Ontario "are well thought of throughout Canada". We know also that they compare most favourably with those in other countries.

Since progress can never sit on a fence, it is hoped that every possible facility will continue to be provided to ensure the maintenance of a high standard of efficiency in the programme of every training school—a programme geared at all times to the adjustment and resettlement of the wards committed to care.

It has been well said that the cost of maintaining training schools, such as ours, is an investment. By the nature of the difficult correctional work involved, these schools cannot fail to be costly, but where an effective training programme is properly implemented, the cost is gilded with dividends which will benefit the nation in the years to come.

We sometimes feel that in the mind of the general public too often our training schools are thought to be full of young criminals caught up with by the law in the qualifying rounds of recidivism. This is a purely negative approach which belongs to an era in which it was thought proper to punish mischievousness so severely that the permanent lessons would be taught.

Time and experience have shown that the only permanent result of such treatment was to direct what was often nothing more than the over-exuberance of youth into revengeful paths of anti-social and criminal behaviour.

True it is that some few of our wards have been found guilty of quite serious offences. Undoubtedly, some appear to be psychopaths in the bud. However, this is only part of the story. By modern treatment processes, basic anti-social behaviour causes are sought and discovered. How slow we are to learn that a doctor cannot well prescribe a cure until he has diagnosed the cause of the illness.

Most of our wards deserve pity before censure and we find ourselves continually asking, not how bad can children be, but how irresponsible, selfish and cruel can be their parents?

A study of the case history of our wards reveals the fact that a large percentage have found their way into our training schools for no other reason than the disintegration of their home conditions—neglect, oppression, cruelty in place of care, control, and the affection which is every child's birthright.

The shortcomings of most of our wards are only surpassed by the inadequacies of their parents. The broken and quarrelsome home in which a child is left to imbibe harmful impressions, in an atmosphere of lovelessness and insecurity; the refusal of parents to sacrifice pleasurable pursuits, when their duty is to give care and companionship to their children; the lack of example and precept; the lack of guidance to ensure moral and spiritual instruction; the thoughtless indulgence, such as when one parent told the Judge they could not understand their child at all, as they had always given it everything it wanted—these are some of the outstanding reasons why some children become unmanageable and some delinquent.

The Board has also noted in the social history of the families of our wards how frequently the statement recurs—"both parents are at work". Teachers in public schools confirm that many of their students are to be seen with the key of their home hanging around their necks on a string. There may be economic reasons why both parents should be away from the home at the same time, but the fact remains, too many children are left to their own resources with no oversight or parental supervision.

Reviewing the conditions whereby a child may be committed to one of our Training Schools, you had discussions with the Chairman concerning the use of the word "incorrigible" in section 7 (1) (g) of The Training Schools Act, R.S.O. 1950.

While our wards require special training, it is difficult to believe that any child under the age of 16 years could be properly described as incorrigible, i.e., "bad beyond correction or reform" (Oxford Dictionary). Indeed, it could be argued that if this were so, why send such to a Training School?

The Board agreed with you that the term "incorrigible" had no place in the philosophy of a modern treatment programme, designed to correct the waywardness and immaturity of those young persons who become our wards, and was pleased to note that you have taken immediate steps with a view to having this hopeless word removed from the Act.

Number in Residence

On April 1st, 1958, there were no fewer than 1,225 students in the Training Schools. During the year new admissions added another 838. Of these, 48 were admitted by the Minister and 790 were committed from the Juvenile Courts.

At the end of the year, i.e., March 13st, 1959, after allowing for students who were placed out in the community, there remained 1,188 students in residence.

The number of new admissions continues to be high, but it is satisfactory to note that the upward trend has been arrested for the first time in the last five years. The following table indicates how steep was the rise from 1955 onwards:

Year Ended March 31st	Committed	Admitted	Total
1955	494	32	526
1956	567	43	610
1957	757	41	798
1959	790	48	838

It is interesting also to note how many times the new admissions had appeared in Juvenile Court before being sent to the Training School. The following table tells its own story in this respect.

Number of times before the Court	Number
1st appearance	372
2nd "	223
3rd "	145
4th "	55
5th "	21
	838

It should be recognized that it is difficult for the training school to effect satisfactory rehabilitation of a ward who has been convicted again and again prior to commitment to the training school.

Placement of Wards after Training

During the year under review 1,160 wards were granted placements. Of these, 948 were considered to be making a satisfactory adjustment in the community when the year ended.

In work of this nature, it is never sufficient to strike a balance in order to show a satisfactory success or failure rate, by covering one year's statistics only, since some wards will have been on placement from the beginning of the year, while others will have been placed toward the end. For an accurate assessment, it is necessary to cover a minimum period of five years and it is hoped to study this during the coming year.

The Return of Wards to the Training Schools from Placement

Your Board has given special attention to the circumstances under which some wards are returned to the schools from placement to undergo a further period of training, in order to assess the possible causes of failure and to be in a position to judge whether any improvements in the Schools' Training Programme are desirable, or if the reasons be due to circumstances in the community and outside the control of the Department.

Every placement is an experiment to ascertain the effectiveness of the training given. In most instances our wards are able to adjust themselves from the ordered and more regulated life of a training school to the less restricted atmosphere of home life with surprising rapidity. Others find this process of resettlement more difficult and, taking a chance, slip back into their former behaviour patterns. Some of these appear again before our Juvenile Courts and are given a period of supervision by the local Probation Officer, through which they pass successfully. Some are brought or sent back to the schools for a period of further training. It is surprising how many of these adjust satisfactorily when the time comes for them to be replaced.

The Board does not consider a return to the school from placement as being by itself, an indication of failure reflecting on the training programme of the school. Indeed, it may be argued that when the school returns a ward from placement, it is indicative that the school is doing its work most effectively, since the training programme of each school must be considered as continuous from the day of admittance to the school until termination of wardship.

Thus the policy of the Board is to encourage schools to recall wards who do not appear to be making a satisfactory adjustment, instead of giving repeated warnings which, if unheeded, may result in more serious trouble.

Nevertheless, it is recognized by all Superintendents that the return to the school of wards who have been convicted of new offences often creates difficulties and sometimes has a disturbing influence on the students undergoing training. Accordingly, the Board would recommend that thought be given to the provision of a special recall adjustment centre at which causes of failure may be analyzed and a more intensified treatment programme instituted. Such a development would be in keeping with the established practice in other countries.

Following is a table showing the numbers returned and the reasons thereof:

Termination of Wardship

By the provisions of The Training Schools Act, every boy or girl admitted or committed to a training school becomes a ward of the school until he or she reaches the age of 18 years, unless the Minister determines that the wardship shall cease upon the ward leaving the School or at any time afterwards.

The discretionary power given to the Minister to determine the wardship before the ward reaches the age of 18 years is a most valuable provision, since it allows for the circumstances of each to be treated on merit.

Some wards respond to training and make a satisfactory adjustment before reaching the legal age. In such cases the release of the rein has therapeutic value in that it encourages the ward to develop as a responsible citizen by his or her own efforts.

Other valid reasons for an early termination of wardship are to be seen in the following details:

Since the above details concern wards who have been under training and supervision for varying periods of from 2 years and upwards, it is possible to present a fair picture showing how far the training has been successful:

Changes in the Membership of the Board

It was with deep regret that we learned of the passing of Mr. George Harcourt Hunt on June 10th, 1958, after a long illness.

Mr. Hunt was appointed a member of the Board in September, 1948. We would wish to place on record our sincere appreciation of him as a valued colleague, who served with devotion and constancy in the interests of the wards under our care.

With the increased work of the Board, your predecessor, the Honourable Dr. M. B. Dymond, considered it would be advantageous to fill the vacancy by the appointment of an experienced officer of the Department, who would be able to devote his full time to the preparation and study of cases requiring the attention of the Board at its weekly meetings. Accordingly, with the concurrence of Dr. J. M. Bennett, who had served with distinction as Chairman, in a voluntary capacity, since January, 1951, the Rev. Martin W. Pinker, O.B.E., was appointed to the Chair, and took over his duties in August, 1958.

In General

The Board would wish to place on record, once more, its appreciation of those kindly people who take our wards into their homes on a foster home basis, and give to them the guidance and care in a home setting of which many have been deprived.

Similarly, the Board is mindful of the great assistance given by employers who have been willing to engage our wards and thus give them a chance to climb the ladder of success and to experience the adventures of earning an honest livelihood.

The Superintendents of all the Training Schools and the staffs, which include the Placement Officers, have been unstinting in their co-operation.

Mention must also be made of the help given by the various Children's Aid Societies; of the splendid co-operation given by the Department of Health; of the ever-ready counsel afforded by the Deputy Minister, Colonel G. Hedley Basher, O.B.E., and of the Director of Training Schools, Mr. A. R. Virgin.

Bearing in mind the anticipated developments planned for the coming year, we consider the outlook for our Training Schools to be most hopeful.

We wish to conclude this report by thanking you for the opportunity given to us to participate in this worthwhile service.

MARTIN W. PINKER, O.B.E., Chairman,
JOHN M. BENNETT, Ph.D.,
C. H. LEWIS, M.D., C.M.,
WALLACE M. MURDOCH,

N.B. The details given above are intended to indicate the total volume of work done by the Advisory Board at its weekly meetings. The total number shown does not refer to individual cases, since many are deferred and come up for consideration on several occasions. Similarly, changes in placement frequently occur during the year, each change requiring the authority of the Board and the approval of the Minister.

Another important factor is to be noted in helping to make the deliberations of the Board effective. The full-time Chairman and Secretary scrutinize every application before it is presented to the Board—each member having a summary record of wards under care.

TO THE HONOURABLE G. C. WARDROPE,
MINISTER OF REFORM INSTITUTIONS.

SIR:

I have the honour of submitting the Annual Report of the Department for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1960, and I have pleasure in recording a year of continued progress in all aspects of our work. Although there have been highlights in the year, it has been essentially a year's work noted more for overall progress, for the satisfying culmination of many projects, rather than spectacular advancements in a narrow field. This broad field of steady advancement simply denotes the stability of the rock on which we have built the Department and gives a more solid sense of achievement than would lone success in narrow fields.

In this presentation the importance of adequate classification in an effective program of rehabilitation can not be over-emphasized. The Treatment and Training Program at its best is geared to the individual, but the more common the problems and needs of individuals within a group, the more effective can be the forces brought to bear on the individual problem. Although this grouping or classification can and does take place within institutions, it is often advisable for certain groups with particular problems and needing particular treatment to be completely segregated from other groups. It is to this end that we are constantly striving to establish small specialized treatment centres. Classification has always been a most important factor in our total treatment program, but today it is all important. Now, as in no other time in history, we must be geared for "treatment of failures." Our Department has always been confronted with the task of providing appropriate treatment for those in our custody. However, in recent years this task has become even more difficult because so many people under our care have not only failed to keep the law, but they have failed to keep the terms of their probation as well.

Years ago it was common practice to confine people together who broke many different laws and had many different kinds of problems. For many years this Department has realized that it is sheer folly to expect a common approach to be equally effective with all. It is like trying to treat a bed-ridden heart patient between one who is psychotic and another who has T.B. It became necessary, therefore, to develop methods of classifying inmates on admission in such a way that suitable treatment techniques could be applied to those with common problems and then to develop settings where this treatment might be carried out.

To a large extent, this has been done. Today we are beginning to see the fruits of these plans and developments.

In 1947 the Ontario Training Centre at Brampton was established. Here young male offenders are given an opportunity to improve their academic education, learn a trade and get specialized help with problems of adjustment. Since it opened, over 4,000 students have gone through this institution. By checking subsequent fingerprint records of all students who received treatment and training at this Centre during the first eight years of operation we have learned that 58% have not broken the law since they were released.

A similar Training Centre was opened at Burtch for somewhat less able and less well educated young male inmates. To date, almost 500 students have benefited from a program geared to meet their individual needs. Research figures show that of the first one hundred and fifty students to receive training at this Centre, 40% have not broken the law since they graduated.

In 1951 the Department established the Alex G. Brown Memorial Clinic in Mimico where men who are addicted to alcohol can receive clinical treatment for their addiction while undergoing sentence. Since then, almost 3,000 patients have been treated at this Clinic. Carefully compiled after-care records show that 39% have been greatly helped by this treatment.

This Department pioneered clinical treatment in Canada for inmates addicted to narcotics. In January 1956, a clinic for male addicts was opened at Mimico. During the period under review an experiment was conducted in treatment for female addicts at the Mercer Reformatory. Under the guidance and leadership of the Reverend Maurice Flint, Protestant Chaplain at the Mercer Reformatory, a "group therapeutic" approach was used with a number of "volunteer" addicts. It is too early to assess final results but, under the direction of one of the most highly qualified men in the field, we are most optimistic that we are on the threshold of a significant progressive step in the approach to the treatment of drug addiction.

In Guelph our Neuro-psychiatric Clinic provides psychiatric treatment for those who will benefit from short term psychiatric care. Certifiable patients are diagnosed and transferred to an Ontario Hospital for long term care.

The need for a Special Treatment Centre for female offenders has been recognized for some time and July 1959, saw the culmination of our efforts when "Ingleside", The Ontario Women's Guidance Centre was opened at Brampton. This small unit, with a capacity for 25 girls, is used as a specialized treatment centre for a selected group of inmates from the Mercer Reformatory. In this "open" setting the entire program, including academic and vocational training, is designed to meet the needs of each individual girl. It is still too early to report on the success of this unit, but we are hopeful of results.

One of the most difficult problems to confront any correctional department is the management and treatment of that type of inmate who will not conform to the programs available in its institutions as a whole. Such men can be dangerous. They will incite others to riot and do a great deal to hamper effective work that might be done with other inmates. The Ontario Reformatory, Millbrook, was designed and constructed to accommodate this difficult group. Here each man progresses through a staged program with professional assistance from the Psychiatrist, Psychologist, Social Worker and Chaplain. Our research shows that the first 75 inmates to go through this unit have enjoyed well over twice as much freedom since discharge as they did in a comparable period of time before admission.

There are many facets to the training program:—academic, vocational, industrial, physical training and recreation. All play their part in the full training of inmates and all have received detailed attention during the year.

Academic classes, conducted by qualified teachers, are geared to meet individual needs. During the year our teachers have again been encouraged and assisted in taking special summer courses in order to keep abreast with modern techniques and improved methods. Throughout our institutions classes vary from teaching illiterates to senior matriculation. Improved library facilities at all institutions have resulted in an enriched academic program.

Vocational courses at all appropriate institutions have maintained their previous high standard during the year and their effectiveness has been demonstrated and utilized in institution maintenance.

Physical training and recreation programs are under constant revision. Improved reading facilities for recreation have been modelled on public library provision enabling men to obtain books of interest during their leisure hours.

Finally, under the training program, purposeful employment is of vital importance. The value of steady productive work can not be stressed too strongly, and the record of the Department over a number of years has been excellent in this regard. Although we are cognizant of the need for expansion of the industrial program in our institutions yet the first essential is quality control of all products.

During the year, the canning plant at Guelph was completely re-organized to conform to modern standards of efficiency. Our Marker Plant at the Ontario Reformatory, Millbrook, has had another record year, having produced 4,618,369 markers in the calendar year 1959.

In co-operation with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the printing of school textbooks in Braille was started as an industry at the Ontario Reformatory, Millbrook. This project has not only assisted the three Canadian schools for the blind in Ontario, Nova Scotia and British Columbia, but it has also had a great therapeutic effect on the inmates concerned.

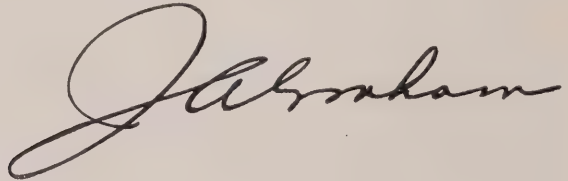

It is axiomatic that our total rehabilitation program is as effective as the staff employed to carry it out. As in the past, the year has presented difficulties in attaining the full establishment. However, by constant searching out of specialists and a steady program of discussions within specialized groups emphasizing the forward policy of the Department, many gaps have been filled in staff establishment. We now have 11 psychologists, 1 psychiatrist, 12 social workers and 3 chaplains on a full-time basis, assisted by 3 psychologists, 1 social worker, 9 chaplains and 8 psychiatrists on a part-time basis. The Food Services' Administrator and the Farms' Administrator have continued the improvements in their respective fields. Co-existent with the need for increased treatment specialists was the need for overall staff training and efficiency; this has been a year of intense training and enthusiasm by the staff for a fuller knowledge of correctional problems and techniques. Besides the courses conducted at the Staff Training School, In-Service Training Courses were carried out in various institutions with a view to giving all members of staff the overall picture of the policy and methods of their own particular institution. Custodial staff were versed in the aims of treatment, while treatment staff gained an appreciation of custodial staff problems. Further to this the Department assisted in a winter University Course of evening lectures on correctional problems. Thirty-six members of staff attended the fifteen lectures under Department sponsorship. To augment this interest, staff libraries have been constantly improved, enabling all personnel to improve their professional knowledge of the many facets of correctional problems.

The entire efforts of this Department are focused on the rehabilitation of the inmate, so that he may return to society as a useful, respected member of his own community. The Rehabilitation Program of the Department was instituted several years ago and with the gradual increase of the Rehabilitation Staff, is now operating most effectively. Parole automatically requires supervision, but the man or woman who leaves the Institution at the expiration of sentence with no supervisory ties presents a greater problem. Each inmate is scheduled for a Rehabilitation Interview prior to discharge, and the program is explained, outlining what types of assistance are available and the community resources which may assist in various ways upon release. The inmate's problems and requirements are assessed and providing he is willing and co-operative, a Rehabilitation Program is formulated for him. He will be referred to the Rehabilitation Officer or After-Care Agency in the area where he will be living. Rehabilitation assistance is available in terms of counselling, employment, room and board, meals, clothing, tools, transportation, etc. The amount and extent of assistance depends in large measure on the man's sincerity and effort. Plans are eventually finalized only after conducting community investigations, making employer contacts and working closely with National Employment Service, Community Welfare, Religious and After-Care Agencies.

In conclusion we wish to express our sincere appreciation for the continued co-operation received from many interested citizens, various organizations and church groups, other Departments of Government and employers who have so willingly assisted in their respective areas. I would also like to express my personal appreciation to all members of staff whose interest, loyalty and devotion have been so evident throughout the year.

Yours sincerely,

J. A. GRAHAM,
Deputy Minister.

ANNUAL REPORT ONTARIO BOARD OF PAROLE

For the Year Ending March 31st, 1960

During the Fiscal Year a total of 97 meetings were held. These meetings were conducted at Institutions where male and female inmates serving indeterminate sentences were confined and also special meetings at the Head Office of the Department.

Previous to the inmate's appearance before the Board, information is obtained in reports from the Magistrate, Police, R.C.M.P., Probation Officers, Pre-Sentence Report, Home Investigation, Psychiatric or Psychological Report and Family History. This, together with an Institutional Report is thoroughly reviewed by the Board and following the inmate's personal interview, a decision of the Board is conveyed to the inmate by letter.

It is the Board's opinion that the personal interview is a most important part of the Parole Program. The inmate at this time has the opportunity to express his plans and intentions for the future, and the Board is able to discuss pertinent facts regarding the inmate's problems and future plans.

When a decision in favour of Parole has been given by the Board, the Parole and Rehabilitation Staff are responsible for completing a satisfactory Parole Plan for the prospective parolee and eventually putting the actual release on Parole into effect.

Great care is exercised in completing the Parole Plan with natural emphasis placed on satisfactory accommodation and employment.

Parole is effective only when it is felt that the inmate has derived the maximum benefit from his or her stay in the Institution plus the opinion that a period of supervision will be beneficial in attaining a satisfactory rehabilitation.

Many organizations have been extremely helpful in the Parole and Rehabilitation work. Among these are: National Employment Service, Elizabeth Fry Society, John Howard Society, Salvation Army, Religious Welfare and Social Services, and others engaged in the Rehabilitation field.

Mr. G. R. Trumbell is Secretary of the Board.

The Members of the Board are D. P. Rowland, M.C., C.D., D.D., Acting Chairman; R. Good, B.Litt., D.D.; W. R. McConnell; W. A. Bunton, Lt.-Col., S.A.; E. J. Roche; (Mrs.) Gladys Coulter; (Mrs.) J. Isobel Ross.

THE SALVATION ARMY

REPORT OF POLICE COURT, PRISON, JAIL AND AFTER-CARE WORK IN THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

For the Year Ending Dec. 31, 1959

It is a pleasure for me to prepare this report on the work of the Correctional Services Department of the Salvation Army in Ontario for the year 1959. I understand the over-all picture of this work so much better than I did a year ago.

In August 1959, Lt.-Colonel Fred Merrett, who was the Director of our Correctional Services, retired from active service and moved to South Burnaby, B.C. The Colonel gave most zealous leadership during his tenure of office and our work was enlarged and increased under his direction. I am sure I can bespeak for him the good wishes of all in the Department of Reform Institution in this Province.

I succeeded the Colonel and by the end of the year had visited many of the Penal Institutions in Ontario that I had not been to before. I was stationed at the Industrial Farm at Burwash for a few weeks at the end of 1949, and then at the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph, from 1952 until coming to this office, a period of seven years.

Since I so greatly appreciated the close association I had with the Superintendents, Mr. Gerald Wright and Mr. Charles Sanderson, and indeed all the Staff members, and also the succeeding groups at the Staff Training School, Guelph, I can understand how all our S.A. Officers in the Correctional Services value the friendly co-operation they receive from every level of administration and custodial staff in all the Penal Institutions in the Province.

In just the same way I can now see the same warmth towards, and confidence in, our Salvation Army workers expressed by all whom we meet in the Courts throughout the Province. I would here gratefully acknowledge the openheartedness of judges, magistrates, crown attorneys, lawyers and police officers towards us and the work on behalf of the offender that we seek to do.

The statistics of work accomplished in 1959 do not indicate all that is done and convey only a vague idea of what is being attempted. However accepting them at their face value I would point out that more interviews were held, more ex-inmates were met and helped in various ways, more beds and meals were supplied and more letters written this year than in 1958.

It is with regret however that I note that, according to this report, the number of religious services conducted by our officers in penal institutions was slightly lower. One hopes that increasing facilities for physical recreation will not diminish the interest in, and attention to, the spiritual welfare of those who are incarcerated. My own experience over the seven years I was in a reformatory as the S.A. Chaplain makes me for ever aware of the value of religious services in our penal institutions.

It is with joy then that I note some institutions have given us increased opportunities in this regard and I believe that 1960 will record substantial increases in the number of religious meetings held and the attendances at those meetings.

I have mentioned the openheartedness of so many and would add a kindly reference to the Minister of Reform Institutions appointed in December 1958. Throughout 1959 the general smile of the Hon. George C. Wardrope has been an encouragement to me and all the S.A. Officers in my department and his kindly advice is valued.

The new Deputy Minister, Mr. J. A. Graham, has also won his way into the confidence of those who did not know him and he has been warmly received by those of our officers who had met him before.

Several of our Correctional Services Officers in Toronto availed themselves of the opportunity of learning more about corrections in the course that was carried through by the University of Toronto in the Fall of 1959. We would welcome more of these in-training experiences.

Perhaps mention could be made of the House of Concord opened in February 1959. Indirectly it has its bearings in the correctional field since most of the young men who are in residence there have been placed on probation from a court and are under our care during their period on probation. It is our objective that they never move into a penal institution but that they are helped to correct behaviour in time to avoid further trouble. "A Stitch in time saves nine" is an old adage which has its application here.

The financial report which follows gives food for thought as money matters usually do. After you have read it I trust that you will understand my wish that openheartedness be further extended to open-handedness and that the Provincial Treasury may be moved to greatly increase its present grants to the Correctional Services of the Salvation Army.

At the same time I am very glad to acknowledge the grants that are made to us and on behalf of Commissioner W. W. Booth and our finance council would express our thanks for every help given us. Without the allocations here noted, we would be burdened beyond measure.

TO THE HONOURABLE, THE MINISTER,
Department of Reform Institutions.

SIR:

Herewith for your consideration are the reports of the following for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1960.

The Training Schools Advisory Board.

The Training Schools Statistics.

The objective of the Training Schools is to provide a programme of treatment and training for those children who have become delinquent through the lack of proper home training or because of other undesirable influences.

The present training school system in Ontario was founded in 1925 with the establishment of the Ontario Training School for Boys at Bowmanville. Prior to the opening of this school the Industrial Schools Association in Ontario operated two schools for homeless and neglected children, the Victoria Industrial School for Boys located at Mimico and the Alexandra Industrial School for Girls located at Scarborough. The Industrial Schools Association was organized by a group of far-sighted and public spirited citizens in 1887, and it operated the two schools until the Ontario Training School system was firmly established. The Ontario Training School for Girls at Galt was opened in 1933. The Victoria Industrial School for Boys was closed in 1934 and the Alexandra School for Girls in 1936.

In 1946 it was indicated that facilities for boys must be increased, and as a result the Ontario Training School for Boys at Cobourg was established. Some children have developed such unhealthy behaviour patterns and are so disturbed that they cannot adjust to an open setting. As a result the Ontario Training School for Boys at Guelph was established in 1941 and transferred to a new building in 1958. The Reception and Diagnostic Centre for Girls in Galt was opened in 1952. Each girl committed to an Ontario Training School is placed in the Reception Centre. She remains there for a three to four week period, during which time she is interviewed and examined by a team of specialists who advise on the type of treatment and training she requires.

Within the training school system there are three private schools owned and operated by Roman Catholic organizations, they are namely:—

St. John's Training School, Uxbridge, formerly in Toronto and established in 1894.

St. Joseph's Training School, Alfred, established in 1933.

St. Mary's Training School in Downsview was opened in 1941, but previously had been in operation in Toronto since 1900.

These three private training schools have developed a very excellent treatment and training programme with kind understanding for the children under their care.

On August 1, 1959, Trelawney House, Port Bolster was opened. This is a small unit with accommodation for 20 girls. There is a homey atmosphere in Trelawney House, where each child receives understanding and affection which is so essential in her development.

In order that we might review the academic and vocational programme in the Training Schools, we requested Dr. John M. Bennett—a retired Senior Inspector of Separate Schools, and presently a member of the Training Schools Advisory Board, to visit each of the schools and provide you with a report on the programme. His report follows that of the Advisory Board.

The Training Schools Advisory Board consists of five members, the Chairman, Rev. M. W. Pinker, O.B.E., being the only permanent civil servant. The other four members are highly interested private citizens. The Advisory Board meets once each week, as well as visiting the schools to observe the programme in progress. They have presented a most detailed and comprehensive report which is included.

The process of "Growing up" for the children committed to the Training Schools is a most trying experience, and with some the scars will remain throughout life. Therefore it is essential that the Training School provide a programme of treatment and training suitable for each child's needs; to create a more natural life for the child; to provide a feeling of emotional security, and to provide understanding and affection. In our Training Schools our devoted staffs endeavour to fulfil these requirements.

May I take this opportunity to thank all those organizations who have given unstintingly of their time, to assist us in our work.

Yours sincerely,

A large, elegant, handwritten signature in dark ink, which appears to read "J. A. Graham". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a prominent loop at the end.

J. A. GRAHAM,
Deputy Minister.

THE TRAINING SCHOOLS ADVISORY BOARD

ANNUAL REPORT

TO THE HONOURABLE GEORGE C. WARDROPE, MINISTER,
Department of Reform Institutions.

SIR:

We have pleasure in submitting the Annual Report of our activities for the year ended March 31st, 1960.

In addition to visiting the Training Schools as a Board or individually, we have held meetings each week, with one exception.

Some idea of the nature and scope of the business dealt with by the Board at its weekly meetings may be gathered from the statistical returns herein.

Recommendations for placement have been thoroughly investigated before you have been advised to exercise your authority. Due consideration has been given to progress reports of students during the period of training and to the adjustment of wards who have been returned to their homes or foster homes.

There has been an increase in the number of wards, whose wardship has been terminated during the year. The Board is of the opinion, it is satisfactory to note that at the time of termination, 82% were considered to have made a satisfactory adjustment. The details are given in a separate table of this report.

Your Board is of the opinion that the year has been one of steady progress in several directions. In work of this nature there will always be room for day to day improvements, but taking a general survey it is satisfied the Schools are facing up to the special duties for which they were instituted. There can be no doubt that in the majority of cases the behaviour trends which resulted in our wards being committed or admitted to our Schools have been arrested, and with most a good adjustment may be expected. When we consider the complicated set of circumstances which constituted the underlying causes of disturbed and anti-social behaviour among these boys and girls, we think these results are satisfactory and are evidence of the devotion to duty of the Superintendents and staffs of the Training Schools.

Your Board has taken note of several important changes in the Training School programme during the year:

- (1) The closing by Order-in-Council of the Ontario Training School for Girls located at the Andrew Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.
- (2) The opening of a small minimum security Ontario Training School for Girls at Trelawney House, Port Bolster. This self-contained unit, adapted from a former residence and designed to accommodate some 21 specially selected girls is, in our opinion, a step in the right direction. The former Deputy Minister, Colonel G. Hedley Basher, is to be congratulated on its conception and the Minister on his foresight in promoting this new venture. Small units of this nature are certainly more costly to administer, but they do provide and foster a home atmosphere—of which so many of our wards have been deprived—the like of which is not always possible in a larger Institution. We have been happy to note the fine spirit in which this School has been received by the area community. The fact that some of the students attend the local High School and are in the neighbouring Church choir cannot but be helpful to their adjustment. We think the whole picture of this new School depicts considerable promise for the future.

- (3) The Board has also been much interested in the changes you have made in the administration and use of the maximum security unit for girls, formerly known as "Hood House", and later as "Churchill House", located at Galt. The changing of this unit into a Reception and Diagnostic Centre, wherein all new admissions are received, assessed and classified by a clinical staff before being allocated to an appropriate Training School, and to which very disturbed behaviour students may be sent for treatment, rather than for punishment, is in our view a progressive development in keeping with the best thought of those who desire to promote modern treatment methods in correctional work. We hope the experience gained by the working of this unit will lead to a similar separate unit with clinical facilities for boys with the opening of the proposed new Ontario Training School for Boys at Simcoe.

In the Fall of 1959 you agreed to a suggestion from the Board that it would be useful for some experienced person to make an extensive survey of the academic and vocational training programmes of all Training Schools. The Board named one of its members, John M. Bennett, Ph.D., for this purpose. Dr. Bennett was exceedingly well qualified to undertake this special assignment by his long experience as an Inspector of Separate Schools.

The terms of reference were as follows:—

- (a) To conduct a detailed enquiry into the training programmes of each Ontario and Private Training School, with a view to ascertaining:—
- (b) Academic Programme.
Is the programme up to the standard required of our Public Schools? What improvements, if any, are considered desirable?
- (c) Vocational Training Programme.
What is the programme at each Training School? Is the programme of a standard likely to prove of real service to our wards? To what extent is the programme linked with a placement plan for each child? Is the programme comprehensive enough? If not, in what ways could it be usefully extended?
- (d) Recreational Programme.
What is the recreational programme of each Training School and are the facilities adequate?
- (e) Religious Programme.
What is the programme of each Training School for religious instruction and practices? Who operates the programme and what facilities are available?
- (f) A general appraisalment of the training programme in each School with any recommendations.

In his subsequent report Dr. Bennett gives emphasis to the basic principle that a training school is "not a school for punishment, but rather an educational academy for work in class and shop".

Dr. Bennett's general assessment and recommendations may be gathered from the summary of his Report given later herein.

NUMBERS IN RESIDENCE.

During the year there were 879 new admissions to the Schools, 820 of which were committed by the Juvenile and Family Courts and 59 admitted by the Minister. At the end of the year there were 1,182 students in residence.

We regret to note an increase of 41 in the total commissions and admissions which we earnestly hope does not indicate the beginning of a new upward trend. The details are as follows:—

Year Ended March 31st	Committed	Admitted	Total
1955	494	32	526
1956	567	43	610
1957	757	41	798
1958	838	47	885
1959	790	48	838
1960	820	59	879

Before a Juvenile Court decides to commit a boy or girl for training, every effort is made to give the child an opportunity to adjust by other means, such as Probation, if the circumstances so warrant. A study of case histories often reveals that a behaviour problem has been apparent some time before a Court appearance, and has been dealt with by a series of cautions.

Your Board does not wish to be critical of this procedure in general, since it is well aware that the judicial authorities are motivated by the desire to arrest youthful lawlessness in its early stages by all available means. Nevertheless, members of the Board are convinced that it is desirable to have a boy or girl for training as early as possible, and before their anti-social habits have made firm roots.

The following table shows the number of appearances in Court, concerning wards who have been admitted during the year:—

Number of times before the Court prior to Committal or Admission	Total Number
1st appearance	397
2nd appearance	265
3rd appearance	135
4th appearance	44
5th appearance	22
6th and upwards	16

PLACEMENT OF WARDS AFTER TRAINING.

For the period under review 1,583 were returned to their own homes or to foster homes after a period of training. The Placement Officers reported that of this number 1,322 were making satisfactory progress at the end of the year.

Your Board is unceasing in its praise for the many public spirited people who are willing to give a needy boy or girl a chance by caring for them as foster parents. This is a quiet service which so often passes unnoticed, but those who feel able to help in this manner deserve public recognition, even though the effort does give them personal satisfaction.

THE RETURN OF WARDS FROM PLACEMENT.

Every instance of a ward being returned to the School from placement for further training is examined by the Board. A few reveal a failure to adjust to community life and are returned by the Placement Officers before they have committed new offences. Others after a period of settlement, break out again in their former behaviour and are returned by order of the Court.

As stated in our last report your Board does not consider a return of a ward to School for further training is, by itself, an indication of failure reflecting on the training programme of the School. When dealing with disturbed children this course must be expected in some instances.

The following analysis gives the numbers returned from placements made during the year and those returned from placements made in former years.

TERMINATION OF WARDSHIP.

When a ward attains the age of 18 years, wardship is automatically terminated by the provisions of the Training Schools Act. This Act also permits you to terminate a wardship before the age limit is reached, if your Board advises that a satisfactory adjustment has been made, or there are special reasons why it is considered proper to terminate. Particulars of the wardships which you terminated during the year under review are as follows:—

THE RELATIONSHIP OF THE BOARD WITH THE TRAINING SCHOOLS.

Contact with the Schools and the Board is very real, with daily communication closer today than ever before. The Schools apprise the Board of any special events at which the Board is usually represented, and seek the Board's support for the promotion of plans considered likely to further the School's advancement.

The Executive Officer to the Board, Mr. D. Sinclair, maintains a very close co-operative contact with each School by systematic visits to discuss special problems and to offer advice and help on all matters. Through these channels your Board is able to assess what the Superintendents think of their Schools and the programmes it is their duty to maintain. In this connection the following notes concerning each School are given.

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, BOWMANVILLE.

The population of this School has remained high consistently throughout the year. The Training Programme is a varied one, having three phases, i.e. academic schooling, vocational training and farming. The over all programme is enriched by other activities such as religious education, music, cadets, bugle band, crafts and sports.

Friends in the community have been most helpful and tribute is paid to the local Ministerial Association, the Service Clubs of Rotary and Kiwanis, the Recreation Department of the local Council, and many individual citizens.

Encouragement also comes from former students. One recently wrote: "I was in attendance at your School in 1940 and received a medal for gymnastic ability. I value this medal highly as a memento of the happiest year of my youth. I have lost the medal and wonder if it could be replaced". (N.B. It has been done).

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, COBOURG.

This School has had the highest daily average for attendance in its history. Its admissions are boys under 14 years of age. The School has had a very successful year, and is justly proud of the fact that its choir competed in the Northumberland County Music Festival and gained first place in the Boys' Choral group, competing against all public schools in the area.

During the winter the School entered three teams in the Cobourg Church Hockey Leagues. While none of the teams carried off the League pennant, two students were presented with awards for "outstanding playing ability" in their respective Leagues.

The Boy Scout Troop had a successful year. Their efforts in the paper salvage drive helped them finance a ten day camp at Haliburton. In addition, the School-Wolf Cub Pack attended a week's camp at Shelter Valley.

The Bugle Band has taken part in local celebrations. Some boys have enlisted in the local Air Cadets Squadron.

The School's academic programme has been commended by the District Inspector of Public Schools.

The boys attend and are welcomed at Morning Service in the various Churches of Cobourg each Sunday. The School has its regular Chaplain who renders devoted service and is a great help to all.

The Rotary Clubs of Toronto and Cobourg have continued to show a great interest in the boys and the School's activities.

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, GALT.

The number of students in this School continues to be in excess of its normal capacity. This is a situation that will be eased when the new Training School for Girls is opened at Lindsay.

Dr. Bennett has reminded us that the majority of girls enter the School at 14 years of age or more and in most cases will not go to school again. Consequently the academic and vocational training programme has to be realistic and well balanced. To motivate some of the girls' academic study is manifestly difficult, hence the necessity of training in vocational abilities in which they are naturally interested, such as typing for office work; hairdressing, cooking, sewing and other household acts. The School is well equipped to develop such a programme.

Religious instruction has its proper place in the School's life. The Chaplain conducts Sunday Services and holds instruction classes during the week. For girls of the Anglican Church arrangements are made with the local Anglican Clergy to administer Holy Communion on the first Friday in every month, either at the School or at one of the local Churches.

The School's choir invariably renders a commendable performance on such special occasions as the Candlelight Service, part of which was broadcast over CFTS on Christmas Day. It has also given special concerts at the Eventide Home, Galt, and at several Churches in Galt, Guelph, Kitchener and Preston.

Every effort has been made to make the life of the School a full one, with special interests and activities. Life saving classes are given and one girl was successful in winning the Junior Life Saving Instructor's award (the second highest award offered by the YMCA).

Members of the St. John's Ambulance conduct Home Nursing classes and about fifteen girls have been awarded certificates.

A Public Speaking Contest was an event in which the girls were awarded prizes by the School and local branch of the University Women's Club.

About 75 girls put on a Fashion Show from frocks and outfits modelled in the sewing room. This was filmed and later presented over T.V.

The School also won the trophy for the highest number of points at the YMCA Field Day.

The CGIT has carried on a regular programme in the School with groups which has been very successful.

Mention must, of course, be made of the Cadet Training and the Bugle Band. This has become an outstanding feature in the activities of the School and the annual inspection by Lt.-Col. W. D. Gerrard, M.C., Officer Commanding 1st H.L.I., draws a large crowd of visitors. The Bugle Band also takes part in local festivities.

The School House Fund which is not supported by grants from Public Trusts continues to show a useful purpose. By a unanimous vote the girls decided to purchase a Lowry electric organ for use at the Chapel and morning assembly services; they also voted to support a child through the Foster Parents' Plan at a cost of $180.00 per year. As a result, Maria, a nine year old girl in Greece, is the School's foster child.

THE RECEPTION & DIAGNOSTIC CENTRE, GALT.

Reference has been made to this new Centre earlier in our report. Though situated in the grounds of the Ontario Training School for Girls, it is now administered as a separate unit.

The building consists of two floors, the lower of which is the Reception Unit. All girls of the Protestant faith who are committed to Training Schools are studied in this Unit. They are academically appraised, psychologically tested and psychiatrically examined if the latter is felt to be necessary. With the resultant body of information and with the observations of the supervisory staff, it is possible to form a good picture of the needs of the particular girl and to transfer her to the School which is best equipped to meet those needs.

The Treatment Centre is on the upper floor of the building and is reserved for those girls who are very disturbed and in need of skilled professional help. Girls may be transferred from any of the Girls' Schools. All transfers and returns to and from the Diagnostic Centre must have the approval of the Board. After completing treatment, the girls are normally returned to the School of origin.

Caring for disturbed girls in their middle teens is a most arduous and challenging task and the staff are to be congratulated for the manner in which they have undertaken this task and for the way in which they have tackled the difficult work of preparing the newcomer to adjust to the disciplined life of the training schools.

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, TRELAWNEY HOUSE, PORT BOLSTER.

This small and new School has shown much promise during its first year of operation. Seven of its twenty girls attend the District High School. The others attend a portable school on the grounds of Trelawney House. In addition, there are classes for Sewing, Home Nursing and Economics, Piano lessons, Music and Drama coaching. The students are also taught landscaping and nature study, and are making the grounds of the School a thing of beauty.

The School has no detention room and quarrelsome or disobedient behaviour is handled by counselling, the withdrawal of a privilege, or the imposition of extra duties.

The older students are in the choir of the local United Church, at which the other students attend.

One of the aims of the School is to mix as much as possible in the community life of the area and in this it has met with much success. Some 200 local guests attended the "Open House" last Christmas. Headed by Mrs. Cameron McKenzie, a local Club made certain that the students were not forgotten during the Festival Season. By this and many other incidents the local community has accepted the School as part of its own life.

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, GUELPH.

The students of this School belong mostly to the older age group and have been transferred from other Training Schools because they have become behaviour problems. It is none the less a Training School and not a punishment institution. The main difference is that the School is a security unit from which students do not find it easy to be absent without leave. Individual counselling plays an important part in the School's programme, which academically and otherwise is in keeping with general standards. The School has well equipped vocational training shops in which elementary and advanced training is given in carpentry, machine shop and sheet metal. Some students who have made a good adjustment have been allowed to work in local industries. This programme has helped the student in overcoming the difficulties of transition from the School back into the community.

It is not easy to develop a home atmosphere in a School of this special nature, but the relationship between the staff and the students is such as to encourage the belief in the students' minds that here are people who are genuinely interested in their future welfare. Little things count for much in influencing the attitudes of these boys. For example—each student's birthday is remembered by a cake baked by the wives of members of the staff, and the students always acknowledge this gesture with a special note of appreciation.

The physical training is developed by calisthenics and various sports activities. Devotional training is cared for by Sunday Services and the counselling of the Protestant Minister and Roman Catholic Priest. The Salvation Army holds a midweek Bible Study group and the Anglican Priest visits the School weekly to take supper with the students.

Students are also encouraged in the art of helping others. Last winter many evenings were spent in the repair of toys for the Retarded Children's Association.

The students have also made furniture for the Ontario Agricultural College and the Ontario Training School for Girls at Port Bolster.

Excellent medical, psychological and psychiatric services are provided.

An indication of the effectiveness of the programme of this School may be judged from the fact that of the 41 boys who graduated during the year, only three have found their way into an adult institution.

ST. MARY'S TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, TORONTO.

This School is for girls of the Roman Catholic faith and is administered by the Sisters of Our Lady of Charity of The Good Shepherd. The Sisters strive to educate their students by providing a happy family life with its restraints and privileges, its chores and amusements, its homely goals for youthful initiative and the spirit of adventure, with a deeply Christian ideal.

In addition to the normal school curriculum, classes are held in sewing, cooking, home management, home nursing and slimnastics.

The School has a splendid record in the rehabilitation of its students, many of whom are well settled in married life and some of these have sought to show their appreciation by providing good foster homes for present day students. Employers have spoken highly of the behaviour, cleanliness and deportment of girls coming from the School. One girl has successfully attained her R.N. and is exceedingly happy. The School has been taxed for accommodation and a new extension, consisting of a Reception Area, four complete living areas and two extra class rooms, is now under construction.

ST. JOHN'S TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, UXBRIDGE.

This Roman Catholic School is administered by the Christian Brothers, and is situated in the country near Uxbridge. Its grounds are spacious and its facilities are modern. Built to house some 150 boys, it is presently taxed to accommodate more than 200. The focal point of the School's life is its splendid Chapel designed for religious practice and training. The School has the added advantage of a resident Chaplain.

The academic programme is well up to standard. In addition vocational classes in Printing, Shoemaking, Tailoring, Woodworking, Farming, Baking and Barbering are provided. The School is well equipped for health services. A Doctor is in attendance three days each week and is on regular call. A Director of Nursing and two full time Nursery Assistants from the Uxbridge area, give efficient and devoted service.

Recreational facilities have reached a new high. House leagues in Hockey, Football, Lacrosse, Softball, Baseball and Volley Ball are in operation.

The School has been enterprising in its public relations. The local Kiwanis Club, the Uxbridge Club, the Catholic Women's League, the Holy Name Society, have been regular visitors. Visiting groups from the School of Social Service, the Salvation Army and the local Fire Brigade have been welcomed.

The regrettable illness of Bro. Joseph M.S.W., forced his retirement from the Superintendency in January, 1960. This loss to the School was felt by all. His successor is Bro. Adrian, who has already proved his worth in maintaining the traditions of the School.

ST. JOSEPH'S TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, ALFRED.

This School is also for Roman Catholic boys and is administered by the Christian Brothers. It is an imposing set of buildings situated in the centre of the community at Alfred. Its academic programme follows the Ontario Courses of the Department of Education and is conducted by a well qualified staff. The vocational training includes Shoemaking, Tailoring, Farming, Plumbing and Gardening. Like St. John's its religious programme centres around its own Chapel and is guided by a resident Chaplain.

The recreational facilities are lively and the usual sports are engaged in.

This School has embarked on an extensive improvement project for the modernization of its premises concerning which we shall be able to report more next year.

THE LATE MR. ALBERT R. VIRGIN.

In August, 1959, Mr. Albert R. Virgin retired from his office of Director of Training Schools. His long association with Training Schools is so well known that we need not go into details here.

It was with the deepest regret that we learned of his passing after less than a year of his well earned retirement. No man ever had a greater interest or did more towards helping in the correction of young people. His kindly disposition and integrity enabled him to exert a lasting influence for good on many who came under his care. He had the attitude of mind which enabled him to always look for and to find the best in everyone. In moments of trial and personal anxiety he was ever warm in his sympathy.

Your Board desires to pay tribute and to record its sincere appreciation and memory of the help given to it by this respected servant over so many years.

IN CONCLUSION.

This report would be incomplete if we failed to render thanks to the many who have given of their best to make the efforts of the Training Schools worthwhile.

The Superintendents and Staffs deserve praise for their unstinted service, always exacting, but very rewarding in values which abide.

Their tasks would be much heavier without the help and interest of so many friends. In this respect we think especially of the Service Clubs, the foster parents, the employers, the various religious organizations and such bodies as the Cornwall Juvenile Court Committee, all of which are ever ready to give a helping hand.

The Board similarly desires to acknowledge the help given to it by your Deputy Minister, Mr. J. A. Graham, the Departments of Health, Welfare and the Attorney-General, the Children's Aid Societies, the Probation Officers, and not least, the lively interest and leadership which you have shown from day to day.

Thanking you for allowing us to assist you.

SUMMARY AND GENERAL APPRAISEMENT OF THE TRAINING SCHOOLS MADE BY DR. J. M. BENNETT

In the first instance Dr. Bennett summarized what he considered to be the fundamentals upon which a good training school programme should be developed.

SUMMARY OF FUNDAMENTALS

1. Since these pupils are committed under 16 years of age, they

- (a) are only children who went too far in wanting to do as they liked regardless of the moral law or of parents' or teachers' wishes and must be made aware that they are responsible for actions;
- (b) must receive an academic education according to the laws of the Province and the Department of Education;
- (c) must receive whatever guidance, training and education that is possible during the time in the training school, to develop good habits of conduct and correct thinking;
- (d) must be convinced that the teachers and supervisors are honestly interested in his or her welfare, happiness and education. Example of kindness with firmness is necessary.

2. The Academic Programme.

- (a) Must be based on the Course of Study of the Department of Education.
- (b) Should use the authorized school texts of Ontario.
- (c) Should always seek qualified Ontario certificated teachers, paid salaries comparable with those paid by the local public schools of the area.
- (d) Must give every child under 16 years of age an education unless the learning capacity of a pupil is so limited that further progress in reading, composition, arithmetic, spelling, literature, etc., cannot be expected. Such pupils should be given as much intellectual development as possible up to at least 15 years of age, in special classes and in handicraft classes.
- (e) Should progress the pupils in the fundamentals from grade to grade so that on return to their homes there will be no loss of school grade.
- (f) Should give intensive work in the essential fundamental skills with no waste of school time and especially in those schools which can only provide a morning school session because of vocational classes in the afternoons.
- (g) Should endeavour to foster whatever talents pupils may show in arts and crafts, in music and singing and in musical instruments, in handicraft in drafting and map drawing, in dramatics, in typing, etc.
- (h) Should assess pupils on admittance by the combined information of staff group. A Guidance Committee and Review Board, assures justice and is a commendable procedure.

- (i) Interest in hobbies should be encouraged.
- (j) Recreational reading provided by the library is essential.
- (k) Dramatics, plays and concerts are a necessity.

Varied programmes will bring enjoyment and happiness and will develop character and personality.

3. The Religious Programme.

The aim of these schools is to so educate wayward lads and girls that they will be decent citizens of Canada. Decent citizens obey the laws because they recognize the necessity of law for a decent social order. They respect the laws and feel a responsibility to obey them.

Pupils of these schools need to be imbued with these principles of good citizenship, obedience, sense of responsibility for their actions, honesty in their dealings with others and the other civic virtues.

“Self reverence, self knowledge, self control” (Tennyson) must be inculcated. The conscience must be enlightened and the will strengthened. This means that they must be—

- (a) Taught the principles of right conduct as outlined in the moral code of at least the Ten Commandments, or how will they know what is right or what is wrong?
- (b) They must be motivated in some way to act in accordance with right reason and with the moral principles which they have learned.

4. Motivation for Good Conduct.

Advantage should be taken (in the Ontario Training Schools and the Private Schools) of the fact that all of these children wish to be free of the school as soon as possible, so a system of marks given daily by the teachers and supervisors, for good conduct and effort in class, on work duties, in dormitories, is desirable. It is something they understand and is most necessary. It seeks to motivate a pupil's will to co-operate and build up good habits of self-control, obedience, honesty and respect for rules, regulations and law.

However, it is necessary to plan further if this is to be carried over into life when the personal influence of teachers and supervisors is removed. A sense of responsibility for one's actions to a higher authority must be implanted in minds and hearts.

Herein again, religious instruction plays a most important role in the education of these youngsters.

5. Vocational Programme.

Since these schools admit youths under 16 years of age, they must not be considered as vocational schools. The time in the school is far too short to warrant more than—

- (a) To arouse interest in handicrafts, woodworking, shoe repairing, sheet metal, arts and crafts, household economics, etc.
- (b) To develop a sense of satisfaction by making useful things.
- (c) To learn how to co-ordinate hands and brain.

(d) To awaken an interest in some trade.

(e) To appreciate the value of work.

However, it is essential that a worthwhile vocational programme be provided in each school.

6. Recreational Programme.

Every child loves to play and engage in sports. The muscles are strengthened, the mind is refreshed and the character is built.

Good sportsmanship, perseverance and self-control are inculcated in spite of handicaps and situations. The will to win, to aspire, to co-operate and play fair is aroused; loyalty to the team, school, and even to country, is developed. As a matter of fact, all phases of a recreational programme for the character development of these youngsters is most essential.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

1. The training school is definitely not a school for punishment but rather an educational academy for work in class and shop.

These children have been removed from their homes, their schools and churches and are wards of the provincial authorities; consequently, the Department of Reform Institutions must accept the serious responsibilities of parents and of teachers for the duration of commitment. Anyone visiting these schools is very much aware of the fine costly facilities provided by the province and of the capable teachers and supervisors. Most of the children grew up in homes where family life was disturbed by moral laxity, undisciplined and turbulent and in some cases, over-indulgent. In many homes and schools there was no teaching of what is right or what is wrong, or of the necessity of controlling emotional impulses, or of the place of right reasoning as the guide to correct conduct. Many of these children disliked school, had no respect for law and followed the gang. Most were never checked and were allowed to do as they liked, consequently the task of a training school is formidable when one considers the short time these pupils are in residence at the school.

2. It must be recognized that the majority of the girls who enter the schools at 14 years of age or more, in the vast majority of cases, will not go to school again. Consequently, the training school must be realistic in providing a balanced academic and vocational programme.

To motivate some girls for academic study is manifestly difficult. Hence the necessity of training them in some vocational abilities in which they are naturally interested, such as Typing, for office work; Hairdressing, Cooking, Sewing, Ironing and other household arts.

3. The new library policy of the Department and its appointment of a departmental librarian is commendable. I suggest that attractive pictured books in Canadian History, Geography, Popular Mechanics, Science, Bible Histories be provided. Many a person in early life has been influenced and ambition aroused by reading non-fiction.

4. Reliance on some correspondence courses hinders teaching and reduces a teacher to the status of a study hall master. Correspondence courses were never meant to be used in schools to replace the work of a teacher. There is no reason why the Grade IX and X course of study shouldn't be actually taught by the staff.

5. It has been learned from experience that most discipline problems come when boys are assigned to full time in shops. The discipline of the academic class in studies and routine is needed for all under 17 years of age.
6. Some of the schools have a morning assembly, where youngsters' minds are consciously turned to God and an Act of Public Worship is made, followed by school announcements. Obviously, it is an educational procedure and the pupils should look forward to it with pleasure. Consequently, some one has to give it some thought previously by planning to assure its success or mere routine and boredom will result. Prayer, hymns, scripture reading and instruction and a thought for the day, varied to suit the occasion; all of these take precedence. Two worlds meet for a short time, heaven and earth. The aim of the assembly is to influence young lives, to inspire good conduct. Consequently, the assembly can recognize Advent, Christmas and its season, then Lent and Easter, which symbolize the Life of Christ.

Reference may also be made to current events, our country, our school, Thanksgiving, Remembrance and United Nations Day and special historical days. Some ceremonial assemblies might be arranged with pupil participation.

This is sufficient to explain the educational value of a planned assembly. It should be concrete as well as abstract; it should be varied but its central idea of worship is paramount. It should be planned in advance and previous notice and training given. The pupils should recognize its educational value.

7. Many of the boys and girls committed to the training schools never learned respect and reverence for parental law or civil law or for the laws of God. Reverence and respect for the law for one another is fundamental for a decent social order. While oral instruction is necessary to enlighten the mind to think rightly, yet good example and good environment influence people greatly. The chapel inspires this.

An auditorium is not the best place for religious worship. Used as it is for concerts, movies, amusements, physical training and a variety of secular business, it cannot inspire a feeling of reverence when one enters it for a church service of worship and praise.

Children are so impressionable that a chapel is considered by many educators as an educational necessity if a religious programme is to influence them. Thousands of dollars are spent on building and equipment in these schools. Why not allocate some dollars for a chapel in each school? A quiet, reverent, restful place in which to assemble for service is a good idea for the welfare of these youngsters as future citizens of Canada. Some one has said that if the Liberal State doesn't wish to commit suicide it had better see that Christian Education is not allowed to perish.

GENERAL ASSESSMENT.

The report contained much commendation of the educational programmes in each school and of the interest of the staff in this work of education and training. It was noted that most of the academic teachers were Ontario certificated and devoted to their work. The trade instructors were commended in most cases for their competency and dedicated interest. The classroom programmes reflected earnest effort to provide for each individual pupil. Teachers naturally have to face the problem of almost a 65% yearly change in enrolment and necessity of adjusting the course of study in the fundamental tools of education to each pupil's ability.

The schools are commended for their well planned recreational programmes.

The vocational work in each school was carefully noted and suggestions made. The boys' schools do a good job inculcating interest and skills in various handicrafts and the girls' schools do give a good course and arouse interest in the household arts.

The Religious programmes are being carried out by good men who are doing their best to inculcate high ideals.

The report records the methods being used to change the thinking of these misled youngsters, of the painstaking procedures necessary, and of the fine results being obtained with at least 80 per cent of these boys and girls.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. *Inspection.

Teaching staffs change. So do textbooks and the Ontario Course of Study. To assure proper progress and direction the Department of Reform Institutions should request the Department of Education to assign the local Public or Separate School Inspector to inspect the academic and vocational work of the school twice yearly in the same manner as every other school and to send his report and recommendations to the Department of Reform Institutions. A courtesy visit has not the authority necessary.

The Department of Education would be paid for this service in a similar manner to the Federal Government fees for inspection of Indian Schools.

2. Teaching Grades IX and X.

The larger schools should have a staff teacher, or two, teaching the Grade IX and X pupils. The course leads to the Intermediate Certificate of the Department of Education on the completion of Grade X. The subjects of Grades IX and X could be English, Social Studies, Mathematics, Science, Typewriting, Shop Work or Home Economics, Physical Education and Guidance. These could easily be taught by one or two teachers.

3. Promotion to Grade IX.

To assure promotion to Grade IX and the completion of an elementary education, pupils in Grade VIII should not go on placement until the end of the school year in June. They should then be given a certificate of promotion to Grade IX, signed by the Superintendent or Head Master.

4. The Non-Academic Pupil.

Those youngsters who are 15½ years of age or over, who dislike academic work, or are slow learners, or were in Auxiliary Classes in some school system, or did not attend school very long before admission, should be assigned to some handicraft class or shop, and to the library for reading on whatever level they may be. They should not be on full time on kitchen or house duties alone. There is need for these pupils to get whatever intellectual development is possible.

5. Teachers.

1. The main agent in education is the intelligence of the learner himself. The teacher acts like the farmer who must co-operate with nature to assure growth and purity of crops. Only the experienced, capable and trained teacher can stimulate minds to think and reason; or is able to accurately guide pupils in their studies; or enlarge the mental and spiritual horizons of children by expert questioning and suitable sensible methods.

Since these children are wards of the Province then the government must accept the responsibility of the home to provide the best teachers possible. The School superintendents have done well in their choice of teachers.

*This recommendation has been implemented.

6. Vocational Courses.

- (1) An attempt should be made to follow the Ontario Course of Study in Auto Mechanics, Curriculum 1 and S.27 Technical Course, for Grades IX and X. It may not be possible, however, since the boys are not in residence for sufficient time.
- (2) It is also recommended that all Trade Instructors should acquaint themselves with the Instructions for Industrial Arts Courses as given in the 1951 Intermediate Division, Course of Study of the Department of Education.
- (3) "Household Mechanics and Woodworking", as outlined in the Ontario Course of Study VII to IX should be a definite part of the vocational course in each school.
- (4) The Department of Education Course for Grades VII to X (inclusive) should be followed for the vocational programme in each school as far as feasible.

7. The Chapel.

I recommend that consideration be given for a church-like chapel for each school. Should it not be considered as essential in the Ontario Training Schools as it is in the Private Schools?

Using an auditorium, in which so many secular projects (shows, physical training, etc.) take place, for chapel services, does not inspire devotion or reverence.

8. School Manual.

A very commendable confidential manual has been prepared by one school in the last few years for the guidance of each member of the staff so that each may understand the plan in the education, training and rehabilitation of the boys confided to the care of the school. It contains some history; the school's relationship with the Department of Reform Institutions and Advisory Board; the Training Schools Act; and suggestions on a variety of topics, such as school standards, discipline and class control. A manual of this nature would be helpful to the staff of all the schools.

9. History of The Schools.

Would it be of value for future historians if a short history was prepared by some interested person on each school staff? A copy could be donated to the Legislative Library. St. John's Training School seems to have some such record. Mr. J. S. Morrison has completed a bound volume of documents from the Year 1925 to 1955. There may be others.

10. Recall Centre.

There is a definite policy in all schools to provide such an intensified and varied educational programme that the benefits derived by the pupils will enable the schools to replace youth into the community within ten or fifteen months. This, of course, depends on the conduct of the boys and girls.

Returns from placement are not any indication of failure on the part of any school because every placement is an experiment.

However, there are some who fail on every placement, committing serious offences and who don't seem to profit by the initial training and retraining and have to be brought back to their training school. These returnees have a disturbing influence on the life of the school and disorganize the training programme. To meet this situation there is need of a recall adjustment centre for boys so that they need not be returned to their school, but to this centre for an intensive course of training. I recommend that this should be carefully considered and provided.

TO THE HONOURABLE G. C. WARDROPE,
MINISTER OF REFORM INSTITUTIONS.

SIR:

I have the honour and pleasure of submitting the Annual Report of the Department for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1961.

Although the year has been marked by the opening of a new institution, two new camps and an extension to the Alcoholic Clinic, it has been most notable for the overall expansion of our training and treatment program.

The three essentials in any correctional program are buildings, staff and services. Experience dictates that our success in the Rehabilitation of the Offender is not only in direct proportion to the services we are able to provide, but these services are largely dependent on buildings and staff. Perhaps buildings, which are of prime importance in the carrying out of our legal custodial responsibility, have least visible effect on our moral rehabilitative responsibility. Nevertheless, efficient buildings are vital to our program. A worn-out building, incapable of being maintained or modernized to present day standards of sanitation, heating, lighting and ventilation, is not conducive to the morale of staff and inmates alike. It is axiomatic that well planned, well maintained and efficient buildings are of basic importance to our program.

The old frame building at Camp Bison, Burwash Industrial Farm, which was erected in 1925, was replaced this year by a completely new modern structure. The new Camp Bison is a prison and as such it is not designed as luxury accommodation. However, it is a new concept in prison building. There is a tasteful use of colour throughout the building, which has been designed with the idea of assisting a man to retain his self-respect. Bars are most notable by their absence. They are replaced by aluminum screens in the individual rooms provided for inmates, rooms which have complete facilities and ordinary wooden doors. There are day rooms and showers at the end of the corridor, with a large auditorium and a library on the second floor. This is not a large unwieldy structure full of security points and iron grilles. Instead, it is a scientifically designed building of sufficient security and of the ideal size to accommodate 200 inmates, which is the number we are convinced is most satisfactory from the point of view of rehabilitation and administration. This is indeed a new and brilliant concept in prison building.

On the other hand, Camp Hendrie, located in Simcoe County, is not new in concept. It is an extension of a scheme which has demonstrated its tremendous rehabilitative values. For the first time a bush camp is being used to house young men from the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph. Camp Hendrie consists of two dormitory buildings to house 40 inmates. It has an administration building with kitchen, dining room, and stores, and separate staff quarters, all constructed by inmate labour at a total cost of approximately $12,000. The policy at Camp Hendrie and the philosophy of the camp are the same as we have found successful in our two other bush camps at Hillsdale and McCreight's Dam. Here, men live an outdoor community life, working on practical projects for the improvement of the immediate locality. We are firmly convinced of the immense value of these camps in our program.

A new reformatory has been opened at Elliot Lake, on the site of a discontinued mining operation. This reformatory was opened with three points in mind. First was an obvious need to reduce the population of the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph to a more reasonable and easily manageable size. The second was the housing of the Guelph type inmate from the northern part of the province in a location more easily accessible for visiting. Finally these quarters were originally designed for miners. They are in fine condition and we hope that this transfer of buildings, this use of existing property and facilities, will have a rehabilitative effect in enabling the men in that institution to maintain or regain their self-respect.

The extension to the Alex. G. Brown Memorial Clinic for the treatment of alcoholics was officially opened after the end of the fiscal year, but as it was in active preparation and use before that date it is included in this report. This extension, which is a building on the grounds of the Ontario Reformatory, Mimico, enabled us to expand our treatment facilities to accommodate from 30 patients to the present maximum of 150.

The past year has been a very busy one for our maintenance crews working with inmate labour within the various institutions. In addition to building maintenance, new construction has been carried out at the Burtch Industrial Farm; Industrial Farm, Fort William; Industrial Farm, Monteith; Ontario Reformatory, Guelph; Camp Hendrie, and at the Ontario Training Schools at Bowmanville and Cobourg.

STAFF

The effectiveness of our services may be measured by the quantity and calibre of our staff. Regardless of our desires and efforts our rehabilitation program is restricted to the optimum output of our total treatment staff. Consequently, we have directed our energies this year to two methods of expanding our services. Primarily we have concentrated on increasing the efficiency and effectiveness of individual members of the complete team. Secondly, we have continued our progress of last year in increasing the number of trained personnel working for the department. By the end of the fiscal year we employed 16 psychologists, our staff of consultant psychiatrists had increased to 14, social workers to 12, and in addition there were 25 parole and rehabilitation officers working with adult offenders.

Quantity of staff is important but quality is all important. This essential factor is ensured by the setting of standards of recruitment as well as training after recruitment. During the fall and winter the most extensive in-service staff training program which the department has yet devised was set up for the staff of twelve of our institutions. By means of a series of lectures and discussion groups staff members were made aware of the most modern techniques used in penology.

For some time we have been anxious to secure University training in corrections for those staff members who have shown outstanding interest and ability in their work and who are capable of assuming greater responsibility. Plans were made to approach Universities to investigate the possibility of developing a course in corrections for workers in the field. Arrangements have now been finalized and it is hoped that after three years of intensive extra-mural study successful staff members will receive a University Certificate in Corrections.

During the past few years we have built up excellent working relationships with outside agencies and professional groups. Recently the Canadian Occupational Therapy Association requested that our Occupational Therapy Unit at the A. G. B. Memorial Clinic in Mimico be used as a centre where Occupational Therapists could do part of their required internship before graduation and this plan will soon be put into operation.

In conjunction with our overall training program, we have built up a specialized library of many hundreds of books, pamphlets, journals and reports from all over the world, to present to our staff a comprehensive picture of modern thinking in our work and allied fields. The more information available, the wider the reading, the more self-critical we get and consequently the more ideas we are able to evaluate. All this can only lead to a greater all-out effort and eventually increase the effectiveness of our rehabilitation program.

SERVICES

Institutional services must not only provide for the immediate needs of the inmates within the institutions but, more important, the "psychological" and rehabilitative needs of each individual must be satisfied.

The first of these requirements, includes feeding, clothing and other day-to-day necessities, as well as the provision of activity both for recreation and work. There is no doubt that food is of great importance in the successful operation of any institution, and to the inmate population it is extremely important. Consequently, in all our institutions we have this year, as previously, placed special emphasis on correct feeding. This has not in any way implied luxury; we regard the basic essentials as variety, quality and cleanliness. These essentials have been obtained within a reasonable budget, and within this budget we are providing a most sensible, adequate and attractive diet.

In recreation we have striven to build healthy minds, as well as healthy bodies. Recreation is an integral and very necessary part of normal life. The intelligent use of recreational facilities has often been lacking in many inmates when they arrive at our institutions, and it is most important that while we have the custody of these men, they should be guided into following healthy recreational activities. During the year we held a most successful course at our staff training school for the physical education instructors of all our institutions. In this way our instructors are encouraged to keep abreast with modern techniques in utilizing recreation as another effective aspect of our total treatment program. Further to this we instituted a recreation leadership course for students at the Ontario Training Centre, Brampton. Among subjects taught were refereeing and coaching in sports, group leadership, administration, teaching techniques, planning and evaluating, social recreation skills, and community recreational organization. As a result of this course, which is under the direction of the Community Programmes Branch, Department of Education, a number of students have been able to find suitable, satisfying employment in various communities.

During the year up-to-date libraries containing book stocks geared to the reading level and tastes of inmates were vastly expanded and improved. Results have been most gratifying; over 80% of the inmates are using the libraries at some period, and on an average, each inmate is reading one book per week.

On the active side, discussion groups, concerts, chess and checkers were widely used. One project that was particularly useful was the establishment of a Toastmaster Club at the Ontario Training Centre, Brampton. This received support and encouragement from outside Toastmaster Clubs and the students are finding great value in its program.

Industrially, we have had a successful year. The following items, fabricated or processed in our various industrial farms, and reformatories, provide steady productive work for quite an appreciable number of inmates: canned fruits and vegetables, furniture, woollen goods, beds, sheet metal products, meats, brick and tile, licence plates, garments, lumber, park picnic tables, fire place grilles and barbecues.

Our canneries have been reorganized, revamped and re-equipped with modern machinery. This modernization program has not only enabled us to increase our output, but, more important, it has resulted in a high quality product. During the fiscal year our productions amounted to some 100,000 – 105 oz. tins of fruits – vegetables – jams – jellies – and marmalades.

A program of re-organization and standardization of products and patterns in our tailor or garment shops has been undertaken, the aim being to produce a uniform quality product. The results to date are most gratifying.

The licence plate plant is a very modern one, being equipped with a blanking press, four embossing presses, a conveyor system through a three stage metal processing line and a paint line with two baking ovens. Yearly production has now reached over 2½ million pairs of licence plates.

TRAINING AND TREATMENT PROGRAM

Re-education and treatment received continued emphasis at the Department's ten specialized centres. During the year a number of surveys were carried out which produced trends and results in the effectiveness of our program. At the Ontario Training Centre, Brampton, an exhaustive study was made in conjunction with the records of the R.C.M.P. Here it was found that five years after release, 58% of all ex-students have had no further trouble with the law. The comparative figure for the Ontario Training Centre, Burtch, was 40%.

During the past ten years over three thousand male patients have been treated for alcoholism at the Alex. G. Brown Memorial Clinic in Mimico. Until the end of this year the Clinic's capacity was limited to 30 beds. However, by the end of the year another building with capacity for 120 has been added to the program. It will now be possible to treat 1,800 patients each year in these two settings. A follow-up survey at this Clinic shows that, once more over a period of five years, 40% have been greatly helped.

The Drug Addiction program for both men and women has been in operation for less than five years, and so we do not quote our interim findings, beyond the point of saying that both programs are evidently proving to be helpful to those participating in them.

Since the physical structure and program at the Ontario Reformatory, Millbrook were designed to accommodate the most difficult inmates, the results here were most interesting. Taking the group of behaviour problems discharged since Millbrook was opened the survey showed that on an average, these men remained free of trouble with the law for two and one-half times longer than after being discharged previously from another institution.

During the past year a survey has been made of all current correctional research being done in Canada. Of the 30 reports published to date 8 or 27% have been done in this department.

Our specialized treatment centres each have to face complex treatment problems and as these centres have grown in number through the years, they have also become more wide-spread geographically. In order to keep everyone informed, to stimulate and encourage the staff of these centres, and at the same time to try to provide solutions for the many problems that arise, monthly treatment meetings were inaugurated and are now being held in each of the 15 centres,

REHABILITATION

In order to increase the effectiveness of our rehabilitation program we have reorganized it completely, amalgamating the adult parole and rehabilitation service with the juvenile placement service. Officers will, in future, have a case load of both adults and juveniles in certain designated geographical areas. This will correct present duplication and increase tremendously the amount of supervision. It will mean that assistance will be available to the adult or juvenile at the time it is needed and minor difficulties can be corrected before they develop into major problems. Our rehabilitation officers will be able to gain a knowledge of the offender's community, employment and family and thus assess more accurately the difficulties to be met and provide more assistance in overcoming them.

Much of our success may be directly attributed to the continued co-operation and efforts of various organizations and church groups, other government departments, employers and interested citizens, as well as a loyal and devoted staff.

Yours sincerely,

Deputy Minister.

ANNUAL REPORT

THE ONTARIO BOARD OF PAROLE

For the Year Ending March 31st, 1961

The Fiscal Year saw a major change in the Parole System of Ontario. Legislation was passed authorizing the appointment of a new Parole Board to be composed of three full-time Members and two part-time Members. The original appointments effective May 1, 1960, were as follows:—

Donald Clarke Mason	Chairman
John Sinclair Morrison, B.A., M.ED.	Full-time Member
William J. Stewart, C.B.E.	Full-time Member
Mrs. Gladys Coulter	Part-time Member
Mrs. J. Isobel Ross	Part-time Member

Mr. W. J. Stewart resigned from the Board effective September 26, 1960, and Reverend David McMaster Kerr was appointed effective the same date.

The duties and responsibilities of the Board are carried out under the authority of the Parole Act of 1946 and its amendments of 1952 and 1960.

The Parole Act gives authority to the Board to grant or refuse Parole to prisoners serving indeterminate sentences, confined in Institutions in Ontario. All prisoners serving indeterminate sentences appear before the Board automatically, and they are not required to make a formal application for Parole consideration.

The Board meet regularly at the Main Office in Toronto to thoroughly review the files of prisoners who have been scheduled for Parole consideration. Following this review the Board will proceed to the Institution and a personal interview is granted the prisoner before a decision is made.

Board Meetings are held at nine Institutions in the province, and the Board interview prisoners at the majority of these Institutions at least once a month.

The personal interview with the prisoner is a most valuable experience. Every attempt is made to make the prisoner feel at ease, and he is encouraged to relate his feelings as to the offence, his stay in the Institution, as well as his plans for the future. This interview also affords the Board the opportunity to ask questions relating to the case as well as to generally assess the prospects for successful rehabilitation.

The Board is aware of its obligation to society, however, the prisoners appearing before the Board will eventually be released and it is felt that cases which are considered to be good risks, paroled under proper supervision, is a more realistic method of returning a prisoner to society.

We will have failures, however the number who have successfully completed Parole is most encouraging.

In deciding for or against Parole many factors must be taken into consideration. The Board is in possession of a great deal of information regarding the prisoner. This includes personal history, circumstances of the offence, previous criminal activity, conduct and progress in the Institution, Psychological and Psychiatric Reports when pertinent, Home Investigation, Pre-sentence Report, previous employment record and proposed Parole Plan, etc.

When the Board have reviewed this information, two additional and probably most important factors are considered: (1) What degree of reformation has taken place. (2) What are the chances of the prisoner completing a satisfactory rehabilitation at this time.

Parole having been granted, the Parole and Rehabilitation Staff of the Department are responsible for completing the plan for release and for supervision during the Parole period.

Should a parolee fail to comply with the conditions of Parole, the case is presented to the Board for their further consideration, and if the decision is made to cancel Parole, the parolee is returned to the Institution.

Where a parolee commits a further offence while on Parole, the case is presented to the Board and unless there are exceptional circumstances, Parole will be cancelled.

The Board are indebted to the Staff in the Main Office, the Parole and Rehabilitation Officers and Officials at the Institutions for their assistance and co-operation and to the Magistrates, Probation Staff, Police Forces, for the valuable information which they supply. Appreciation is also extended to the many Public Agencies and Private Community Services and Agencies who have assisted the men and women released from our Institutions whether on Parole or at the expiration of sentence.

D. C. MASON,

Chairman and Chief Parole and Rehabilitation Officer.

THE SALVATION ARMY

REPORT OF POLICE COURT, PRISON, JAIL AND AFTER-CARE WORK IN THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

For the Year Ending Dec. 31, 1960

We are reminded that 1960 marked the 70th anniversary of the Salvation Army's prison work in Ontario, and indeed in the Dominion.

It was in 1890 that the first Prison Gate Home was opened on Eglinton Avenue East, near Yonge Street, where our North Toronto Corps hall now stands.

In those days Salvation Army Officers would drive the 'Red Maria' to the local jail and bring men who were being released to the "P.G.Home" as it was called. There they were given a bed, assigned a place at table, and then put to work in the woodyard, bootshop or bakery until they had learned something that would help them make their own way in life again. Similar homes were opened in Hamilton and Kingston shortly afterwards.

Meanwhile help to women prisoners was given by a young woman officer, in the person of Captain Blanche Goodall. The Captain's father was the General Superintendent of the City Parks Department, Toronto, for nearly thirty years. Captain Goodall was the first woman to speak in a religious service in the Central Prison, Toronto. In later years she continued her efforts in prisons and after-care homes as the wife of Lt. Colonel John Read.

I am glad to report in these pages that the work commenced seventy years ago is being carried on zealously today by a greater number of dedicated men and women officers of our Organization than ever before. Our Territorial Commander, Commissioner W. W. Booth is intensely interested in Correctional Services, and ready to help in every way possible.

The statistics given below show that more effort has been made this year than in any previous year to meet the needs which increase rather than diminish from year to year. The financial statement too emphasises this, as expenditure on behalf of Correctional Services in this Province is larger than ever. Grants from the Department are augmented by gifts from the public to cover these needs, and we are grateful to all who contribute.

I am aware that the cordial co-operation the Salvation Army receives from the Minister, the Deputy Minister and all officers and members of the Department of Reform Institutions also increases from year to year. Thus I would express our thanks to the Minister, and all associated with him, for the kindly guidance and words of commendation and the monetary support we receive from time to time.

Under the blessing of God, to whom we look in all our endeavours, we believe our service in all Penal Institutions in this Province will be of even greater usefulness in the coming year, and for this we most earnestly pray.

TO THE HONOURABLE, THE MINISTER,
Department of Reform Institutions.

SIR:

The following reports for the year which ended March 31st, 1961, are presented herewith for your consideration:

The Training Schools Advisory Board.

The Training School Statistics.

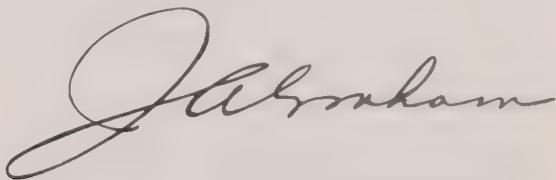

The Training Schools Advisory Board consists of five members and its very detailed and informative report not only gives an account of the activities of the Board for the year, but also provides some very interesting statistics. The report states that meetings were held on Thursday mornings of each week and visits were made to each of the schools during the year. This report indicates the sincere interest and effort which the members take in discharging their duties and the facts and opinions stated are worthy of serious consideration.

It is noted that the commitments and admissions to the Training Schools over the past seven years have increased considerably. The total commitments and admissions in 1955 and for the year ending March 31st, 1961 were 526 and 968 respectively. This is an increase of 84%. This trend was foreseen over a year ago and plans were formulated to provide added accommodation and staff to meet our ever-growing needs. Approval was given for the construction of two new schools, one for girls at Lindsay, and one for boys at Simcoe. It is expected these two schools will be ready for occupancy in 1962. The three Private Training Schools also made plans for expansion and the additions to St. Joseph's Training School at Alfred and St. Mary's Training School at Downsview will be completed this year.

This increasing rise in the number of children committed to our care for treatment and social re-education presents many problems. Equipment must be provided and staff recruited to cope with the situation. The needs of each individual child must be considered if any measure of success is to be expected. Realizing our responsibilities in this area, we concentrated on intensive In-Service Training Courses for all staff during the fall and winter months. Lectures and discussion groups were of a practical nature designed to assist staff in using the most modern techniques in dealing with the children in our care. In addition, we continued our policy of recruiting professional personnel with special training in dealing with disturbed children. The aim has been to develop an enriched programme in these schools to meet the needs of each individual child. This programme includes academic and vocational training, religious guidance and recreation. Clinical services and counselling by trained personnel are provided for those children who need more intensive treatment with particular emphasis on citizenship and social adjustment.

The programme in these schools has been greatly enhanced by the gifts and services rendered by the many generous citizens, church organizations and service clubs. The time and energy spent by these fine people in their desire to assist in the rehabilitating of these girls and boys is gratefully acknowledged. The Department also expresses its appreciation to those citizens who have accepted these children into their homes and are now acting as their foster parents.

Yours sincerely,

Deputy Minister.

THE TRAINING SCHOOLS ADVISORY BOARD

ANNUAL REPORT

TO THE HONOURABLE G. C. WARDROPE,
Minister of Reform Institutions.

SIR:—

We have pleasure in submitting our Annual Report for the year ended March 31st, 1961.

INTRODUCTION.

Your Board, as a body or individually, has visited the Training Schools and has continued to hold its meetings every Thursday for the purpose of transacting business and making its recommendations to you.

It is our view that the Training Schools of Ontario are as good and as effective, as any to be found elsewhere. They are staffed by competent persons who are dedicated to the special purposes for which the Schools exist, i.e. the correction of wayward tendencies and anti-social behaviour patterns shown in the boys and girls under their care.

The duties involved are oft-times tiresome and exacting, with some periods of frustration on account of what at a given moment appears to be failure, but, in the long run, no work is more rewarding in personal satisfaction. Certainly none is of much greater importance to the future well-being of our Province and Country.

In this particular area it is easy to become complacent but from every aspect, in education and training, progress must be seen on the horizon if real advance is to be made.

In some areas we feel the time is ripe for a forward movement in developing the facilities and programmes of the Training Schools. The Board is happy to note that the Department is alive to this need and is already planning for its provision.

The reasons warranting these improvements stem from (a) the substantial increase in the number of students in the Training Schools in recent years, which has resulted in serious overcrowding; (b) the need to provide in each School a full academic programme; (c) the wisdom in developing more selective vocational training facilities; and (d) a revised physical fitness programme.

Further reference to some of these items will be found elsewhere in this Report.

THE GENERAL BUSINESS OF THE BOARD

The business of the Board has certainly not lessened during the past year. Some indication of the volume of the work done at its weekly meetings is to be gathered from the following details:—

N.B. The reason why the figures in this table may sometimes be found to differ from those submitted by the Schools, is because the School figures refer to individual cases, whereas in this table, if action is taken by the Board concerning an individual case more than once during the period covered, it is shown more than once.

It may be of interest to note that the file of each case brought before the Board has been studied by the Chairman and Secretary prior to each meeting and summaries of the relevant details are placed before every Board Member.

NUMBERS ON THE SCHOOL ROLL

The number of students and wards on placement, enrolled on March 31st, 1961, was as follows:—

	Ontario Training School for Boys, Bowmanville	Ontario Training School for Boys, Cobourg	Ontario, Training School for Girls, Galt	Ontario Reception and Diagnostic Centre for Girls, Galt	Ontario Training School for Girls, Port Bolster	Ontario Training School for Boys, Guelph	St. Mary's Training School for Girls, Toronto	St. John's Training School for Boys, Uxbridge	St. Joseph's Training School for Boys, Alfred	Totals

TOTALS. . . .	568	530	292	36	32	66	292	561	281	2,658

IN RESIDENCE

A total of 968 were received into the Training Schools during the year. Of this number 897 were received from the Juvenile and Family Courts and 71 were admitted under Section 10 of the Training Schools Act. This is an increase of 89 receptions over the previous year and shows conclusively that the trend indicated in our last Annual Report has to be reckoned with and provided for with due seriousness.

The following details and graph No. 1 affirm how, with one exception, the numbers have increased annually in recent years.

1955	494	32	526
1956	567	43	610
1957	757	41	798
1958	838	47	885
1959	790	48	838
1961	897	71	968

The Training Schools in Ontario were not designed to accommodate such large numbers, and the resultant overcrowding has created problems that restrict the effectiveness of the training programme. Every Superintendent knows that the majority of students require a longer period in training than is deemed possible at this time.

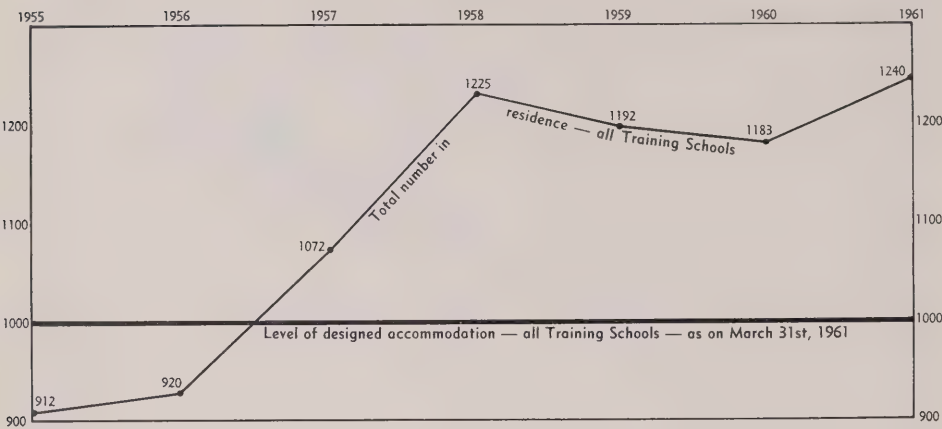

A few students make a quick adjustment and may safely be returned to their homes after a short period of training but, in general, the practise of sending a student back to the community before he or she is completely adjusted, is defeating the purpose of the Training School system. When training these adolescents, lack of accommodation is never a good reason for ending a period of training and may prove to be very costly to the community in the years to come.

The seriousness of the problem may be seen from a study of the following graphs: one of which shows the overall picture; the other giving a breakdown between Ontario Training Schools and the Private Training Schools.

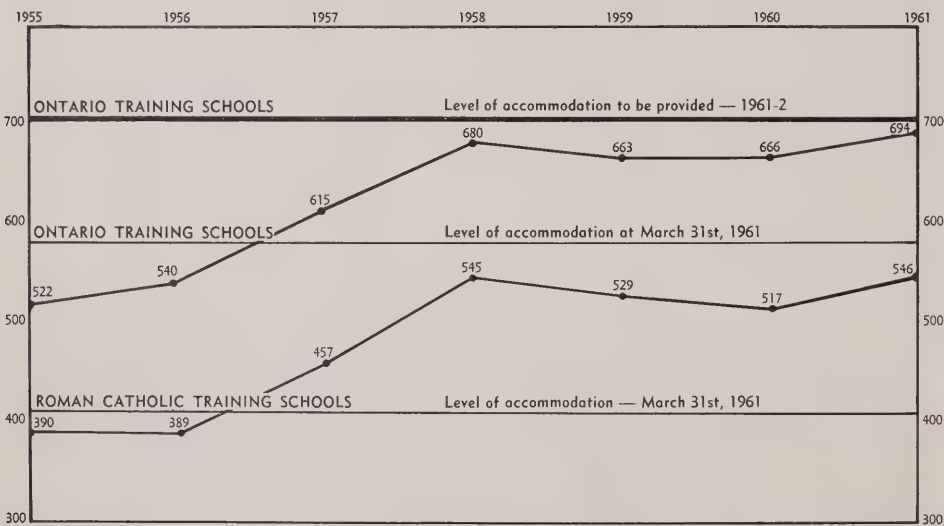

I

III

Graph No. III shows, also, the provisions being made by the Department to meet the situation concerning Ontario Training Schools, and takes into account the two new Ontario Training Schools now being built at Lindsay and Simcoe, which are expected to be ready for occupation by the Spring of 1962. It will be noted that on the basis of the present rate of intake and release on placement, the extra accommodation provided cannot be said to exceed requirements.

It is the opinion of the Board that new receptions will continue to increase in number and there is every indication that during the fiscal year 1961/1962 these will exceed the 1,000 mark for the first time.

ON PLACEMENT

On the 31st March, 1961, the Training Schools had no fewer than 1,418 wards on placement. The task of giving adequate supervision to these, scattered as they are over the whole Province, has been a matter of concern for a considerable time. Therefore, the Board is happy to learn of the important developments being made by the Department involving a thorough reorganization of its rehabilitation services. We feel sure that when these are completed the result will be a much improved service.

Not every ward is placed in his or her home on leaving the Training School. Wherever this course is possible without risk to the ward's future, it is done, but many come into our Training Schools because of the inadequacy of their home surroundings wherein marital strife and bad example have contributed to the child's delinquent behaviour. In such circumstances the Board requires to be assured of changed conditions before permitting a ward to be returned. It is to meet these situations that foster homes are sought, and the manner in which so many public spirited people continue to open their homes as foster parents is truly wonderful. Among these, we have been encouraged to note, are some who in former years passed through a Training School themselves and who now, being happily married, have felt the urge to give a place in their home to those boys and girls who have not known much happiness and who now, facing life realities, are in dire need of affection and guidance.

This is a very human situation, full of adventure and inward satisfaction, the like of which the Poet Laureate had in mind when he wrote:—

- * "And he who gives a child a treat,
Makes joybells ring in Heaven's street;
And he who gives a child a home,
Builds palaces in Kingdom Come".

THE RETURN OF WARDS FROM PLACEMENT

Your Board has never sought to show, in its reports, that all the dedicated work done by those in charge of the Training Schools meets with success. In this particular and difficult field of social endeavour there are bound to be failures — and sometimes it turns out that the failure concerns one for whom much has been done and whose future looked promising. Nevertheless, by no means all of those returned to the School from placement should be looked upon as having failed. Some require counselling that can best be given in a controlled setting and await replacement. Others have succumbed to fresh temptations and adventure and require a further period of training. The Board reviews the circumstances of every boy or girl returned from placement. We give below an analysis of the reasons for the returns to the Training Schools from placement

THE ADVISORY BOARD AND THE TRAINING SCHOOLS

The relationship between the Board and the Training Schools is satisfactory in every way. The Board maintains a day by day contact with Superintendents over matters that are the Board's special concern. It is not a function of the Board to administer the Training Schools or their programme. Nevertheless, the Board does interest itself in these important matters in order that it may be in a position to offer advice when requested by you. For this purpose, the Department keeps the Board informed of all changes and developments as they arise. In this way the Board is able to render an assessment of the effectiveness of the programme within each Training School.

The following paragraphs have been compiled from special notes of interest supplied by the various Superintendents:—

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, BOWMANVILLE

This School has completed a year of satisfactory progress. The programme for academic and vocational training has been accelerated. For the first time there is being operated a full academic programme. The vocational training is steadily expanding so that every student will have an opportunity to be trained in those subjects wherein his special interest and aptitudes are discovered.

In addition to the key programme of academic and vocational studies, the students have the opportunity to participate in a variety of activities, designed to help them develop into worthwhile members of the community. Stress is placed on getting every student actively involved in all the School's activities in order that he may gain recognition for good sportsmanship and learn to work as a member of a team.

Students are encouraged to join the School Cadet Corps and Bugle Band, both of which make a valuable contribution to the life of the School.

Many of the former students write in appreciation of their stay in Bowmanville and of what it has done for them.

The relationship of the School with the community continues to be a matter for justifiable pride, and the thanks of the Superintendent and staff are once more extended to the Rotary Clubs of Toronto and Bowmanville, the Kiwanis' and Lion's Clubs, Canadian Legion, local Ministerial Association, Bowmanville Recreation Department, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Oshawa, Youth for Christ, and many others who have maintained their interest in the School.

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, COBOURG

The admission rate for this School continues to be high, concerning boys whose age at reception is under 14 years.

The Superintendent considers the School has had an excellent year and pays tribute to a loyal and experienced staff.

Detention as a method of correction has given place to counselling and is now almost negligible.

The School's three Hockey Teams competed in the local Church Hockey League.

The students raise their own fund to finance the camping expeditions of the Scouts and Cubs. The former went to Haliburton and the latter to the Shelter Valley Camp.

The choir has had another excellent year and won first place in the Scout chorus group, two students taking the gold and silver medals as soloists.

The local Rotary Club continues its special interest presenting this year for the first time the "Rotary award for exemplary character". This went to an ex-student who has been on placement for over a year and was considered a worthy choice.

"Open House" was very successful and revealed much interest by the general public.

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, GALT

The Superintendent reports that the School House Fund continued to support "Maria" in Greece through Foster Parents' Plan at a cost of $180.00 per annum.

The choir presented "The Sunbonnet Girl" in May. They travelled to Simcoe twice and sang at a Home and School Club meeting in April and presented a sacred concert at the Salvation Army Citadel in March. The annual Candlelight Service was held in December and later repeated at St. Giles Presbyterian Church, Galt. The choir was invited to numerous Churches in Galt and Preston during the year and they twice entertained the aged residents of the Eventide Home, Galt.

Canadian Girls in Training enjoyed another successful season. Leaders from local Churches came to the School to help the girls conduct their meetings. The groups visited various Presbyterian and United Churches in Galt and Preston during the year.

In the Public Speaking Contest prizes were awarded in Senior and Junior divisions by the University Women's Club, Galt, and the School.

The annual track and field meet was held with outside competitors. This event was sponsored by the Galt Y.M.C.A. and a trophy is presented by them. Galt won the trophy for the fourth year in succession. The School also entered a volleyball team in a ladies' league sponsored by the Y.M.C.A.; the O.T.S. team was eliminated in the semi-finals. Swimming and life-saving classes are held regularly. Another girl this year won the Junior Life Saving Instructor's Badge, second highest badge awarded by the Y.M.C.A.

Christmas was a happy event in the School. Many girls were allowed to go home for the holiday. Christmas for the girls who remained in the School was made pleasant by gifts from Woolworths' Employees' Association, Toronto, Business and Professional Women's Association, Galt, and other friends.

Hogmanay Banquet has become an annual event eagerly looked forward to by the girls each New Year's Eve. Every girl in the School sat down to tables set up in the auditorium and enjoyed a turkey dinner served by staff. A programme of Scottish music and dancing was enjoyed and an appropriate address was given by the Reverend G. Lockhart, Scottish born Minister of Delta Park Baptist Church, Galt.

Dancing parties were introduced last winter and four dances were held at which girls of particularly good behaviour were hostesses to young men and women of Waterloo Lutheran University. Four monthly dances were held during the winter and they were an incentive to good behaviour. Music was supplied by Radio Station CKCR, Kitchener.

Radio Station CFTJ, Galt, broadcast the choir's Candlelight Services on Christmas Day. They also broadcast the School's daily morning Chapel services for one week during the month of June. These broadcasts elicited letters and telephone calls from several people in the district expressing pleasure and appreciation for the efforts of the girls.

THE RECEPTION-DIAGNOSTIC CENTRE FOR GIRLS, GALT

This Centre offers a two-fold service to the Ontario Training School programme.

The Reception Centre receives all girls of the Protestant faith on committal from the Juvenile Court or on special admission under Section 10 of the Training Schools Act.

The stay in this Centre is short, but long enough for the clinical staff, Psychiatrist, Psychologist and Social Worker to interview, test, and compile a case history of each girl, which is then made available as a guide to her future training. After a classifying committee has reviewed the findings the girl is transferred to the School considered most likely to meet her needs. Some few girls who are thought to be in special need of treatment are not transferred to another School immediately, but to the Treatment Wing, which is the second function of the Centre.

The Treatment Section also receives girls from the Training Schools, both Protestant and Catholic, who are deemed to be in need of special psychiatric and professional assistance.

Girls within the Treatment Section attend academic and commercial classes and special guidance is given according to individual need. Extra curricular activities include sewing, trips into town with staff members. There is controlled T.V. and weekly movies are part of spare time activities.

In recent months some of the girls have been working part time in the local library and have received favourable commendation from the Librarian.

Girls from the Treatment Section are frequently placed direct in the community under the supervision of the Centre's Placement Officer. These girls keep in touch with the Centre and send letters of appreciation to the Superintendent.

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, TRELAWNEY HOUSE, PORT BOLSTER

This small home unit continues its good work. No person who has visited fails to be impressed by the atmosphere and potentialities of "Trelawney".

The practical interest of Mrs. Cameron McKenzie and her lady associates in voluntary social work continues, and this has done much toward the sponsoring of the good public relations that "Trelawney" enjoys. It is true to state that the local community are as proud to have this School in their midst as the Department of Reform Institutions is to maintain it.

Few of the students can go to their own homes on leaving the School. Some have never known what a real home was like, or experienced the love and security that is every child's birthright.

Six of the students attending the local High School were successful in their examinations. These girls will eventually be placed in nearby foster homes to continue their education. Girls so placed continue to belong to "Trelawney" and pay frequent visits.

"Trelawney" has its own portable School and runs a good academic programme. Among its many other activities are the training in domestic responsibilities, nursing, music and drama.

One ex-Trelawney girl has become a Judo champion and recently took top honours in Detroit by winning the ninth Mid-Western A.A.V. championship.

The affection these girls have for their School and staff may be judged by the action of one who recently married. She spent the first day of her honeymoon in visiting Trelawney to introduce her new husband.

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, GUELPH

As its title suggests, this is a Training School for Boys. It is necessary to emphasize this fact, since there exists so much confusion in linking it with the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph. The two are quite distinct and separate institutions, but both happen to be located in Guelph.

The Training School was established to meet the special needs of other Training Schools for Boys, concerning those students who do not fit into the open setting of the normal school. That is why our Juvenile Courts do not commit directly to this School. Every student therein has been transferred from one of the other Training Schools in order that he may be trained under conditions of security and receive closer and more individualistic attention. The staff have been carefully selected for this purpose. The premises look secure — they are secure, but inside there is an atmosphere in which firm discipline is tempered with understanding and personal interest. The students know that from the Superintendent downwards all are there to help them solve their particular problem.

The School has its own academic programme and is very well equipped with vocational training shops. Provision is also made for medical, psychiatric and psychological services. Emphasis is likewise given to religious thought and training. Ministers of various denominations visit regularly for spiritual care.

Mr. S. D. Oakes, Inspector of Public Schools, has stated that he is proud to be associated with the School.

Over the years there has been established an exceptionally good public relation interest, through service clubs and representatives from industry in general. These attend concerts and special efforts given by students at the School and extend invitations to those students who have gained good conduct privileges to attend as their guests at community efforts and functions.

One public spirited manufacturer presented 8 new guitars to the School and another local insurance man volunteered his services to organize a guitar group.

It has been the custom for several years for the School to send wooden toys made by the students to the Retarded Children's School at Guelph. This year the eight boys who were responsible for making the toys were taken to visit the Retarded Children's School. The therapeutic value which resulted was expressed by one of the students on his return. "My gosh, did you see that 20 year old guy who can't even add one and one?"

The Superintendent receives many letters in appreciation of the work of the School from visitors, among which are those from Mr. R. A. Wollard, Personnel Manager, American Motors Ltd., and Mr. A. D. Hales, M.P.

ST. MARY'S TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, TORONTO

The Sisters of Our Lady of Charity of the Good Shepherd are to be congratulated on the achievements of this School.

The long awaited extension comprising four complete home units, reception area and gymnasium, on which construction was started in September, 1960, will be officially opened in the Fall of 1961. It will be a great addition to the School's facilities and realizes a dream of the Mother Superior and her dedicated staff.

The School has a full academic programme and special emphasis is given to such subjects as home economics and management.

By general consent, St. Mary's is a good School. It has an atmosphere created by dedication to the Christian ideal and purpose. Its record in the rehabilitation of its students is excellent. Some former students who are now happily married have opened their homes as foster parents to girls from St. Mary's in order to give them the chance to succeed.

Many girls write letters in appreciation of what was done for them during their residence in the School.

ST. JOHN'S TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, UXBRIDGE

This School, which is run by the Christian Brothers, has had another successful year and the Superintendent reports:—

Since our arrival at Uxbridge we have suffered from a lack of suitable facilities for swimming for the students. Steps were taken in the beginning of April to provide a modern swimming pool for the boys and thereby augment the summer programme.

The official opening of the pool took place on July 23rd. Rev. Allan Quinlan, School Chaplain, blessed the pool. Rev. Martin Pinker, Chairman of the Training Schools Advisory Board, represented the Minister of Reform Institutions at the ceremony.

De La Salle Band honoured us on this occasion, putting on a display at the School and performing for the townsfolk in Uxbridge later in the afternoon.

The School has a very good public relations programme.

The traditional Victoria Day celebrations were held at the School on May 23rd. A large number of local residents attended the fireworks display which was preceded by conducted tours throughout the buildings.

A special collection, taken up by the Boy Scouts, netted in excess of $200.00 as a contribution towards the Uxbridge area Artificial Ice Arena Drive.

Brother Adrian entertained the honoured guests at a Superintendent's luncheon. Among those so honoured were: Mr. Sinclair, Executive Officer, Dr. J. M. Bennett of the Advisory Board, and Messrs. Williams, Pollard, Wilson and Bain, Superintendents of the various Training Schools in the Province. Seventy local business men joined with the guests at the luncheon.

The annual swim for the children of the Town of Uxbridge and environs was held in the School swimming pool on September 5th. Safety measures were handled by the local Red Cross Unit (lifeguards) and the Uxbridge Kiwanis Club (supervision). The day closed with a bonfire for the guests and the students of the School.

On March 16th the students of the School staged a Minstrel Show. The Honourable Mr. Wardrope, Minister of the Department of Reform Institutions, Mr. Graham, Deputy Minister, Rev. Martin Pinker, Dr. Bennett and Mrs. Sanderson of the Training Schools Advisory Board, His Worship Mayor Kelland of Uxbridge and Mrs. Pippard, President of the St. John's Auxiliary, were our guests.

The performance was repeated on March 24th for the townspeople and again on March 26th for the parents of the boys of the School.

The School's relationship with other Training Schools is excellent in every way.

The proximity of the Training School at Bowmanville lends itself to limited inter-school competition. The Senior Division boys from St. John's journeyed to Bowmanville on July 25th for baseball and lacrosse matches.

Again, on October 25th, two four-man teams from the School competed with our neighbouring school in the Annual Field Day Meet.

St. John's played host to the boys from Bowmanville in two exhibition hockey matches in the Uxbridge arena. Dinner was served to the competitors at the School following the games.

As in former years, a large number of boys from the School were permitted to spend part of the Christmas vacation at home.

The following were some of the visitors who were guests of the School throughout the year:—

- Staff representatives from the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital.
- Members of the St. John's Training School Auxiliary.
- Selected students from the Toronto School of Social Work.
- Teachers from the Jarvis Street Vocational School.
- Twenty Staff and patients from the Ontario Hospital, Whitby.
- Twenty-five members of the Columbian Squires Circle.

ST. JOSEPH'S TRAINING SCHOOL, ALFRED

We mentioned in our last Report that this School had embarked on an extensive improvement project. The dormitories have been completely modernized and extra recreational facilities provided. The extras include a magnificent swimming pool and gymnasium, the latter serving also as an auditorium. The Administration Section has likewise been re-planned by the provision of a Board Room and other facilities for the use of the Brothers.

The year has seen a change in Superintendents. Brother George, who had held the office for some thirteen years, moved on when appointed the Director of another School in Ottawa. He was succeeded by Brother Giles.

This School receives Roman Catholic boys from the eastern side of Ontario. It has its own academic and vocational training programme which is run by a dedicated and competent staff. Like St. John's Training School, the emphasis is always on religious instruction and practice, the focal point of which is the School Chapel.

The Superintendent receives many letters in appreciation of what the School has done for its students.

THE LATE COL. C. HEDLEY BASHER, O.B.E.

The passing of Col. G. Hedley Basher in October, 1960, after just over a year's retirement from the office of Deputy Minister, came as a great shock to everyone.

During his period in office he never failed to show his interest in the Training Schools and did much to advance their programme.

Colonel Basher was passionately fond of children. It was said of him that all his accustomed military bearing and personal discipline collapsed when he came into their presence.

Colonel Basher believed earnestly in the aims and purposes of the Training Schools and nothing gave him more pleasure than to hear of the success of Training School wards. On more than one occasion he expressed a wish to the Chairman of your Training Schools Advisory Board that if, and when, an opportunity arose concerning a boy with a broken home background, who showed special promise, he would be happy to finance a project for the boy's advancement after he left the Training School.

At Bowmanville he presented a trophy to be awarded annually to the best cadet in the School's Cadet Corps and few will forget the satisfaction it gave him when he made the annual presentation, which he did for the last time a few months before his passing.

Your Board desires to pay tribute and to record the memory of its association with this respected public servant.

IN CONCLUSION

In many ways your Board is in a unique position to note how many members of the general public and agencies render service towards the furtherance of the work of our Training Schools. We see the record of such service almost every week at our meetings.

In the first place we would wish to mention our appreciation of the dedicated work put in by members of the staff of all Training Schools. Their duties are made lighter and more pleasurable through the interest shown by the various service clubs and religious organizations, foster parents and employers, Children's Aid Societies and members of study groups.

The Board likewise desires to acknowledge its indebtedness to your Deputy Minister and the representatives of other Government Departments who have encouraged and assisted us during the year.

Finally, because it has been so constant, the Board would like to give expression to and share in the warmth of appreciation that exists in every Training School to you for all that your leadership means.

We remain,

Most sincerely,

MARTIN W. PINKER, O.B.E., CHAIRMAN,

JOHN M. BENNETT, Ph.D.,

TO THE HONOURABLE IRWIN HASKETT,
MINISTER OF REFORM INSTITUTIONS.

SIR:

I have the honour and pleasure of submitting the Annual Report for the Department for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1962.

Of major significance was your appointment as Minister of Reform Institutions in November, 1961, succeeding the Honourable George C. Wardrope who took over the portfolio of the Department of Mines after three most successful years as Minister of this Department.

In recording this change it is a useful juncture to take stock of the Department and give record to it in this Annual Report. The Department has the legal responsibility for the safe custody of a daily average of some 6,000 men and women who have been sentenced by the courts to terms of up to 2 years. It has the further responsibility for the care and training of almost 1,000 youngsters who are committed to our six training schools each year, which aspect is covered in Part 2 of this report.

To provide for the custody, treatment, training and rehabilitation of adult male and female offenders we maintain 5 reformatories, 5 industrial farms, 2 training centres, 3 clinics, 3 forest camps, 1 guidance centre and 8 district jails, and supervise 2 city jails and 35 county jails.

The number of institutions is important in that they physically permit an effective classification system together with a variety of facilities and programmes to meet the individual needs of the men and women in our care.

All male offenders committed to Ontario institutions for the first time are initially sent to the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph, which also takes all offenders between the ages of 16 and 20. All new arrivals under the age of 21 are held in reception wing and given a battery of psychological and aptitude tests, prior to being interviewed by the Classification Committee. This Committee assesses the needs and potentialities of each man from case histories as well as individual interviews. At this stage the importance of sound selection for classification purposes is recognized and only after careful consideration of all available information is a decision finally made as to whether the rehabilitation of the individual will more likely be effected at the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph or at one of the Training Centres at Brampton and Burtch.

If he remains at Guelph the employment committee will further interview him and, in the light of test results and recommendations of professional staff, will assign him to a suitable work and training programme. Consideration will be given to provide part-time academic training, trade or vocational training or employment in a modern industrial shop. Should he wish to improve his education the academic school provides adequate facilities, practical courses of study, and an efficient qualified teaching staff, to meet the needs of all inmates who show a sincere desire to improve their academic standing. Day and evening classes approved by the Department of Education and inspected by the local Public School Inspector, are held for grades up to 10. A student attends for half of each working day. Matriculation and vocational subjects such as bookkeeping and accountancy, or trades not taught within the institution, are studied under the guidance of a teacher through correspondence courses offered by the Department of Education. A reference library and study room is provided for correspondence course students.

Vocational and personal guidance services are provided to help students make wise choices and improve their ability for self-direction. The measure of the value of the school lies not only in the number of grades passed or certificates issued but also in the fact that many men make a successful adjustment to class room and study disciplines.

Trade training is particularly stressed amongst the younger inmates at the Guelph Reformatory. The man who attains proficiency in a trade has gained two assets; he will have something tangible to offer a prospective employer and he has a solid basis on which to develop self-respect. Trade training is one of the potentially valuable tools in the work of rehabilitation with the younger age group. Working under the guidance of skilled instructors, trade classes are established in brick-laying, carpentry, motor mechanics, painting and decorating, plumbing, sheet metal, and upholstery.

Industrial production employs many inmates and, to a considerable degree, reduces the public expenditure that the operation of this institution would demand. Value of products produced is of relatively minor importance. Of major significance is the fact that a man is trained and acclimatized to a modern work shop where he learns to use modern machines under commercial conditions. Thus time spent in the institution, instead of retarding a man's experiences and estranging him to normal working conditions can be used creatively to teach him to fit into industrial practices and methods. All production from the industries is absorbed by other Provincial departments and institutions. Diversified training is provided in the woollen mill, tailor shop, planing mill, machine shop, cannery and abattoir.

The farm covers approximately 1,000 acres and includes the dairy, piggery, horse barns and vegetable gardens. Inmates employed on the farm gain experience in all the operations involved in crop production. They learn the use and care of tractors and equipment, preparation of land, fertilization, sowing, cultivation, weed control, harvesting and storage. In the dairy barn they are instructed in the various phases of dairy farming including feeding, care and cleanliness, food mixing, hoof trimming, dehorning, clipping, and how to operate and maintain the milking machinery. With expert assistance from the Department of Agriculture and specifically the Ontario Agricultural College and the Ontario Veterinary College we have been able to keep pace and often lead the way in developing and maintaining modern scientific agricultural methods.

After the working day there are facilities for physical training and recreation. A full programme is operated by a team of qualified instructors. Calisthenics, athletics, and sports are regular activities for all physically fit men. A large library services the wide reading needs of the inmates. The standard of service is comparable to any normal town library, and the quantity of reading per person is most encouraging.

The full-time resident chaplain is supported in his work by a Salvation Army Brigadier, a Jesuit Father from Ignacius College, a local Anglican Rector, visiting clergyman from the Guelph Ministerial Association and a local Rabbi. All are involved in providing individual counselling and spiritual guidance.

A well equipped hospital is available for the treatment of inmates who require medical care. Two doctors and a staff of nurses provide health services for all but special cases, which may be transferred to local hospitals. A separate ward houses T.B. patients. Dental care is provided by a full-time dentist in a modern surgery.

Appropriate emphasis is placed on parole and rehabilitation services. The purpose of parole is to give a man the opportunity of re-establishing himself into the normal pattern of living in the community with the supervision and assistance of experienced advisers. Rehabilitation officers interview the man and his relatives and assess the suitability of his proposed residence, the environment, the effects of family relationships, the possibilities of employment and other relevant information pertaining to the particular individual. In the gathering of this information rehabilitation officers working throughout Ontario are helped in certain cases and areas by workers from the John Howard Society, the Salvation Army, the National Employment Services, Church associations and other interested organizations. This information is invaluable to the Ontario Board of Parole and, after parole is granted, it is made available to the supervising officer who visits the parolee regularly. Assistance will be given in every way possible; his problems will be discussed and worked out with him; it may be necessary to mediate with relations and friends; anything that can be done to ensure successful rehabilitation will be encouraged.

This assessment of Guelph clearly indicates that the whole of a man's stay in a reformatory, from the day that he first enters, is orientated to assist him in shouldering the responsibilities and sharing the privileges of a free man in a free society.

The Ontario Reformatory, Minnico accommodates short term repeaters over 20 years of age, many of whom are alcoholics. The institution, which occupies 200 acres of land, has a daily population of between 400 and 500, accommodated in 3 modern buildings each containing 4 dormitories with day rooms, showers, etc. The main industry is brick and tile making, in which inmates are employed and instructed in the various operations from the drilling, blasting and moulding of raw materials to the grinding, forming, drying, kiln burning and final sorting. Training in farm work is carried out on the institution farm which has a herd of pedigree Holsteins, as well as poultry and hogs. A modern machine shop provides training for the younger inmates and the skill acquired enables some to follow this type of work when released.

Security at all other Ontario adult institutions is kept to a minimum by the utilization of the maximum security institution at Millbrook for extreme behaviour problems, narcotic addicts and sex offenders.

Treatment Services are provided by a specialized clinical team of psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers who are constantly classifying and selecting inmates for treatment in the security setting or in one of our specialized centres. Research indicates that generally inmates, who have been incarcerated at Millbrook, subsequently spend much longer out of prison than they did before being committed to this institution. Industries include a tailor shop and a marker plant where all Ontario auto license plates are made. There is a braille printing shop where books for blind school children are printed; the only operation of this kind in North America. After evidence of an improved attitude, a desire to co-operate and a willingness to take advantage of the training opportunities available, inmates, classed as behaviour problems, are transferred to a less secure setting.

The Ontario Reformatory, Elliot Lake, was opened early in 1960 in quarters originally designed for miners. This use of existing property and facilities for men of the Guelph classification, whose homes are in Northern Ontario, is proving of assistance in maintaining or regaining an inmate's self-respect. Half a day is spent in the academic school and during the other half day the inmates are usefully engaged in conservation work similar to that being done in our forestry camps.

Of the five industrial farms maintained by the department Burwash, with 35,000 acres of land and accommodation for 700 prisoners in 3 camps, is the largest. As with all industrial farms the emphasis is placed on vocational training rather than on pure academic instruction. Lumbering is the chief industry and a saw mill has been in operation for many years. About 4,000 acres are under cultivation, a milk herd and a large herd of Herefords for beef are maintained. The vocational training school has two well equipped shops for machine shop practice and sheet metal work.

Burwash receives long term recidivists of 20 years of age and over. The industrial farms at Monteith, Rideau, Fort William and Burtch receive repeaters with definite sentences of up to one year directly from the jails in their respective areas. Besides instruction in farming varied industries throughout these institutions include tailor shops, picnic table manufacture, the canning of fruits and vegetables and land conservation projects.

For adult males there are training centres at Brampton for "students" with average or above average intellectual capacity and at Burch for the young inmates who are illiterate or near illiterate. Both centres are designed, staffed and equipped to offer students maximum opportunities in academic, vocational and recreational training. In co-operation with the Department of Education the academic school at Brampton offers courses and instruction from grades 5 to 13 and, where practical, course content is correlated with shop training. There are 11 trade training shops each with a qualified instructor. At O. T. C. Burch the "student" has the opportunity to improve his academic standing and receive semi-skilled trade training. In both institutions psychologists and social workers are available to provide psychological help with individual problems of adjustment. Both training centres are completely open institutions in that there are no cells or bars. Custody is maintained by psychological rather than physical methods and escapes are rare.

Minimum security forestry camps are located at Hillsdale, Hendrie and McCreight's Dam. These low-cost camps built by inmate labour provide a most meaningful programme of community work in the rural localities, which coupled with the open life, make them most effective rehabilitation centres for a particular type of inmate.

The Andrew Mercer Reformatory for women, situated in Toronto, accepts all women with a reformatory sentence. From this institution a selected number of inmates are transferred after psychological and aptitude testing, to the Ontario Women's Guidance Centre, Brampton, where training in academic and vocational pursuits is stressed to a small group of up to 24 inmates. The building here is of one storey construction and has a homelike atmosphere. There are no cells or bars on the windows of the individual bedrooms and day rooms, and the doors are locked only at night. For inmates remaining at the Mercer Reformatory, a school staffed by a group of three teachers offers instruction in shorthand, typing and elementary bookkeeping as well as pure academic subjects. Training in a modern, well equipped home economics unit is proving most helpful to many women after release. Vocational training is given in the sewing school, laundry, kitchen, dining room and the hair dressing shop.

The experiment in the milieu therapy unit for the treatment of addiction to narcotics has been continued during the past year. Carefully tabled research clearly indicates that an extension of the programme in a suitable separate clinical setting is warranted.

Three special treatment centres are maintained by the Department, the Alex G. Brown Memorial Clinic provides treatment for inmates with an alcoholic problem. The Drug Addiction Clinic also on the grounds of the Mimico Reformatory, has accommodation for 25 patients who are addicted to narcotics. Patients are accepted on a voluntary basis and the treatment period covers the last three months of a man's sentence.

The Neuropsychiatric Centre located at the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph, is used for the investigation and treatment of psychiatric and neurological patients as well as for research. Transfer to this centre is made on recommendation from other reformatories and institutions.

This variety of institutions enables the department to carry out an elaborate and effective classification and selection programme. We are able to transfer men with particular problems to the appropriate unit which has a specialized staff and programme geared to deal with this particular type of problem.

Treatment Services

During the year the training and treatment programme has been strengthened by a considerable increase in staff. The department now employs 107 nurses, doctors, social workers, psychologists, psychiatrists and occupational therapists.

Seven members of our treatment staff were given financial support to further their university studies and four others were sent on courses on alcoholism given in Canada and the United States. Our treatment personnel and facilities are now recognized to the extent that we provide field training at our treatment centres for students in occupational therapy and theology.

The department now has in its adult division three training centres for young offenders, a neuropsychiatric clinic for men, two clinics for male alcoholics and one for male narcotic addicts. Two EEG machines provide valuable diagnostic services where the need is indicated.

During the year monthly treatment and research meetings were held in 16 of our training centres, clinics and training schools. These meetings are designed to bring together key staff members so that ideas may be shared and progress evaluated. They have done much to improve communications and initiate a number of progressive ideas.

We are constantly reminded that more research should be done in the field of corrections of both a theoretical and operational type. During the past year 5 research projects were completed in the department and 14 more were in progress. This programme is directed by the department's Research Committee which meets regularly throughout the year and advises on matters pertaining to research.

One of the problems confronting correctional departments for some time has been how to provide able, experienced staff members with the kind of training that will enable them to study and appreciate the many facets in the treatment of the offender. A year ago three-year courses in corrections were set up at McMaster and Queen's Universities. It is now possible for any staff member while fully employed to obtain a University Certificate in Corrections with the added incentive of departmental support in most cases. These courses were so well received that 90 of our staff enrolled in them the first year.

Rehabilitation Services

Early in 1960, it was decided that in the interests of efficiency the after-care services of the department, juvenile and adult, should be amalgamated and that it would be necessary to establish some outside offices in areas which were not receiving adequate coverage at that time.

Effective April, 1961, all supervisory staff, parole and rehabilitation officers, and placement officers, were transferred from the staff of institutions and placed under the direction of the rehabilitation service in main office at Toronto. In June, 1961, satisfactory accommodation was located at 380 Ridout Street North, London, and renovations were completed by the end of October. The London office was occupied by an officer who was transferred to this area and 2 additional officers from the placement staffs of Cobourg and Bowmanville training schools. The full staff of the London office is now responsible for the supervision of both juvenile and adult cases from Middlesex County south to the Ontario border.

Two officers from the training school staff were transferred to Main Office at the end of December, 1961, to assist in supervision in the central area where there is a juvenile case load in the neighbourhood of 200.

By the end of the fiscal year an office was being set up in Ottawa at 137 Second Avenue and an officer had been transferred to the Ottawa region with plans for two additional officers to complete the staff in this area.

Planning for the first stage in the amalgamation of the juvenile and adult services, has resulted in an integration of both juvenile and adult case loads in the whole province with the exception of part of Northern Ontario, Hamilton, and the Niagara Peninsula.

The Province has been divided into 4 areas, western, central, eastern and northern; supervising rehabilitation officers are being appointed in these areas as the plan progresses. They will be responsible to the assistant directors for supervision of case loads in their respective areas.

Plans have been finalized to appoint four new officers who will be located in Elliot Lake, Guelph, Burtch and Toronto. This should allow more intensive coverage of juvenile and adult case loads in the areas effected.

Extensive planning has been carried on for the implementation of Stage 2 in the amalgamation of the two services. Consideration is being given to locating an office in the City of Hamilton to facilitate coverage of the Hamilton and Niagara Peninsula area.

Industries

During the year we embarked on an extensive programme of modernization of industrial equipment and methods of production. A careful analysis of the programme clearly indicated that old machines which were unreliable, old methods not in keeping with modern practice produced a needless waste of money and a feeling of apathy and cynicism in the inmate which materially affected efforts of rehabilitation. Modernization of the plant and programme enabled production in all areas to increase, and, consequently, to fulfill a higher percentage of the demand made by other government departments for our products. In the five years since 1957, production of license plates has increased from 1,700,000 pairs to approximately 2,500,000 pairs.

The tremendous increase in production in our canneries is the direct result of the effective modernization of machinery and methods. Modern equipment such as power operated elevators and conveyors has eliminated a great deal of tedious labour and enables us to produce a high quality and uniform product. In 5 years the cannery production of fruits and vegetables has increased from 270,000 tins to 500,000 — 105 oz. tins. In the same period jams, jellies and marmalades have increased from 475,000 lbs. to 540,000 lbs.

We have instituted the unit system of manufacture in all of our tailor shops and are proceeding with the standardization of patterns and procedures in an effort to produce a more uniform and higher quality product in accordance with accepted modern manufacturing practice.

Farming

Satisfactory progress was made during the year both in increasing the production of food stuffs and in the modernization of equipment and buildings.

Increased efficiency in milk production, with a two per cent increase in inventory, resulted in producing a 7 per cent increase in milk. The total value of milk sold to government institutions was almost 150,000 dollars. The emphasis placed on the beef cattle programme at Burwash enabled us to show an appreciable gain in production. For the first time in several years the potato harvest was sufficiently large to meet the requirements of all major institutions in the department. Over-all value of farm production was more than 5 per cent greater than in the previous fiscal year. Inmate labour was used extensively to build new farm buildings during the year and to convert others to more efficient use.

A new beef cattle barn was designed and constructed to present day standards at the Burtch Industrial Farm. Other buildings include a calf barn at Guelph, piggeries at Monteith and Fort William, and a slaughter house at Fort William.

The gradual reduction in the use of horses and replacement with power and up-to-date equipment was deemed to be necessary not solely from the important point of view of greater efficiency but also for its training and rehabilitative value.

During the year the inventory of livestock decreased slightly but the quality continued to improve in a most satisfactory manner. The index of milk production for all herds increased from 115% of breed class average in 1960 to 122% in 1961. It is worthy of note that O.R.G. Jenny Rag Apple Pabst of the Guelph herd added to her laurels by becoming Canadian Champion for both milk and butter fat produced in 305 days. She has now firmly established her reputation as the greatest production cow ever bred in Canada.

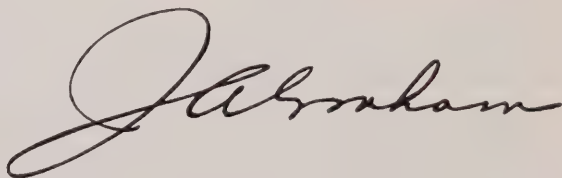

Conclusion

Finally we should emphasize a change made in our statistical section. In previous years the use of suspended sentence and probation was not as widespread as it is today, and in the past we could be reasonably certain that second and third offenders had previously been incarcerated in our reformatories. Now, as will be seen from the statistics, a high percentage of men with a number of previous convictions are coming under our jurisdiction for the first time.

Previously, reported figures tended to give the impression that a very high percentage of men in our institutions were there for the second, third and fourth time, with the department's policy of rehabilitation having little effect. The inclusion of the extra statistics shows that this is far from true. Although less than 10% are shown as first offenders it is important to note that less than 60% have previously been to a reformatory. Another important fact emphasized in these statistics is that the number of times men are convicted before being sentenced to a reformatory is becoming higher. In many cases men coming to us for the first time have already rejected other opportunities for rehabilitation and as a result of established attitudes and patterns of behaviour our task has become more difficult than ever.

The challenge of these ever-increasing problems has simply spurred us on to greater effort and achievement. A loyal and devoted staff has readily accepted modern scientific rehabilitation techniques and the added responsibilities have been met by the various after-care agencies, church groups, government departments, service clubs, prospective employers and private citizens who continued to devote their efforts and skills unstintingly in the service of their fellow man.

Yours sincerely,

J. A. GRAHAM,
Deputy Minister.

ANNUAL REPORT

THE ONTARIO BOARD OF PAROLE

For the year ending March 31st, 1962

This is the second complete year of operation for the present Ontario Board of Parole. There has been no change in the composition of the Board since the last Annual Report and it remains as follows:

Mr. D. C. Mason	Chairman
Mr. J. S. Morrison, B.A., M.ED.	Full-time Member
Rev. D. M. Kerr	Full-time Member
Mrs. Gladys Coulter	Part-time Member
Mrs. J. Isobel Ross	Part-time Member

A total of 97 meetings were held at the various Institutions throughout the Province in order to provide an opportunity for all prisoners eligible for parole consideration to appear before the Board for personal interviews. In addition 47 meetings were held at the Main Office in Toronto to deal with special cases and to consider applications submitted requesting a review of cases previously dealt with by the Board.

The Parole Act gives authority to the Board to grant or refuse parole to prisoners serving indeterminate sentences, confined in institutions in Ontario. Each prisoner with an indeterminate sentence automatically appears before the Board and is not required to make a formal application for parole.

The dual purpose of parole is the protection of society and the rehabilitation of the offender. In order to accomplish this purpose, careful selection must be made of those prisoners who have given indication of a change in attitude and a sincere desire to reform. Each prisoner, when granted parole, is released under the supervision of a trained Rehabilitation Officer whose role is to assist the parolee during the balance of the sentence served in the community. Should the prisoner fail to live up to the conditions of parole, he or she may be returned to the institution, on the authority of the Board, to serve the balance of the original sentence. Hence, due consideration is given to the protection of society through careful supervision, and the rehabilitation of the offender by counselling, guidance, and advice of a trained rehabilitation staff.

In selection for parole, the Board must be convinced that the prisoner is sufficiently motivated to have a reasonable chance of becoming a law-abiding citizen and that he or she will not revert to the former pattern of behaviour. There are many factors which must be considered such as; circumstances surrounding the offence, previous criminal activity, personal history, psychological and/or psychiatric reports, presentence report from probation staff, community assessment, previous employment record, and proposed parole plan.

The above information is thoroughly reviewed by the Board prior to proceeding to the institution for the personal interview with the prisoner. This interview affords the Board with the opportunity to ask questions relating to the case, and at the same time the prisoner is encouraged to state his feelings as to the offence, his stay in the institution, and his future plans. When parole is granted the rehabilitation staff is responsible for offering guidance in completing the parole plan and for supervision during the parole period.

During this fiscal year the Department has initiated the amalgamation of all supervisory staff, juvenile and adult. In addition, plans have been finalized for outside offices to be located throughout the Province in order that a more effective service may be given to those juvenile and adult cases released under supervision. The majority of discharged prisoners require assistance regardless of whether or not they are released on parole or expiration of sentence. Present plans for amalgamation and extension of services will undoubtedly result in reducing recidivism.

Parole is only as effective as the degree of supervision exercised. The Supervisor's role is a two-sided endeavour, surveillance and guidance. Close watchful scrutiny is necessary, but of equal or greater importance is the extension of the treatment programme carried out in the institution plus necessary assistance to meet everyday problems and emergencies. Parolees must be encouraged to think of themselves as potentially wholesome, law-abiding citizens, and determined to conform to the requirements of social living in the community.

The Board is indebted to the Staff at Main Office, the Parole and Rehabilitation Officers, the officials and staff at the Institutions, the Magistrates, Probation Staff, and Police Forces, for their continued co-operation and assistance. Appreciation is also extended to the many Public and Private Agencies and Community Services who have co-operated with our service in assisting men and women released from our institutions to rehabilitate themselves successfully.

D. C. MASON,
Chairman.

THE SALVATION ARMY

REPORT OF POLICE COURT, PRISON, JAIL AND AFTER-CARE WORK IN THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

For the Year Ending Dec. 31, 1961

Another year of earnest endeavour has ended and I would acknowledge with grateful thanks an increase of $5,000. from the Department of Reform Institutions to help us in our work. A grant from the City of London of over $1,500. was also appreciated.

The financial statement attached to this report shows that there was a deficit of $81,830.50 made up from Salvation Army funds. Direct assistance to prisoners and dependents amounted to over $29,000.

One of the outstanding activities of this year has been increased attendance at the religious services, and this may be related to better chapel facilities in several of the correctional institutions in this Province. The very fine chapel at Millbrook, better furnishings and accommodation at the Don Jail, Toronto, and Carleton County Jail, Ottawa should be mentioned. A fire at the Dominion United Church, Ottawa, meant that some pews that were salvaged were set up in the Ottawa Jail and greatly improved the appearance and seating comfort there.

More recently I note that preparations for a new chapel at Burwash are well under way, with offices for the three chaplains in the plans, we are assured of improved facilities. Salvation Army chaplains at the Don and at the Ontario Reformatory, Mimico, find office space provided for them aids them in interviewing the inmates tremendously. The new Cathedral at Coventry, England, dedicated during this year has been called "a workshop for God". As I visit correctional institutions in Ontario I am glad to note every effort that is made to set a room aside even that might be so designated, and in the larger institutions especially, I rejoice over the chapels already built or being planned.

I note that this year over seventy-four thousand attendances at our meetings must indicate a better percentage of those in custody are taking an interest in spiritual things. "Man shall not live by bread alone" is a word from both Old and New Testaments we do well to remember and bring to the attention of all.

Salvation Army Officers in this Province welcome our new Minister of Reform Institutions and pledge our loyalty and support.

TO THE HONOURABLE, THE MINISTER,
Department of Reform Institutions.

SIR:

Herewith for your consideration are the reports of the following for the year which ended March 31st, 1962:

The Training Schools Advisory Board.

Training Schools Statistics.

The Training Schools are specially designed and equipped for the care, treatment and social re-education of children who have found themselves in conflict with the socially accepted practices of their community.

There are two kinds of Training Schools in Ontario: The Ontario Training Schools established and operated by the Province and the Private Training Schools established, owned and operated by Roman Catholic organizations.

The Ontario Training Schools are:

Ontario Training School for Boys — Bowmanville

Ontario Training School for Boys — Cobourg

Ontario Training School for Boys — Guelph

Reception & Diagnostic Centre for Girls — Galt

Ontario Training School for Girls — Port Bolster
(known as "Trelawney House")

Presently under construction are:

Ontario Training School for Boys — Simcoe

Ontario Training School for Girls — Lindsay.

The opening of these two schools will enable us to provide an effective classification system which is most essential in a sound treatment and training programme. It will then be possible to intensify the classification of juveniles and thereby provide more adequate facilities to meet the needs of each individual child.

The Province provides all the capital costs of these schools. It pays the maintenance expenses except that the Municipality of which the child is a legal resident contributes to his or her maintenance at the rate of 90c per diem.

The Private Training Schools are:

St. Mary's Training School for Girls — Toronto

St. John's Training School for Boys — Uxbridge

St. Joseph's Training School for Boys — Alfred.

Additions were made to St. Mary's and St. Joseph's schools this year and, in addition to the normal maintenance grants given to these schools, the Province contributed substantially to the capital costs of construction.

While there is a difference in ownership of these two distinct types of Training Schools there is no difference in the conditions of commitment or admission, placement or termination of wardship. All schools are adequately equipped to provide an enriched programme of treatment and training to meet the needs of the children committed to them. This diversified programme consists of academic and vocational training, clinical treatment, religious guidance, physical training and recreation.

The Training Schools Advisory Board consists of five members, three of whom are private citizens. The Board meets weekly to study the reports and recommendations of the Superintendents on the progress of the children in the schools. We do appreciate the conscientious manner in which the distinguished members of this Board have continued to discharge their duties.

The Superintendents and staff of the schools are to be commended for the efficient and capable manner in which they have carried out their duties during the year. Appreciation is also expressed to the many citizens and organizations who have given so freely of their time and effort in assisting the Department in our social adjustment programme.

Yours sincerely,

Deputy Minister

THE TRAINING SCHOOLS ADVISORY BOARD

ANNUAL REPORT

TO THE HONOURABLE W. IRWIN HASKETT,

Minister of Reform Institutions.

SIR:—

We have pleasure in submitting our Annual Report for the year ended March 31st, 1962.

Your Board has met weekly throughout the year to transact its business and to forward its recommendations to you. Members of the Board have also, individually or collectively, visited the training schools to ascertain the climate and programme.

The volume of the business done by the Board continues to increase year by year. This is to be expected when one takes into consideration the steady rise in the number of students entering the schools. This and other factors are referred to later in our report.

The circumstances of each case submitted for our consideration have been carefully noted. No two cases are alike in every respect and all have been treated on individual merit before a recommendation has been made to you.

Lack of parental control and poor example; homes broken by continual strife, resulting in the rejection of their offspring by one or both of the parents; the unwillingness of so many parents to forego their "good time" when their children crave for their companionship; these are among the main factors contributing to juvenile delinquency. In this connection it is worthy of note that many of the worst examples of parental negligence are to be found in homes where the physical and material standards are far above what is sometimes called the poverty line. Of course, the causes of juvenile delinquency have their wider implications involving all of us. This has been well stated as follows:

"Delinquency grows out of problems within communities, within families and within young persons themselves".

"The attitude of the community towards its children and youth, the way it feels about them will be reflected in the behaviour of young people".

"Delinquency truly is everybody's business and each of us has a responsibility by the example we set".

*Pamphlet on Juvenile Delinquency issued by the Committee on Prevention and Treatment of Juvenile Delinquency — American Correctional Association (1962).

THE GENERAL BUSINESS OF THE BOARD

The following statistical table gives details of the nature of the work done by the Board. As is customary, we would wish to point out that the file of each case brought before the Board has been studied by the Chairman and Secretary prior to each meeting when a summary of the relevant details is presented to each member.

N.B. The reason why the figures in this table may sometimes be found to differ from those submitted by the Schools, is because the School figures refer to individual cases, whereas in this table, if action is taken by the Board concerning an individual case more than once during the period covered, it is shown more than once.

In our last report we expressed the opinion that in some areas "the time is ripe for a forward movement in developing the facilities and programmes of the training schools". The Board is glad to note progress by the Department in this direction — a progress that has been limited only by circumstances outside its control.

NUMBERS ON THE SCHOOL ROLL

The number of students and wards on placement enrolled on March 31st, 1962, shows a substantial increase and is as follows:

	Ontario Training School for Boys, Bowmanville	Ontario Training School for Boys, Cobourg	Ontario Training School for Boys, Guelph	Ontario Reception and Diagnostic Centre, for Girls, Galt		Ontario Training School for Girls, Galt	Ontario Training School for Girls, Port Bolster	St. Mary's Training School for Girls, Toronto	St. John's Training School for Boys, Uxbridge	St. Joseph's Training School for Boys, Alfred	Totals

IN RESIDENCE

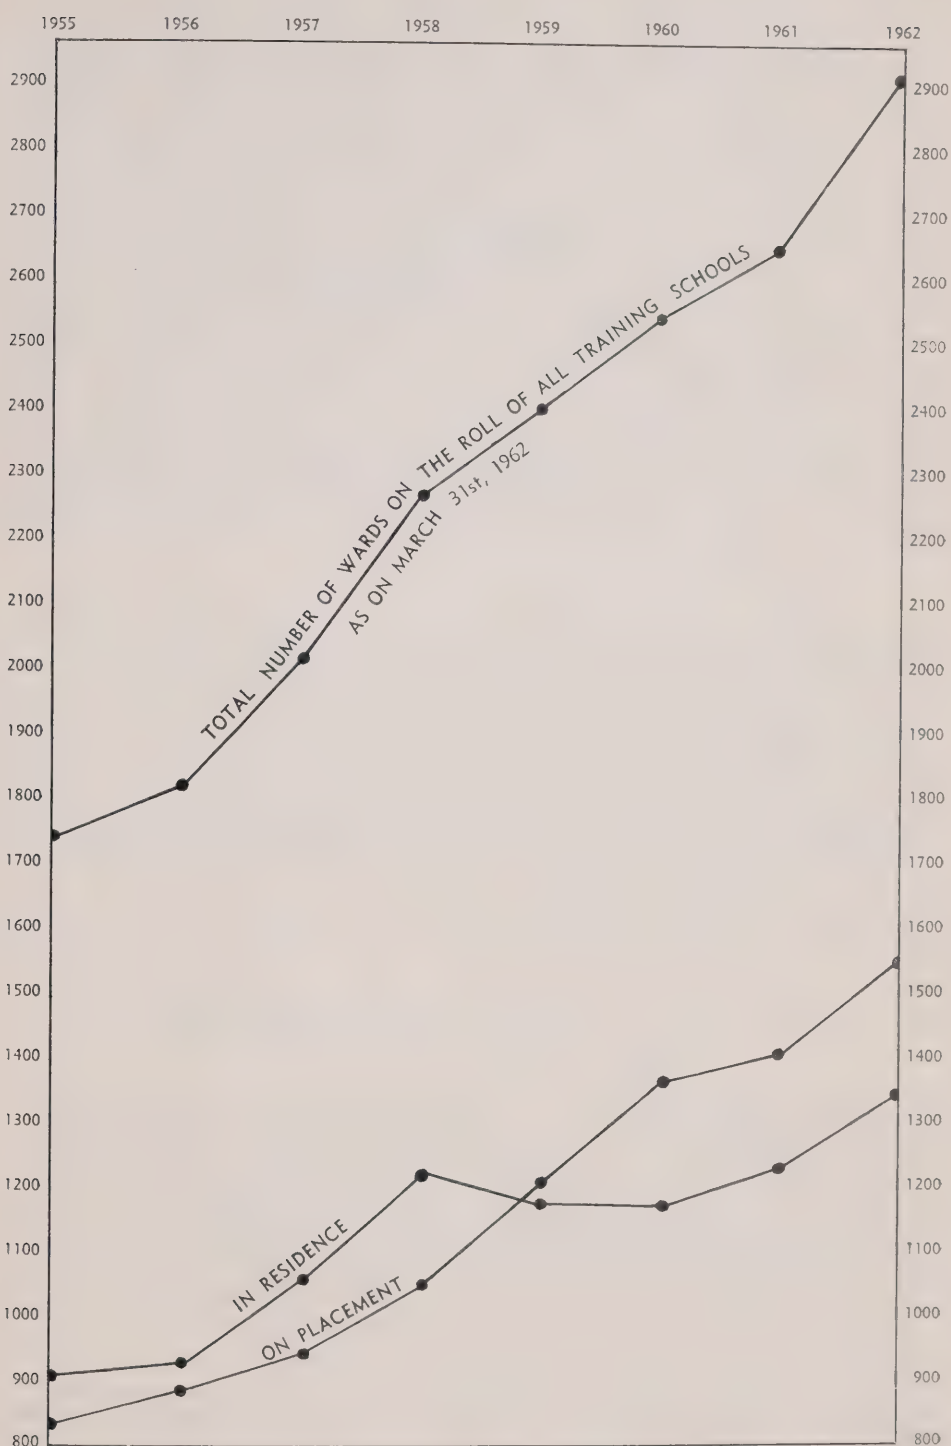

Our forecast that the number of new students for the year 1961-62 would exceed the 1,000 mark for the first time, proved to be correct. We find no satisfaction in stating that the upward trend has continued into the new fiscal year (1962-63).

The following table shows that the number of those receptions have doubled during the last eight years.

1955	494	32	526
1956	567	43	610
1957	757	41	798
1958	838	47	885
1959	790	48	838
1960	820	59	879
1961	897	71	968
1962	1,019	49	1,068

This is a factor outside the control of the Department, which is under an obligation to receive and to provide. Very seldom does one of our Juvenile Court Judges send a boy or girl to a training school from first appearance. The normal practice is to explore every other avenue and to use the training school facilities as a last resort. Indeed, this procedure has often led the Board to wonder if the best interests of some of the children would not have been served by an earlier committal. Be that as it may, the fact remains that the accommodation in the training schools has been inadequate for some years, and in order to cope with this situation, many of the students have had to be placed back into the community after too short a period of training. This position could very well prove costly in the years ahead.

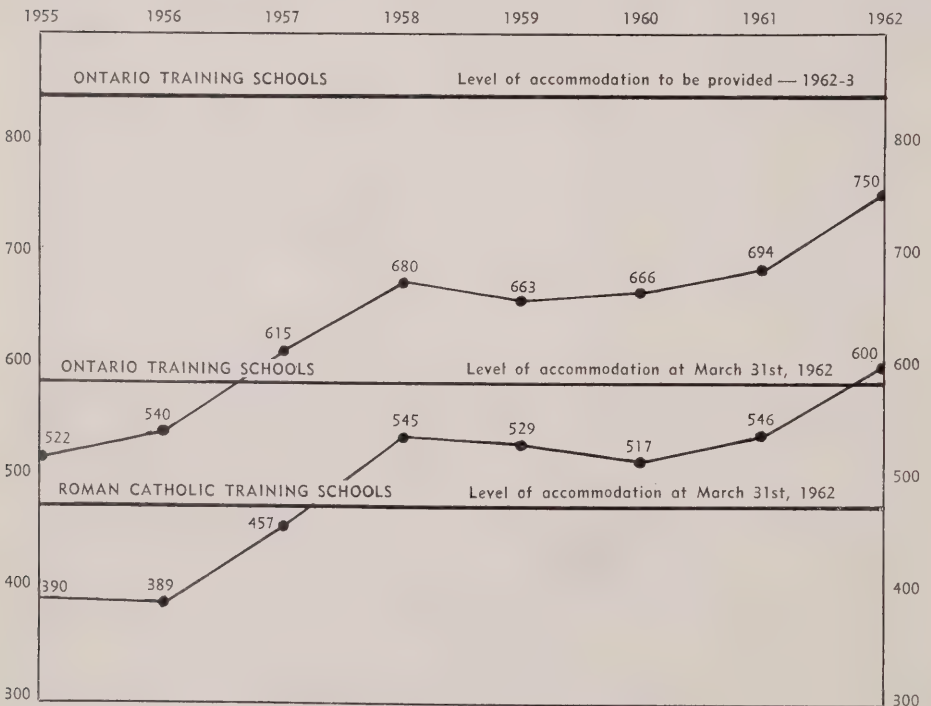

Training Schools cannot be built overnight. Unforeseen delays have a habit of cropping up in every building project.

II

III

In order to cope with the anticipated upward trend, the Department planned for two new schools more than three years ago, — one at Lindsay for girls, and another at Simcoe for boys. These two schools are only now nearing completion. They will certainly relieve some of the pressure in Ontario Training Schools, but when working at full capacity, the problems associated with an ever rising intake are likely to continue to restrict in some degree the implementation of a full training programme.

With the reasonable certainty that the population of Ontario will increase year by year, your Board considers that it would be sagacious to plan now for possible training school requirements five years hence. In this connection, your Board feels that some consideration might well be given to the desirability of providing, at some central location, a Reception, Diagnostic, Classification Centre, through which all juveniles who are sent by the courts, or admitted by you under Section 10 of the Training Schools Act, should be channelled for diagnostic report. It is suggested that such a centre is in keeping with modern thought and practice and would prove to be of the utmost value to those in charge of the training schools to which these wards would be transferred subsequently for training. A centre for this special purpose need not be an elaborate and expensive block of buildings. The important thing is for it to be central and of easy access for good clinical assistance.

The preceding graphs show what the over-all picture was on March 31st, 1962, and what has been and is being done to meet the present situation.

ON PLACEMENT

When it is considered that a ward has responded to the training programme, plans are set for his or her return to the community, and a recommendation to this effect is made by the Superintendent of the School. Before advising you to approve such a course, your Board requires to be satisfied that the conditions are satisfactory in the home to which it is proposed to send the ward. This may be the ward's own home or a selected foster home. In every case your Board requires that applications for placement be accompanied by an up-to-date home inspection report. To a degree, many placements entail a risk, but students have to be returned to the community at some time and the Board considers it a duty to see that reasonable care is taken.

On March 31st, 1962, the Training Schools had 1,556 wards under supervision on placement. Of this number 1,373 were placed during the year under review, as follows:

819 To own homes

351 To foster homes or boarding

203 To living in employment situations, such as farms and domestic service, etc.

The problem of giving adequate supervision to wards on placement is complex. No system, however well organized, could be expected to maintain anything like a day to day contact. Indeed, to attempt such a policy would most likely defeat the purpose of the training given. These boys and girls have to learn at some time to stand on their own feet. Some need more care than others, but the essential thing is for them to realize that for a period, determined largely by their own progress, they are answerable to a friendly supervisor, who is not too distant from them and to whom they may go for advice at any time.

The policy of the Department in reorganizing its rehabilitation services by the establishment of regional offices is bearing fruit and we believe will continue to do so as it develops and overcomes the usual teething difficulties experienced by all such major changes.

RETURN OF WARDS FROM PLACEMENT

By the very nature of the work and the problems involved, it would be unrealistic to expect that all who pass through our training schools are at one and the same time successfully rehabilitated. With some, the prognosis has a question mark throughout. Unfortunately, it is the failures that make headline news. Nevertheless, it is by its successful endeavours that the good name of a training school is built up and maintained. In this respect, Ontario may take pride in the fact that its training schools are well thought of throughout Canada and beyond.

At its weekly meeting, the Board reviews the case of every boy or girl returned from placement. The following particulars show the reasons why these have been brought back to their training school during the year under review and names the year in which the placements were made.

TERMINATION OF WARDSHIP

For the information of those who may read this report and are not aware of the normal procedure relating to the termination, it will be well to restate that every boy or girl committed or admitted to a training school automatically becomes a ward of that school, or the training school to which he or she may be subsequently transferred, until reaching the age of 18 years, unless you, as Minister, exercise your prerogative to terminate wardship at an earlier date, under the provisions of the Training Schools Act, Section 21.

Before offering advice to you on this matter, your Board requires the training school to show that a good adjustment has been made.

We give the following details showing the number of wardships terminated by you during the year under review:

Number of individual cases considered	852
Less: Terminated by death	1
Terminated by Court of Appeal or age on conviction	1

Your Board is not in a position to supply statistics concerning the progress of wards after termination, but the following summary indicates the Board's assessment of the success or failure of the training given up to the date when termination of wardship became effective.

THE ADVISORY BOARD AND THE TRAINING SCHOOLS

The satisfactory relationship which your Board has had with the training schools over many years has been maintained and strengthened by personal contact, and daily correspondence concerning matters coming within the purview of the Board.

The superintendents have sent us notes concerning some of their special activities during the year from which the following have been extracted:

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, BOWMANVILLE

"Another year of satisfactory progress has been completed at Bowmanville. This year our population reached the highest peak in our history, having at one point topped the three hundred mark. Despite the stress and strain of this population, we managed to expand our programme and endeavoured to keep all our wards busy and happy".

"Our academic and vocational programme was the cornerstone of our curriculum. With a further expansion of our academic courses, full time schooling was given from grade seven to grade ten, also, part time classes covering grades six and seven and two ungraded classes. The vocational programme received a boost when our rebuilt and newly equipped Machine Shop was reopened and along with our plans for a new Woodworking, Sheet Metal and Paint Shop being realized in the near future, our vocational training programme is taking on additional significance. Our Auto Mechanics Shop also underwent considerable renovation and with the purchase of new equipment and tools, including a new hydraulic hoist, is now able to offer much more interest to the students in this vocation".

Some Highlights of the Year

"The School Cadet Corps received high praise for their excellent showing at the annual inspection and for their outstanding effort during their two weeks camping period at Camp Borden — eighty boys participated".

"The Cadet and School Bugle Band filled many engagements at various events in the area and received well deserved credit for their excellent playing and marching".

"Numerous boys found employment by the day in the local district earning for themselves and serving the community".

"Rotarians again played hosts to those boys remaining in the School over the Christmas holidays — receiving gifts of wrist watches, sports equipment and books. Boys and visitors were served a delicious turkey dinner by the staff".

"Over one hundred and eighty boys enjoyed seven to ten days Christmas holidays at home, being placed on their honour to travel to all parts of the Province and return on time as scheduled. An achievement of trust well worth considering".

"Our well planned seasonal recreation programme which gives all boys a chance to play and compete at their own level again contributed to the development of our students. Softball, baseball, volleyball, horseshoes, borden ball, lacrosse, basketball, floor hockey, ice hockey, soccer, swimming, track and field and leaders' corps are the types of activity which are offered".

"It has been a busy year. However, thanks to the loyal and efficient staff and the support of the community, we feel, a most successful one".

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, COBOURG

"You are aware that our school population has climbed steadily during the year, and a record daily attendance has been reached".

"During the past year we were encouraged by the fact that construction has been started on a new academic building which will greatly relieve our situation, in that this will provide us with five new classrooms, a manual training room and a large auditorium. We will, on completion, have twelve classrooms all centrally located which will greatly facilitate supervision".

"Our programme staff has been very active and, as a result, our sports programme has played a major part in the development of our boys. Three teams competed in the local Church Hockey League and, while none of these was successful in making play-off berths, they did represent the School well and displayed good sportsmanship throughout the schedule. Some of our boys did stand out in these leagues. One was selected to play for the Pee Wee All Stars and was nominated the Most Valuable Player for which he received the Robin Hood Award and also the Best Defenceman Award went to him. Two other boys were selected for the Pee Wee All Star team, one of whom also gained selection for the Midget All Stars, and was voted as the Most Valuable Player on his team and was rewarded accordingly".

"Our choir once again acquitted themselves well when they were awarded second place in the boys' chorus in the Northumberland County Music Festival. Six of our soloists also competed and one of our boys won first place and the Gold Medal in his classification. The same boy also took fourth place in the County Finals in the Public Speaking Contest for which he received the Nelson Trophy. During the year our choir also entertained at the local band shell at Victoria Park in conjunction with the Thursday evening band concert and sang in one of our local Churches".

"Our Scouts and Cubs were very active throughout the year and last summer 28 of our Scouts journeyed to Haliburton for a ten day camping expedition and 26 of our Cubs had a similar trip to their Shelter Valley Camp".

"Approximately 130 of our boys journeyed to their homes for Christmas leave. The boys remaining at the School were well looked after. A bus load of Rotarians from the Toronto Rotary Club came to the School where they entertained the boys for an evening and they presented each boy with very fine gifts".

"I do feel that we had another excellent year and that boys have been helped along the way toward a successful return to society and at this time I would like to pay tribute to an excellent staff who have been fully co-operative and have expended much more in the way of time and energy than has been required of them".

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, GUELPH

"Last fall, Mr. Horne, our librarian, took three boys each Friday evening to the library in Guelph for a couple of hours of browsing. Boys chosen for this privilege were lads whom we felt might benefit from a class of reading material which is not provided in our school library".

"During the winter, speakers were brought in on Sunday evenings twice a month to give the boys a talk on topics of current interest. These men were highly regarded in their chosen fields and the sessions turned out to be both entertaining and beneficial".

"We staged our first dance last fall. Arrangements were made through Mr. Sibbald, our psychologist, to entertain 25-30 girls from Waterloo College. These girls, all in their late teens or early twenties, are members of the Psychology Club at Waterloo. Transportation by bus was arranged through the courtesy of the Kitchener-Waterloo Lions Club, of which Mr. Stewart Oakes, our School Inspector, is a member. Music for dancing was supplied by a disc jockey from the Kitchener Radio Station who brought recording machine and records; he also donated records for lucky prize dances. There was a minimum of supervision with Mr. Sibbald and two adults from the College present. Mrs. Williams and I were present for the kicking-off ceremonies and joined the group later in the evening for the serving of refreshments. It was a gala affair and we were very proud of the boys. The girls were loud in their praise of the gentlemanly manner in which the boys played the role of hosts and expressed their willingness to return again at some future date".

"During the year, presentations were made to the local Boy Scout Organization of twelve tables for their new dining hall at Camp Barber. These items were made by the boys under Mr. Horsfield's supervision in the carpentry shop. We also receive a steady stream of requests for woodworking projects from the Ontario Agricultural College which include the manufacture of tables, cupboards, clothes racks and re-finishing odd pieces of furniture".

"We have entertained between twenty and thirty local organizations on tours of the School during the winter season and, in each instance, at the conclusion of the tour we had an informal get together with the group to enlighten them on various aspects of our programme. Such groups include Scout Mothers, Home and School, Young Married Couples and others".

"Our Christmas and Easter Concerts were once again highlights of our school year and the latter might easily have made the O'Keefe Centre with better promotion. At the moment, we are preparing for our Annual Track and Field Meet for which the local Kiwanis Club donates trophies and other prizes. They also entertain about four of the winners at one of their luncheon meetings".

ONTARIO RECEPTION AND DIAGNOSTIC CENTRE, GALT

As indicated in our last report, this Centre provides a two-fold service. Firstly, it is Reception Centre for all girls of the Protestant faith. Secondly, part of the building is set aside as a Treatment Centre in which very disturbed girls are given psychiatric treatment and care.

The stay of girls in the Reception Centre is just long enough for them to be examined and assessed by the clinical staff, after which the School to which they will be sent for training is determined.

Some girls, found to be in need of special treatment, remain in the Treatment Wing of the Diagnostic Centre, which also receives some girls from both Protestant and Catholic Training Schools, who subsequently are found to require psychiatric assistance.

All girls under this special treatment attend academic and commercial classes. The Superintendent reports:

- “(a) Girls from the Treatment Centre have been placed in local employment, departing and returning to the Centre daily without supervision, thus proving that treatment is meeting a measure of success.
- (b) The Diagnostic Staff has been increased, thus the research programme has been more intensified.
- (c) The construction of the Chapel will be completed shortly, which should strengthen the religious and guidance service.
- (d) Our annual “Valentine Tea” is now well established giving the visiting parents, Public and Agency Officials every possible opportunity to inspect the Centre. Attendance is increasing and the comments are favourable”.

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, GALT

The Superintendent reports concerning the programme of his School:

“Well qualified teachers and instructors were in charge of our classes and there were few changes in our supervisory staff. Interested people in the community volunteered their services to carry on such extra-curricular activities as the St. John's Ambulance First Aid and Home Nursing Courses, the Canadian Girls in Training programme, the Y.M.C.A. Life Saving Courses, and other activities”.

“Since we have acquired a full time music teacher, music is taught in all the classes as a regular part of the curriculum and this has been of considerable assistance in the work of the volunteer choir. Almost a third of the girls in the School belong to the choir and they meet at least one evening a week to prepare music for the Sunday Chapel services and for the special events that the choir presents. Last year the choir again presented a Candlelight Service which took the form of a sacred cantata. In June an operetta entitled “The White Gypsy” was presented. The large number of people who attended these events made it difficult for us to accommodate them comfortably and we were forced to make a decision that in future such events will be presented two nights instead of just one. In addition, the choir sang at several churches in the district and presented a concert at the Eventide Home in Galt”.

“Under the sponsorship of the Galt University Women's Club and the Training School, the annual public speaking contest was held in the winter. The quality of these entries was higher than it has been in recent years and every girl, whether she was a winner or not, undoubtedly gained a great deal from the experience of preparing and delivering a speech on a subject of her own choice”.

“Last year the School took part in the Travel and Educational Awards sponsored by Brooke Bond Canada Limited. Competitions were held in the School in art, essays, and handwriting, and valuable books were awarded as prizes to the four fortunate girls in the School who came first in each category”.

“The annual edition of the School magazine, Echoing Halls, was once more produced and it represented a collection of original essays and drawings by the pupils and a full account in their words of special events that took place during the year. Echoing Halls is useful in informing people outside the School what we are trying to do. Last year we received letters from New Zealand and Australia, the United Kingdom, the United States, and many parts of Canada, telling us that they had enjoyed reading our magazine and sending us their good wishes”.

“Every pupil in the School takes one half day a week in sewing instruction. About half the girls have the opportunity of displaying to the public some of the clothing that they have made in our annual fashion show. Last year's fashion show was well attended and we feel that the quality of the work presented was good”.

"There were between fifty and sixty girls in the School over the Christmas holidays and once again Christmas was made very enjoyable for these girls by the generosity of F. W. Woolworth Company who presented each girl with several beautiful presents. By New Year's Eve all the girls had returned from their Christmas holiday and Hogmanay was celebrated by our annual banquet. Scottish songs and dances were performed for the enjoyment of the girls and the special speaker last year was the Rev. A. E. Young of Wesley United Church, Galt".

"The girls again undertook to support by their own efforts their little Greek foster sister, Maria, under Foster Parents' Plan. This is the third year that they have supported Maria and they are more enthusiastic than ever about this project. Maria writes monthly letters to the girls and these are answered by each of the classes in turn. We feel that this is a valuable instrument in rehabilitation and we are looking for other similar projects that can be undertaken".

"A highlight in the history of the School occurred on May 11, 1961, when the School entertained about eighty delegates from the Training Schools Conference who were meeting in connection with the Canadian Congress of Corrections in Toronto. A beautiful buffet lunch was served by the kitchen staff and some girls and the delegates were shown through the School. A copy of Echoing Halls was presented to each member of this Conference".

"Arbour Day was held in April and the girls planted twenty-eight hundred trees in a patch of bare land at the north-east corner of the property. The trees were supplied by the Department of Lands and Forests and newspaper and television photographers were on hand to record the event".

"Finally, we must acknowledge that many individuals and organizations, too numerous to mention separately, either came to the School to entertain the girls in concerts and dances or sent tickets to the School so that many students could travel away from the campus to enjoy theatre productions and concerts in the communities around Galt".

ONTARIO TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, TRELAWNEY HOUSE, PORT BOLSTER

This School provides a home atmosphere for a small group of girls in dire need of affection and care. Located near the shore of Lake Simcoe, it has a setting that is ideal for this special type of School.

Trelawney House is now firmly rooted as part of the local community, whose interest throughout has been maintained to an extraordinary degree. As Mrs. Cameron McKenzie has said: "We feel "Trelawney" belongs to us and that is why so many of our local people are willing to help in this very worthy enterprise".

"Trelawney" is likewise receiving public interest from wider areas and among those who have paid a visit are members of the Ontario County Council, the Elizabeth Fry Society and university students.

Most of the girls from this School are transferred to foster homes at the end of their training. The fact that nearly every girl keeps in touch after placement is good proof of the affection they have for "Trelawney".

The Superintendent desires to express her thanks to all foster parents, service clubs, and a host of friends who have helped to make the work worth while.

ST. MARY'S TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, TORONTO

The Mother Superior reports:

"The feature of the year was the opening of the new wing, which is serving its purpose so well".

Its functional value may be more fully appreciated by the following descriptive notes supplied by the architects:

"The new addition to St. Mary's Training School on Lawrence Avenue at Dufferin Street represents a great step forward in the work of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd".

"In planning the new building the Sisters wanted to take advantage of all the latest teaching methods and techniques. To this end, great thought was expended in the initial phase of the design. The resulting building is a direct consequence of a new method of teaching. This system calls for "living units" consisting of dormitory, kitchen, living and dining rooms, and washroom groups for fifteen girls".

"All activities, including recreation and studies, are carried out in these groups. The building contains four such units whose kitchens are serviced by tunnel and elevator from the main kitchen in the old building. Food is prepared there and sent on special cars which keep everything hot or cold until served by the girls in their own kitchen".

"The building also includes several completely equipped reception rooms where new girls are introduced to the life of the School before integration into one of the groups. There are also three parlours where parents and relatives may visit the girls".

"There is a large gymnasium laid out for basketball, volleyball and badminton, with a completely equipped stage, including professional lighting and sound systems".

"It is interesting to note the part which colour has played in this building. Colours of walls, floors, drapes and furniture have been carefully selected for their therapeutic value. Each living unit and other main rooms in the building have a different colour scheme determined by the function and exposure of the room".

"The main lobby features a mural in Smalti Mosaic which graphically illustrates the work of the Sisters. The main figure is a life-sized Christ as the Good Shepherd. This was executed by Conn-Art Studio of Toronto".

"The construction of this latest building ties together all the units at present completed on the spacious grounds at Lawrence and Dufferin. The Convent is connected to the new unit by a covered corridor 600 feet long which also serves as the Western part of the playground enclosure".

"The building is joined to the original building by an underground tunnel to the kitchen and an overhead bridge to the second floor. This arrangement allows traffic to the service facilities to proceed on the ground level".

"The Summer Camp with its new outdoor swimming pool was opened for the first time in July, 1961, providing a week's vacation for groups of fifteen girls and weekly picnic excursions from the School. For conveying the girls back and forth from the camp, a new blue school bus has been purchased".

"Sports activities have increased greatly, the new gymnasium lending itself well to this. The girls had the pleasure of playing in successful competition with outside teams".

"The playground has been enlarged almost three-fold, and asphalt pavement has also been greatly extended".

"These improved facilities have enabled us to foster all activities more extensively".

ST. JOHN'S TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, UXBRIDGE

"As we approach the completion of our first five years at Uxbridge it is interesting, if not alarming, to note that committals for the past five years show a total of 939 new admissions, an average of 188 per year, with 197 boys received in 1961; and 218 received in the year under consideration".

"The re-allocation of areas from which Catholic boys are committed to Training Schools, effective January 1st, 1962, will in all likelihood reduce our potential admissions by more than 20 boys per year. Between reduction in committing territory and increased bed capacity, to be available in the coming year, we hope to have some relief from overcrowding and precipitant placements for a few years at least".

"It would seem that the needs of a training school are never fully met. Since coming to Uxbridge we have completed an outdoor swimming pool; installed a two-way car radio with accompanying tower; and constructed a root cellar and a much needed implement shed. Tenders are now out for a classroom building with connecting gym-auditorium, the completion of which will release increased dormitory space in the fall of 1962".

"Medical and clinical services were augmented during the past year. Our own Tuberculosis prevention surveys were established through arrangements on national provincial and county levels; and, with the co-operation of the Uxbridge Cottage Hospital and two registered nurses, who administered the Heaf Test to each boy admitted to the School".

"The services of an outstanding psychiatrist and a consulting psychologist are now available on a regularized basis within the School for boys with particular problems".

"A special summer programme was launched June 28th, when a first group of thirty boys went by bus and boat to the Brothers' Island in Lake Simcoe for a holiday outing. Each successive group spent three nights on the island".

"A demonstration of summer activities took place on August 16th, under the direction of Mr. Tawfik Saad, a former Olympic Gymnast. Massed drills, tumbling, parallel bars, vaulting horse, high bar and water sports were featured before several hundred spectators. The occasion was graced by the presence of the Honourable George Wardrobe, Minister of Reform Institutions, and other invited guests".

"Public relations were further enhanced during the year by fireworks on May 22nd; display by De LaSalle Band, July 9th; entry of float in Santa Claus Parade; home and home games with the boys of the Ontario Training School at Bowmanville in hockey and baseball; and participating in special events at Bowmanville Field Day".

ST. JOSEPH'S TRAINING SCHOOL FOR BOYS, ALFRED

"This School, which is run by the Christian Brothers from the Ottawa Province, has had another very successful year, judging from the official reports made by the regular inspectors, by letters from the parents of our wards and the contented appearance of most of the boys".

"The enrolment being almost double that of preceding years and the returnees numbering forty-one, we were hard up for accommodation; we had to reduce the average stay to nine months and a half. Naturally, we placed great emphasis on an academic programme that will effectively close the gap of our retarded pupils who form a good percentage of our School population. According to our school inspector the class work has been satisfactorily done in most classes and better than average in a few. We rightly consider residence life at the School as the key to our character building programme. Through it, the boys learn many things calculated to make them good, useful citizens".

"The vocational training programme has steadily expanded. In these departments and many others, the boys get definite lessons every week in their special interests and aptitudes".

"During the winter a noted psychologist came to the School once a week to give special lessons to the members of the staff on diverse psychological questions".

"In May, for the formal opening of our Recreation Centre, gymnasium and swimming pool, we had the honour of receiving His Excellency, Mgr. Raymond Windle, Auxiliary Bishop of Ottawa, and the Honourable George C. Wardrobe, representing the Prime Minister, The Honourable Leslie Frost".

"Early in December, one of our instructors, Brother Barnaby, passed away suddenly in the Ottawa Hospital, after a serious operation. This excellent and devoted man had been connected with this School for over ten years; and his death left a great void in our personnel, as he was greatly loved and considered by all".

"A word of appreciation is directed here to certain organizations and individuals in Alfred, Hawkesbury, Cornwall and Ottawa for their keen interest in the welfare of our boys especially for their generous gifts, donations and recreation programmes around Christmas".

"In our work of caring, redressing, disciplining and guiding our wayward boys, we have been greatly encouraged by the support of the Department of Reform Institutions and the Training Schools Advisory Board. To them, to the members of our staff, and to the many others who have helped us to lighten the burden of our task, we wish to express our sincere thanks".

IN CONCLUSION

All things considered, your Board is of the opinion that the work of the Training Schools is being carried on in a satisfactory manner. There will always be room for improvement, but the Board feels the compass is set in the right direction. The fact that the training schools are able to show that at the time of the termination of wardship over 74% were considered to have made a satisfactory adjustment is proof that the dedicated staffs have not laboured in vain and is a source of encouragement for the future.

Your Board desires to take the opportunity provided by the submission of this annual report, to record its thanks to all who have supported its efforts and made its work harmonious and worth while. It would be invidious to mention these by name, but the Board is very conscious of its indebtedness and looks forward to another year of co-operative effort.

We remain,

Most sincerely,

TO THE HONOURABLE, THE MINISTER,
Department of Reform Institutions.

SIR:

I have the honour and pleasure of submitting the Annual Report for the Department, for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1963.

This fiscal year marked the completion of one stage in our long-term programme of providing those institutions necessary for an overall programme of classification, segregation, treatment and training, so basic to our total rehabilitation programme. Having reached this stage, we were able to evaluate our work at all institutions, to assess results and to make such modifications to programmes as indicated.

Equally we were able to take stock of and to consolidate those many services which are necessary for the efficient operation of an organization responsible for welfare of over 10,000 men and women during the course of a year.

In order to carry out legal obligations, maintain an effective rehabilitation programme and insure the welfare of prisoners under humanitarian principles, all aspects of the Department's organization must operate efficiently and certainly they must be progressive. Basic services in an expanding Department could easily stagnate and eventually reduce the effectiveness and efficiency of the rehabilitation programme. For this reason particular emphasis has been placed on reviewing and modernizing these basic services.

RECORDS

Any assessment of results in a rehabilitation programme must eventually depend on accurate initial records of inmates admitted to our institutions. We must have easy and clear identification and our records of previous criminal and institutional history must reflect modern trends. Until recently, inmates coming to our institutions for the first time were truly first offenders, but with the increased programme of probation, suspended sentence, etc., we now find that on their first committal many offenders have a long and detailed criminal history behind them. They are the hard cases which have not responded to the probation programme, have committed further offences or offences of such gravity that imprisonment is deemed the only reasonable sentence. In the light of these changing conditions and the increased co-operation between Federal and Provincial agencies, our system of records is under constant review.

ACCOUNTS DEPARTMENT

The overall operation of a Department financed by public funds and the many services within the Department are directly dependent on an efficient accounting system.

The expansion of the Department, with the diversification of institutions and services, inevitably strains a system and methods designed for a smaller and more compact organization. Consequently, we have reviewed all our accountancy and inventory control operations over the last few years, streamlining procedures and introducing modern mechanical methods of accountancy. This not only enables us to keep a closer check on all operations but also provides information for the immediate evaluation of the economics of programmes and services, and provides data for future development.

COMMUNICATION

It has long been recognized that the overall efficiency of our Department depended greatly on the effectiveness of our internal system of communication, both horizontally and vertically. Consequently, we have given special care to this basic aspect of our organization. Many methods of improved communication have been introduced, each designed to deal most efficiently with a particular problem or a special service. Conferences, group meetings, lectures, individual liaison, bulletins, printed and duplicated material have all been put to effective use both for internal departmental communication and for the improvement of co-operation and communications with interested groups and agencies outside the Department.

BASIC PHYSICAL WELFARE NEEDS

Under this heading we include accommodation, food, medical attention, recreation and sports, clothing and such other everyday necessities as are concerned with the physical well-being of those inmates under our care and supervision.

Accommodation

Individual cells or rooms provide about 30% of the accommodation in our institutions, dormitories provide about 70%. In general, dormitories are used in institutions where security can be reduced, cells for institutions of maximum security or where inmates are unable to adjust to the communal living provided in dormitories. Essentially all accommodation must be clean and provide such amenities as are necessary for maintaining a person's self-respect. All individual cells are provided with good ventilation and light, table, seat, locker, modern toilet facilities, bed and bedding. Dormitories are provided with individual lockers, communal tables, seats, toilets, washrooms, and all inmates in cells or dormitories have daily shower facilities. No food is permitted in areas of living accommodation and the highest standards of hygiene are maintained.

Clothing

All inmates are issued with clean clothing on admission and a complete set of clean clothes at least once per week. Most institutions maintain their own laundry and repair service, the smaller institutions make use of the facilities of nearby larger institutions.

Although it is obviously necessary to have a distinctive type of clothing, the use of blue shirts and jeans (brown at Training Centres) of the cut and texture similar to industrial clothing, is the least likely to take away a man's self-respect. Women do not wear uniforms. They are supplied with dresses of a modern design made from fabrics of various colours.

Food Services

For many years the Department has recognized the importance of Food Services within its institutions and has maintained a high standard of service and efficiency. Although it is very easy for food to become a subject of unrest amongst men who are incarcerated for long periods, it is noteworthy that there have been no major complaints about the food services for many years. Nevertheless, we recognize that this should not be accomplished by luxury, instead, under the direction of our Food Services Administrator, we provide a planned, varied, balanced diet, of good quality food, attractively and hygienically prepared by skilled cooks, with due regard to cost.

Medical and Dental Services

In all institutions we have continued to maintain high standards of medical and dental care. This is necessary not only to deal with day to day ailments, but also to counteract the self-neglect evident in many inmates when committed to our institutions. Where physical disability or dental deformity presents a psychological factor in hindering adjustment, treatment within the institutions has often proven successful.

Of special note this year was the completion of the new T.B. Clinic at Guelph Reformatory. An entire floor area of the Tower Building at Guelph has been transformed into a completely isolated modern T.B. hospital, containing sections for active and inactive patients. The work was done entirely by inmate labour under the direction of our construction staff. This is the only hospital of its kind in Canada completely under the jurisdiction of a correctional institution.

Sports and Recreation

Purposeful exercise and recreation are recognized as important factors in our total programme. We have ensured that in addition to relieving the inevitable boredom of long incarceration, the recreation programme provides interest for many inmates in useful hobbies and activities. The physical education and sports programmes are designed to promote the physical well-being of inmates and provide a variety of sporting activities whereby inmates may get rid of surplus energy along controlled lines.

These basic services are essential in providing a suitable climate to carry out our total treatment, training and rehabilitation programme.

TRAINING

Academic

We were fortunate to start the year with a more numerous and more qualified staff than of recent years and the value of the work was enhanced by the overall enthusiasm shown by the teaching staff. The increase in the number of inmates regularly attending academic classes was appreciated by one Headmaster who stated, "While it is pleasing to have a number of students advance academically the real value is that a large number of inmates were reintroduced to school and study disciplines. If even a portion of the total number maintain their motivation after their release, that will be the measure of the true value of the school."

Library Services

During the year a steady increase in the use of the library services was noted with special emphasis on educational reading. Professional librarians attended all institutions regularly to assist inmates in the effective use of books. Over 150,000 books were issued in adult institutions during the year and many were obtained specifically to enable inmates to complete certain courses.

Vocational

In addition to the two Trade Training Centres at Brampton and Burtch, selected inmates at other institutions, who have the aptitude and the ability, are given vocational training in appropriate trades. Individual instructors have increased the scope and content of their courses as more young men have attained the necessary academic standing to qualify for trade training.

RELIGIOUS PROGRAMME

Increased assistance from local organizations, churches and individual members of the clergy, along with an increase of our own chaplaincy staff, has enabled us to provide more adequate religious counselling and guidance. Since these services are so basic to the rehabilitation needs of the majority of the men and women in our care, at the end of the year we obtained the services of a full time Director of Chaplaincy Services. The Rev. M. Flint is particularly qualified for this position. In addition to being an ordained minister, he has a Ph.D. in Psychology as well as special training in the group therapeutic approach which has proven successful in other jurisdictions. During the year new chapels were planned for Burwash, Burtch and the Forestry Camp at Hendrie.

FARMING

The Departmental farms maintained steady progress with a gross production value during the fiscal year of over half a million dollars. The value of live-stock inventories increased by $19,000.00 largely accounted for by expansion of the Burwash Beef Project. There was also a large increase in the quantity of beef slaughtered for consumption.

Milk production showed a satisfactory increase with a slight decrease in dairy cattle inventory. The composite index for production of milk was 125% of breed average and 129% for butter fat. Due to unfavourable weather conditions, field and garden crop yields were somewhat below normal.

The Ontario Reformatory Guelph herd of Holstein cattle maintained its reputation for high milk producing cows and during the year was awarded a record number of production certificates by the Canadian Holstein-Freisian Association.

INDUSTRIES

During the year, we continued to concentrate on quality control by further refinements in the modernization of equipment and methods in our industrial shops. The industrial staffs in our institutions can be justifiably proud of not only the gross production value of almost $3,000,000.00 but more important is the therapeutic and rehabilitative value in permitting inmates to work with modern equipment in accordance with accepted manufacturing practice and standards.

Considerable opportunity for job sampling is available in our Brick and Tile Plant, Canneries, Planing Mill, Tailor Shops, Woollen Mill, Machine Shops, Marker Plant, Braille Shop, Block and Tile Plant and Carpentry Shops.

CONSTRUCTION

Projects undertaken during the fiscal year fall into two categories. Smaller projects are undertaken entirely by inmate labour, larger projects are carried out by the Department of Public Works. The second category includes a new incinerator at the Ontario Reformatory, Guelph; rebuilding of institutional buildings at the Rideau Industrial Farm and a second dormitory at the Industrial Farm Monteith. Projects completed by inmate labour include a new cannery storage building and the renovation and conversion of the fourth floor tower into a T. B. hospital ward at the Ontario Reformatory Guelph; an addition to the cannery at the Burtch Industrial Farm; the complete renovation and expansion of an old farm house for a Treatment Centre for Women at Brampton; and new greenhouses at the Industrial Farm, Fort William and the Industrial Farm, Monteith. A new chapel for the inmates at the Burwash Industrial Farm, constructed entirely by inmate labour, was nearing completion at the end of the year.

TREATMENT SERVICES

With the appointment of additional staff, psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers, the treatment services continued to make progress during the year. Treatment meetings with clinical and administrative staff were held regularly at each institution concerned. During the year three members of the staff attended a special course on alcoholism at Rutgers University.

A special booklet, giving a complete picture of the classification, segregation, treatment and training services of the Department, was issued to all magistrates in the province. Prepared in looseleaf form to enable it to be kept up to date, the booklet deals with particular services available at each institution and the treatment programmes available for many classes of offenders.

REHABILITATION SERVICES

Stage two in the amalgamation of our rehabilitation programme has now been completed. The Ottawa District Office, which opened during the latter part of the year, is now in full operation and additional staff will be posted there as the case load increases.

Two female rehabilitation officers were appointed to the staff to work out of the Toronto office. This increases the supervision offered to the large number of juveniles on placement in the Metropolitan Toronto area.

Authorization for additional staff was received during the year and as they are recruited they will be posted to various locations throughout the province.

Plans were completed during the year for stage three of the programme which includes the opening of an additional office in Hamilton. The staff for the Hamilton office has been selected and will be transferred as soon as suitable office space is obtained.

The rehabilitation services now has offices located at seventeen institutions throughout the province. In addition, rehabilitation officers staff four district offices located in Port Arthur, Ottawa, London and Toronto.

STAFF TRAINING

During the year a supervising psychologist was appointed Director of Staff Training and Development in order to revise the courses at the Staff Training School. Plans are also being made to provide suitable training courses for senior, professional and semi-professional staff.

Members of the staff continued their extra-mural studies leading to a Certificate of Corrections at McMaster and Queen's Universities with commendable success. This next year should see the first graduates of this course.

PLANNING

Of major importance was the start made on the Women's Treatment Centre at Brampton. Under the direction of the Rev. Maurice Flint, a milieu therapy unit had been in operation for a number of years at the Andrew Mercer Reformatory for Women. The aim of the unit was to educate the participants to understand themselves, and to enable them to learn, in human relationships, the dynamics of their own inter-personal relationships. The girls in the group gained new insight into their confused thinking and inadequate ways of reacting and behaving with consequent positive reorientation in responsible community living.

The Department's evaluation of the project, based on statistical returns, post-group psychiatric interviews and the motivation of the girls to participate and continue in such a programme, indicated a decided success in this venture.

The Department, therefore, acquired a house near the Women's Guidance Centre at Brampton and converted it into a treatment centre, in order that more intensive and extensive group work of this kind may be carried out in a completely "open" setting. Selection criteria in the past have proven most satisfactory, but in the new unit greater emphasis is placed upon the needs of the younger female narcotic addicts.

The remodelling of the house to become a residence with a "home like" atmosphere was assigned to the staff and students of the Ontario Training Centre Brampton under the direction of our Superintendent of Construction. Nearing completion by the end of the fiscal year, the treatment centre is a tribute to the fine work of all concerned and fulfils our highest expectations.

RESEARCH

During the year, you took a personal active interest in the proposed centre of Criminology at the University of Toronto.

The Department envisaged the institute as having a threefold function; to conduct research; to teach; and to act in a consultant capacity to legislators and administrators. It would have as its concern the study of crime, its conditioning, its prevention and its treatment. It would conduct both theoretical and operational research, much of which would be carried out in appropriate field settings.

The acceptance of this idea and plans made to put it into operation is regarded by the Department as a major step forward in this important field.

CLASSIFICATION

Although the Department already maintains a most detailed classification and segregation programme, constant evaluation throughout the year has been made of the effectiveness of any extension possible to this programme. The great success of the forestry camps, the present trade training centres and other minimum security institutions indicates that an extension of these facilities in order to provide an even greater depth of classification is a practical possibility.

We wish to express our appreciation for the continued co-operation received throughout the year from the many interested citizens, aftercare agencies, universities, church groups, service clubs, government departments, and employers who have greatly assisted us in this important and challenging work.

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read "J. Abraham". The signature is fluid and elegant, with a large initial "J" and a long, sweeping underline.

Deputy Minister.

Year Ending March 31st, 1963

The third complete year of operation for the present Ontario Board of Parole saw no change in the composition of the Board and it remains as follows:

MR. D. C. MASON.....	Chairman
MR. J. S. MORRISON, B.A., M.Ed.....	Full-time Member
REV. D. M. KERR.....	Full-time Member
MRS. GLADYS COULTER.....	Part-time Member
MRS. J. ISOBEL ROSS.....	Part-time Member

The authority of the Ontario Board of Parole is set out in The Parole Act of 1946 and the Amendments of 1952 and 1960. New Regulations under the Act were approved in 1961.

The Board may grant parole to those prisoners serving indeterminate sentences in Ontario institutions. The prisoners eligible for consideration by the Ontario Board of Parole appear automatically and no formal application on their part is required.

In considering parole, two factors stand out above all others:

- (a) All committed to Ontario correctional institutions eventually return to society.
- (b) The majority of prisoners released from correctional institutions require assistance in rehabilitating themselves back into the community.

This being true, it is, therefore, more realistic for a prisoner who has indicated a desire to reform to spend part of his sentence in the community under supervision.

Parole may be considered to have a two-fold purpose:

- (1) It affords society protection, in that a prisoner who fails to comply with the conditions of parole may be returned to the institution on the authority of the Board.
- (2) Under supervision, the prisoner will receive the guidance and advice of a trained rehabilitation staff to assist him in making the change from institutional security to freedom in society.

The Board is aware of its obligations to society and in deciding to grant parole it must be convinced that the prisoner has changed and that there is a reasonable chance of his becoming a useful and law-abiding citizen. Naturally, we must expect failures. However, past experience has proven that the percentage of successful parole cases is extremely encouraging.

A total of 46 meetings were held at the Main Office in Toronto for the purpose of reviewing files of those prisoners scheduled to appear before the Board at the various institutions. At these meetings the Board also considers applications requesting a review of cases dealt with previously.

The Board meets at least once a month at each institution where prisoners serving indeterminate sentences are confined. The purpose of these meetings is to afford the prisoner an opportunity of a personal interview with the Board. Ninety-two meetings were held during the year at various institutions.

In deciding parole the Board considers many factors; circumstances of the offence, previous criminal history, personal background, presentence report from the probation staff, psychiatric and psychological reports, community assessment, previous employment history, institution report, and proposed parole plan. A review of each case history, together with a personal interview with the prisoner, affords the Board the opportunity of thoroughly assessing the prospects of successful rehabilitation.

The Rehabilitation staff of the Department is responsible for completing release plans and, where applicable, for supervision during the parole period. These dedicated officers provide counselling service as well as assistance in securing employment, board and lodging, tools, etc., where required. It is a most demanding role often requiring a great deal of patience and understanding in attempting to assist the parolee to re-establish himself in society. Periodic reports are submitted on the progress and adjustment of each parolee. If the conditions of parole are not kept, the case is reviewed by the Board and parole may be cancelled.

The Department is completing the third phase of a programme amalgamating the juvenile and adult supervisory staff. Rehabilitation Officers are located at all juvenile and adult institutions and offices have been established in Toronto, London, Port Arthur and Ottawa. Plans are being completed to open an additional office in Hamilton this year. The officers are responsible for the supervision of juveniles on placement from Ontario Training Schools and parolees from adult institutions in the Province. Each officer supervises juveniles and adults in a specific area and offers assistance to those people released at the expiration of sentence.

The Board is indebted to the staff in the Main Office, Rehabilitation Officers, the officials and staff at the institutions, Magistrates, Probation Staff and Police Forces for the valuable information which they supply. Appreciation is also extended to the many public and private community services and agencies, too numerous to mention, who have assisted the men and women released from our institutions, whether on parole or at the expiration of sentence.

D. C. MASON,
Chairman.

THE SALVATION ARMY

REPORT OF POLICE COURT, PRISON, JAIL AND AFTER-CARE WORK IN THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

For the Year Ending Dec. 31, 1962

During 1962 we welcomed Brigadiers Victor MacLean and John Patterson to Correctional Services work in Ontario. Brigadier MacLean succeeded Major Ivan Jackson at the Ontario Reformatory, Mimico, and Brigadier John Patterson is devoting himself to Magistrates' Courts, particularly in the fine new court building at Scarborough.

Brigadier William Mercer, long a familiar figure in the courts at Kingston, Ontario and at the Frontenac County Jail every Sunday Morning, retired and handed this work on to Major I. Jackson. However the Brigadier continues his services at Collins Bay.

These changes in our Ontario staff accelerated rather than diminished the work of our correctional services and further additions to our staff are contemplated in 1963.

Cadets in our training college, preparing for officership in the Salvation Army have systematically visited Magistrates' Courts and correctional institutions in and near Toronto. They have taken part in interviewing, counselling and visiting the homes of youthful offenders, and also conducting meetings in the institutions. This will be a useful experience, fitting them for participation in work of this kind on their appointment to other centres throughout the Province.

These opportunities and experiences create a great desire for closer co-operation with the Department of Reform Institutions and hopes that workshops and short courses, to train still further, are often expressed. Since 'Research and Training' seems to have become the subject of many conferences these past months, I echo the hope that this programme will involve all of us more and more.

For the support given all our officers by superintendents and staff at the institutions, by the Minister, Deputy-Minister and staff from their offices in Toronto, I would express my heartfelt thanks.

TO THE HONOURABLE, THE MINISTER,
Department of Reform Institutions.

SIR:

The reports of the following for the year which ended March 31st, 1963, are presented herewith for your consideration:

The Training Schools Advisory Board.

The Training Schools Statistics.

Under existing legislation, children found to be delinquent or in need of special training may be placed in the Training Schools by two methods:

1. Juvenile Court Commitment.
2. By Order of the Minister of the Department.

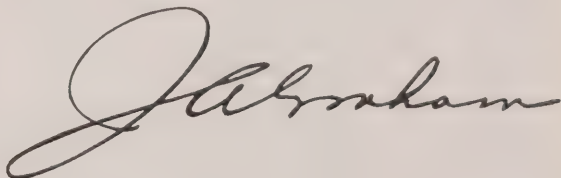

In either case, the child becomes a ward of the School until he or she reaches the age of 18, but in all cases, you have the authority to terminate wardship whenever you consider such action advisable. With regard to termination of wardship, you act on the advice of the Board and in most cases, wardship is terminated before the child reaches the age of 18 years. It should be pointed out that the child must be under the age of 16 years at the time of commitment.

The Training School facilities were greatly increased during the year by the opening of the Ontario Training School for Girls, Lindsay, the Ontario Training School for Boys, Simcoe, Coldsprings Camp for Boys, located in the Ganaraska Forest, as well as a large addition to St. John's Training School for Boys, Uxbridge. Additional educational facilities were provided at the Ontario Training School for Boys, Cobourg, by the construction of a new academic building consisting of 6 classrooms, and an auditorium. These new facilities permit a more intensive classification system to be established and at the same time, allow for greater diversification in the treatment and training programme.

The after-care programme has been greatly enhanced by the employment of additional Rehabilitation Officers and the opening of two more field offices at London and Ottawa. Officers located at strategic centres throughout the Province give almost immediate assistance as required and provide more adequate supervision and guidance to the wards on placement.

The Superintendents and staffs of the various Schools carried out their duties in their usual loyal and commendable fashion. In large measure, the effectiveness of our work is determined by the efforts of an efficient and devoted staff. A special word of appreciation is also expressed to the many interested citizens and organizations who donated so much time, energy and talent to this rewarding work.

Yours sincerely,

Deputy Minister.

THE TRAINING SCHOOLS ADVISORY BOARD ANNUAL REPORT

TO THE HONOURABLE, THE MINISTER,
Department of Reform Institutions.

SIR :

We have the pleasurable duty to submit our Annual Report for the year ending March 31st, 1963.

Your Board has continued to function under the provisions of the Training Schools Act. It has never regarded it as being one of its duties to administer the Training Schools, or to become involved in those matters that properly belong to the overall administrative responsibilities of the Department.

Nevertheless, your Board has always been happy to undertake independent assessments of work being done in particular areas of the Training Schools programme, if so requested by you as Minister, to whom it acts in an advisory capacity.

THE GENERAL BUSINESS OF THE BOARD

The exact nature and volume of the work done by your Board is to be seen in the statistical details given on the opposite page, and for this purpose your Board has met during the year, each Thursday, with the one exception that fell during the Christmas vacation.

Prior to each meeting, the file of each case to be considered has been carefully studied by the Chairman and Secretary of the Board, after which a summary of the relevant circumstances is presented to each member. It may be noted that under certain sub-headings the figures given in the Board's statistical return differ slightly from the returns submitted by the individual schools, as shown in the tables to be found at the end of the report of the Department, Part II. The reason is quite simple, since the figures submitted by the schools refer to individual cases, whereas those shown by the Board may include action taken by the Board on more than one occasion, during the year, on behalf of the same ward or student.

Similarly, some figures may differ as a result of the time factor or overlap at the year end, e.g. decisions reached by the Board at its last meeting of the year may not be made effective by the School until after the beginning of the new fiscal year and will, accordingly, be shown in the returns of the school for the year in which the action was taken.

The Board has noted with much pleasure that the two new Ontario Training Schools—Lindsay for Girls and Simcoe for Boys—are now in active operation. These two fine Schools, together with the addition to the Ontario Training School for Boys, Cobourg, will be of the utmost value to the Department in its plan to develop the programme on behalf of the boys and girls under care and guidance.

N.B. The reason why the figures in this table may sometimes be found to differ from those submitted by the Schools, is because the School figures refer to individual cases, whereas in this table, if action is taken by the Board concerning an individual case more than once during the period covered, it is shown more than once.

Similarly, the Brothers of St. John's Training School at Uxbridge are to be congratulated on the fine additions that have been made to their School. The substantial financial assistance given by the Government towards this development is proof of its continuing interest in these private Training Schools.

NUMBERS ON THE SCHOOL ROLL

It will be seen from the following particulars that the number of students on the roll of the various schools has continued to increase and has exceeded the grand total of 3,000 for the first time.

IN RESIDENCE

The number in residence at the various Training Schools on March 31st, 1963, show that the upward trend of new receptions, by committals from the Juvenile and Family Courts or admitted by you under Section 10 of the Training Schools Act, has continued. The Department is under an obligation to receive committals from the Juvenile and Family Courts and has no control over the number. Its duty is to receive, provide for and train.

Those admitted by you are normally from applications submitted by the various Children's Aid Societies and concern very disturbed children in need of guidance and training in a controlled setting, such as our Training Schools are able to provide. These applications are carefully examined by your Advisory Board before a recommendation to admit is made to you.

Unless there should be any steep rise in the number of new receptions during the next fiscal year, it would appear that the accommodation in the Ontario Training Schools will be able to meet requirements for the year ending March 31st, 1964. However, this is a situation requiring constant thought, since a high intake will so overcrowd the schools that early placement of students will have to be contemplated. Experience has shown this to be undesirable.

In its last report your Board made reference to the desirability of a Reception, Diagnostic and Classification Centre being established to cope with modern requirements. It has noted with satisfaction that you have promised to give early consideration to this development.

The decision as to when a student is ready for placement is often a difficult one to make. Some require a longer period of training than others, because of the nature and depth of the emotional disturbance that brought them into the school. Others, who have made excellent progress academically or by vocational training, need to be held until the academic year or vocational training course has been completed. On the other hand, some students, who have not shown any very serious behaviour problem, whose misdemeanours may have been nothing more than uncontrolled expressions of youthful adventure, quickly adjust and may safely be resettled after a comparatively short period of training and guidance.

These factors often give rise to situations which call for intense individual counselling in order to satisfy those students who are being held for longer periods than the reasons are for their own future well-being. These are but some of the problems peculiar to the administration of an effective programme in our training schools. Other problems concern the attitude of parents towards their children during the period of training, some of whom appear to need more counselling than their offspring. It is, therefore, good to note that the superintendents of the schools and the rehabilitation staff are giving increased attention to this important aspect.

It is also pleasing to learn that the Department is preparing a new illustrated brochure, setting out the aims and programmes of the various schools. This will be of great value to the Juvenile and Family Court judges, rehabilitation officers, and other social workers who find it necessary to give assurances to parents from time to time. For judges to be able to satisfy parents and the children who are before them that the course of action he or she is proposing to take is in the best interests of the child, can make all the difference to the effectiveness of the training given. Training and guidance then becomes a co-operative effort from the start—shared by the parents, students, and school alike.

It may be that some parents, whose stupidity and lack of foresight and example has created the situation that has resulted in their child being sent to a training school, will still be stupid, no matter what is done, but your Board shares the opinion that the initial efforts planned by the Department on the lines envisaged above will prove worthwhile in most instances.

On previous occasions we have expressed the opinion that the reorganization of the rehabilitation services of the Department has proved to be a step in the right direction. Our experience during the year under review confirms this to be so, and that the boys and girls on placement are now, in most areas, receiving a more effective period of supervision.

RETURN OF WARDS FROM PLACEMENT

It has never been the opinion of your Board that, under an effective system of supervision, the return of a boy or girl to training school from placement is necessarily a sign of failure. Some failures must be expected, and when these are of a more serious nature, the return usually follows a new appearance in the Juvenile and Family Court. Many others are brought back for brief periods of counselling, and this practice most often has the desired result.

Your Board reviews the circumstances concerning every boy or girl who has been returned from placement and submits herewith an analysis giving the main reasons for the return, together with the year in which the returnees were placed back into the community.

A study of these details will show that 61% of those returned were due to less serious forms of behaviour.

TERMINATION OF WARDSHIP

The provisions of Section 21 of The Training Schools Act places upon you an obligation to terminate wardship when a boy or girl reaches the age of 18 years, and permits you to do so at an earlier age if it is considered the ward has made a satisfactory adjustment. It is one of the duties of your Board to advise you on these matters and we now submit the following details concerning the terminations that have been made during the year and the reasons thereof.

In our opinion it is not unsatisfactory to be able to report that, at the time of termination, some 79.2% of our wards had made a good adjustment.

A true assessment, of course, can only be made by a follow through in the years immediately succeeding termination. In the past it has been found well nigh impossible to do this provincially with any degree of accuracy. It is, therefore, satisfactory to learn that the whole question of juvenile delinquency has been made the subject of a Federal investigation and that the Federal Bureau of Statistics are now calling for details from each Province. Accordingly, we may hope that during the next few years these factors, together with the research projects you have in mind to encourage, will provide us with the missing links.

THE ADVISORY BOARD AND THE TRAINING SCHOOLS

Your Board has maintained a very satisfactory relationship with the superintendents of all training schools. It has sought and has received the fullest measure of co-operation.

A glance at the statistical report of the work done by your Board, herein, will show that only in a relatively small percentage of cases has the Board found it necessary to disagree with the recommendations submitted by the schools, which is an indication of our participation in a common purpose.

Once again we wish to place on record our thanks to all who have assisted in making the work of the Board so rewarding and so worthwhile.

We remain,

Most sincerely,

MARTIN W. PINKER, O.B.E., Chairman.

JOHN M. BENNETT, Ph.D.,

C. H. LEWIS, M.D., C.M.,

TO THE HONOURABLE ALLAN GROSSMAN,
Minister of Reform Institutions.

SIR :

I have the honour and pleasure of submitting the Annual Report of the Department for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1964.

Of special note during the year was your appointment as Minister of this Department in August 1963, the former Minister, the Honourable Irwin Haskett, being appointed Minister of the Department of Transport.

During the past year there has been continued emphasis on the rehabilitation of the offender as the prime factor in the "Ontario Plan".

In the evaluation of present procedures and facilities, those sections requiring reorganization or increased emphasis have been given particular attention.

All aspects of the City and County jail programme were considered in detail and plans were drawn up for the replacement of the many old jail buildings, usually constituted in each County Seat, by Regional Detention and Classification Units designed to serve a number of Counties. After the formulation of plans of the facilities needed in these units, discussions took place with representatives of County Councils throughout the Province with a view to the establishment of the units as a co-operative effort.

Plans were advanced during the year for the establishment of additional forestry camps. The great success of the present camps with community-centred conservation programmes in a completely open, minimum security setting has enabled us to gain valuable experience in selection procedures and as a result we are justified in expanding the programme. These camps have not only proven to be most effective in the rehabilitation of many offenders, but they have also helped to reduce the population of larger institutions.

During the year the chaplaincy service was strengthened and, in many institutions without separate chapels, buildings were constructed or plans formulated for early construction in accordance with the needs of each institution.

Staff training courses were not only continued at the Department Staff Training School, located on the grounds of the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph, but were broadened in complement, and also in content. Seminars were held for Assistant Superintendents, Senior Custodial Officers, and Bursars, in addition to the usual courses for Junior Custodial Officers and Training School Supervisors. Of particular importance in terms of content was a developing emphasis on attitude formation and change. Although it is necessary to provide new supervisors and custodial officers with knowledge about the mechanics of their job, this is not as important as the development of good attitudes. If the attitudes of those under our care are to be changed in a desirable direction, it is important that the attitudes of those who have the most direct contact with them are healthy and positive.

Of significance during the year was the graduation of twenty-one members of our staff from the three year certificate course for correctional workers at McMaster University. The success of this course showed it to be an important advancement in the development of university level training for correctional workers.

During the summer months, an instructor from the Staff Training School visited fourteen institutions and gave First Aid courses up to St. John Ambulance Corps standards. One hundred and thirty-six employees took these courses and one hundred and seventeen were successful.

A two day conference on the "Treatment of the Addicted Offender" was held at the Alex G. Brown Memorial Clinic. It was attended by staff and visitors to a total of 120 each day, and was so successful that we plan to hold one annually.

A course planned for chaplains working or interested in the correctional field was also of valuable assistance to staff members and interested clergymen.

Correctional experts from this and other continents have visited our facilities and have expressed both acceptance and envy of them, although sometimes people outside the field from within this Province have expressed contrary views. When the latter have visited some of our institutions, their appreciation of the work being done is invariably evident. Unfortunately, it is not practical nor desirable to interrupt a full institutional programme by having as many of these visits as we would like. Quite understandably, a large number of our inmates resent any implication of being on display.

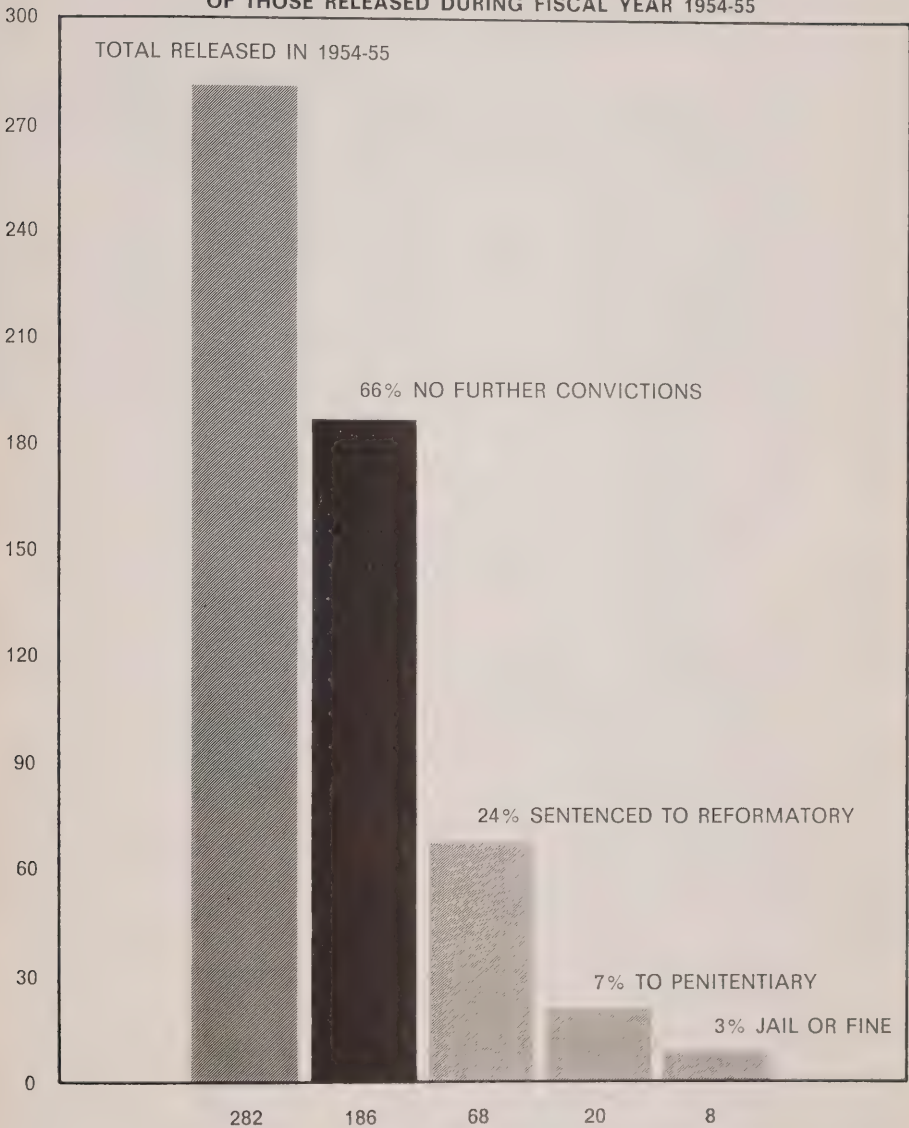

Incorrect assessments of the Department's operations are due in part to the incomplete picture given by current statistics, and unless these statistics are viewed from a background of detailed knowledge of the subject it is very easy for them to be misinterpreted. For example, statistics with respect to recidivism rates throughout the world show wide variation from country to country, due largely to different methods of collection and reporting. It is generally accepted, however, that recidivism rates among countries with enlightened programmes of rehabilitation are much the same. Further, although statistics are desirable and necessary for the proper evaluation of programmes, there are definite limitations on their collection. When a person is discharged from one of our institutions with his sentence fully served, it is quite proper that there should be restrictions on the degree to which his progress is followed in civilian life thereafter. Such restrictions would necessarily limit assessment of his adjustment. Therefore, we have tried to make use of available means of assessment in evaluating our programmes. At the same time the method of collection, as well as the need for particular and more meaningful statistics, is being studied by the Research Section of the Department.

In the field of the young adult male offender, we have those who have not served previous terms of imprisonment, but who may have committed a number of offences for which they had previously received suspended sentences, probation, or fines. This class of inmate, with few exceptions, makes up the student body at the Ontario Training Centre, Brampton. A study at this institution was made with the assistance of the fingerprint section of the R.C.M.P., the most authoritative information on reconviction available in the country. The survey determined the adjustment of students during a five-year period after release, a period which for all practical purposes is sufficiently long to evaluate adjustment. This was emphasized by the fact that of all those committing further offences, only 30% did so after the first year. Statistics were as follows:

Total number released.....	282
No further convictions	186 or 66%
Served a further term in a Canadian Reformatory.....	68 or 24%
Served a penitentiary sentence.....	20 or 7%
Convicted and fined or received a short jail sentence..	8 or 3%

There is no doubt that this figure of 66% successful rehabilitation, compares most favourably with any similar jurisdiction in the world.

ONTARIO TRAINING CENTRE, BRAMPTON
 SURVEY OF RECONVICTIONS OVER A 5 YEAR PERIOD
 OF THOSE RELEASED DURING FISCAL YEAR 1954-55

In addition to the 186 who had no further convictions whatsoever during the 5 year period, it should be noted that of the 96 who did have further convictions, 36 had only one further conviction of any type during this 5 year period.

A different group from those at Brampton are the severe behaviour problems sent to the Ontario Reformatory, Millbrook. They constitute in general the type described by His Honour, Judge McRuer as "a predatory class of people. They are so constituted that they either cannot live responsible lives or they prefer to be parasites . . . they demonstrate by their conduct that they will not live disciplined lives."

Rehabilitative measures of many types have been tried with many of these people. It is therefore interesting that behaviour problem people who have been discharged from Millbrook since it was opened have remained free of trouble with the law two and one-half times longer than after discharge from prior incarceration.

Of special importance, not on account of the numbers involved so much as of public interest in the treatment of addiction, are the Department's programmes with the adult male and female drug addicts and alcoholics. Detailed surveys have been possible at the Alex G. Brown Memorial clinical complex in Mimico because of the intensive follow-up treatment services in operation in these clinics. A follow-up study was made of all patients who received treatment at the drug addiction clinic during the 5 year period 1956-60. The results were as follows:

(a) Those at the Clinic once—
Drug free after 3 years	37%
Re-addiction established	47%
No degree of certainty	16%
(b) Those at the Clinic twice—
Drug free after 3 years	23%
Re-addiction established	38%
No degree of certainty	39%

It should be further noted that the best one can claim with respect to evaluating this category is that it is only possible to say that a person is free of drugs for a specified period. It is impossible to say that an addict has been cured of his addiction for ever. However, the survey showed that where a relapse occurred, it usually happened very quickly—within the first three months. Only 30% of re-addictions were confirmed to have taken place between the three-month to three-year period.

A similar study was made of the work in the milieu therapy unit in the Mercer Reformatory with female drug addicts. This study showed that of 78 addicts volunteering for treatment from November 1959 to February 1961, 27% have not been re-committed. Seven of this number have been free in society for more than four years. Taking the over-all figure of those receiving treatment 52% of those participating responded to the extent that they either adjusted satisfactorily or, at least, their recidivism rate decreased.

Patients admitted to the Alex G. Brown Memorial Clinic for alcoholism, either from other institutions to undergo treatment for the last thirty days of their sentence or sentenced directly to this clinic under Section 106-7C of The Liquor Control Act (to undergo a period of treatment not to exceed ninety days), have almost invariably a criminal history in addition to alcoholic addiction, and the survey made at this clinic gives equal prominence to both factors.

A Study of patients with an alcoholic problem treated at the Alex. G. Brown Memorial Clinic in 1961—755 patients.

Patients received from other Institutions to undergo treatment for the last 30 days of sentence: Number—496.

Satisfactory Adjustment—After First Year.....	24%
Unsatisfactory Adjustment after Release—First Year.....	40%
Breach of The Liquor Control Act only.....	28%
Breach of The Liquor Control Act and committed other offences.....	10%
Committed other offences only.....	2%
Uncertain.....	36%

Patients received under Section 106-7C of The Liquor Control Act (sentenced to undergo a period of treatment not to exceed 90 days). Number—259.

Satisfactory Adjustment—After First Year.....	15%
Unsatisfactory Adjustment after Release—First Year.....	54%
Breach of The Liquor Control Act only.....	40%
Breach of The Liquor Control Act and committed other offences.....	14%
Uncertain.....	31%

In determining “satisfactory” or “unsatisfactory” adjustment we considered the over-all social adjustment achieved by the patient. Recidivism, with or without the symptoms of alcoholism, constituted unsatisfactory adjustment.

The above figures are made with reference to our own clinics only. Even though they cannot be compared directly with any other figures, they are a useful basis for evaluation in considering figures available from other countries.

Agencies of the United Nations are currently working on the problems attending inconsistency in crime statistics, but there is no immediate hope for strict consistency throughout the world. Even within the ten provinces, efforts toward consistency are not as yet entirely successful.

Statistics on crime, criminals and institutions have for some years followed a standard procedure. However, with the changing patterns of offenders now being admitted to institutions, the figures given are often misinterpreted. Facts are read into them which are incorrect and other factors are not immediately apparent. For this reason a more detailed breakdown and statistical picture of all institutions will need to be built up in the future. The Department is very conscious of this need, and its Research Section is presently giving detailed study to the various statistics which will need to be collected, as well as the methods to be used, in order to present a more meaningful and complete picture, not only to workers in this field, but also to interested lay people. Discussions have been held with representatives of the Canadian Corrections Association, other agencies in this field, both Federal and Provincial, and the Dominion Bureau of Statistics Section which deals with this work, so that not only will our own statistics present a more definite picture, but all provinces will be able to have standard data available. As a beginning, many detailed statistics pertinent to the reformatory at Guelph have been accumulated so as to give a more accurate picture of the numbers and types of offenders being admitted to that institution.

The Reformatory at Guelph is particularly important in that it is at this institution that young men are committed for the first time. We feel that major emphasis should be placed on the rehabilitation of young people. This is not to say that we ignore the older offenders. Far from it, as the statistics from the Mimico clinical complex suggest; but if major emphasis has to be placed anywhere, it is obviously more desirable to place it on the young whose patterns of illegal behaviour by and large are not so well established. At this institution these young people are tested psychologically, their behavioural patterns are observed and assessed, and their potential is evaluated. As a result of these procedures they may be selected to go to one of the Ontario Training Centres (Brampton or Burtch) or to the forestry camp at Hendrie.

Of 1,793 inmates admitted to Guelph in the last fiscal year—

288 were first offenders;

556 were second offenders;

403 were third offenders; and

546 had more than three offences recorded against them.

These figures refer to the number of times a man has been convicted of an offence, and as an indication that they bear little relation to the number of times a man has previously been incarcerated, it should be noted that although only 288 were first offenders, 1,184 had never been in any institution previously. In other words, of the 1,793 inmates, two-thirds came into an institution for the first time, although the majority had prior offences. This is further borne out by the fact that, of 556 second offenders, only 15 had been in a reformatory previously.

Emphasis is placed on this factor because of a widespread misunderstanding that "a second or third offender" has necessarily been in a correctional institution before and that its programme, in view of his further offences, has been ineffective with him. The incorrectness of this assumption is emphasized by these figures which are reproduced in graph form on the opposite page.

It is sometimes suggested that young first offenders are being incarcerated in the company of older, hardened criminals. This is not borne out by the facts at Guelph. Of the 1,793 admitted to Guelph, only 292 had previously been in this institution. Of these 292,

236 had been in once previously;

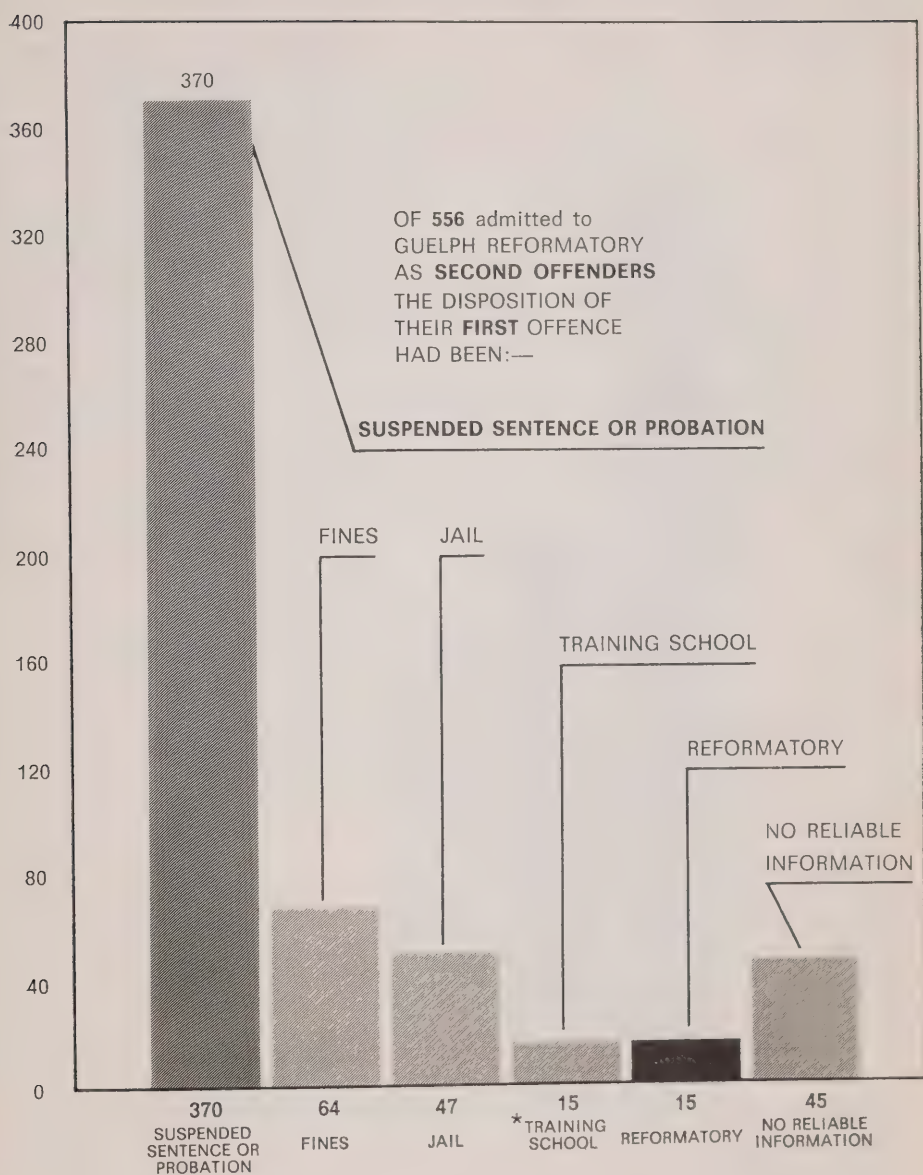

49 had been in twice previously;

5 had been in three times previously;

2 had been in more than three times.

Included in these figures are all those admitted to the Neuro-psychiatric Clinic for treatment and therefore are not within the Guelph classification.

SECOND OFFENDERS (GUELPH)

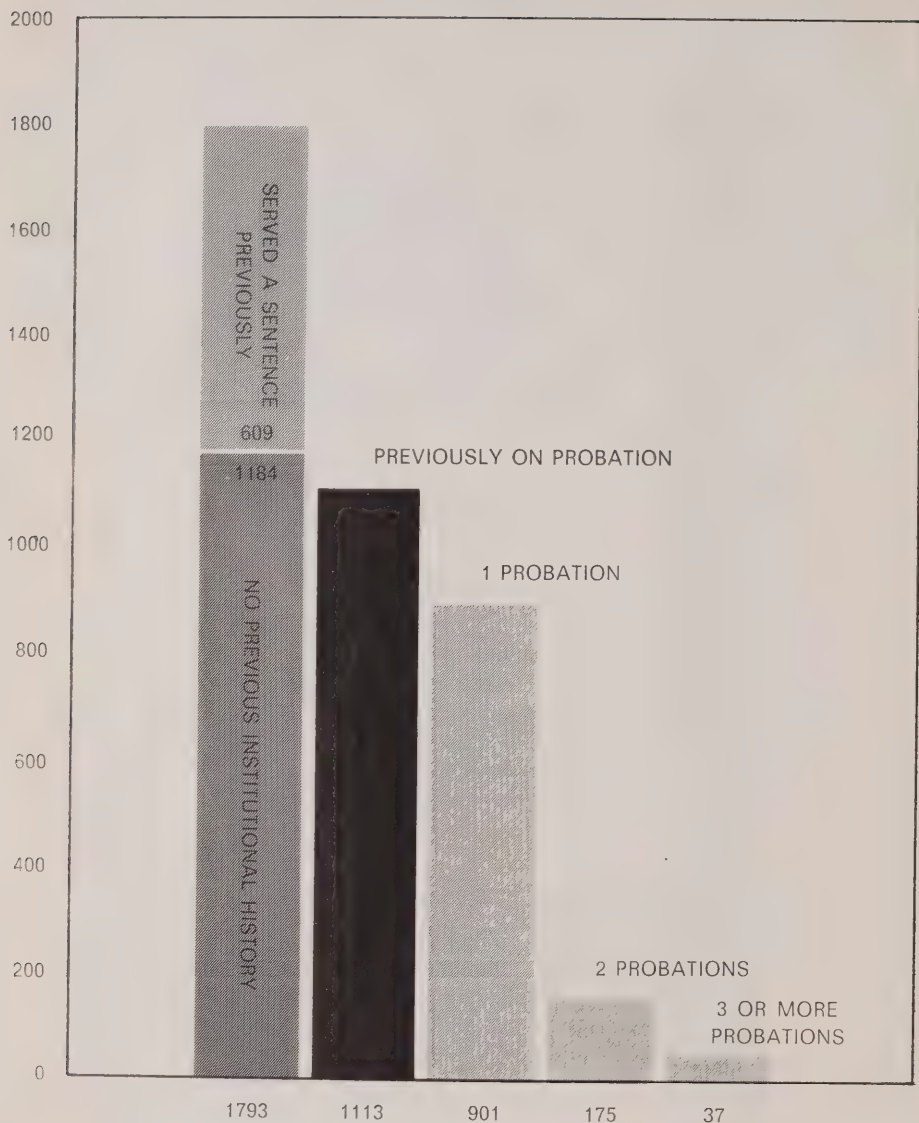

*These are two categories:

- Those committed to an industrial school in another Province;
- In Ontario, wards of the training schools returned to the school as the result of a conviction in an adult court.

This graph emphasizes the wide use of suspended sentences and probation with young adults committing their first offence. Although 556 are second offenders, only 15 of these are coming to our institutions for the second time.

TOTAL ADMISSIONS TO GUELPH

This graph shows that of all inmates admitted to Guelph (including the Neuro-Psychiatric Clinic transfers) two-thirds had never previously been in an adult institution. Almost two-thirds had previously been on probation at some time or other. Of these, 80% had received one probation, 17% two probations, 3% had three or more probations.

A high percentage of admissions have been on probation previously. Of the 1,793 admitted to Guelph, 1,113 had previously been on probation the following times—

- 901 once on probation;
- 175 twice on probation;
- 29 three times on probation;
- 8 more than three times.

That is, 62% of the people admitted to Guelph in the year had been on probation previously.

Whilst statistics do not necessarily give a true evaluation, an indication of the work which goes on in Correctional Institutions is given in the following report. Including the initial medical examination, inmates were seen by physicians 51,700 times and 4,600 visits were made to the dentist. There were 17,800 individual attendances at religious services, 6,600 individual attendances at Bible classes or other church groups, and 1,500 at AA meetings. The total number of student hours spent in academic class was 30,500, whilst the student hours spent on vocational trade training were 161,800. There were over 11,000 visits to inmates by families and friends. In the course of the year, books were borrowed from the Guelph institutional library over 50,000 times.

In all, at Guelph over 34,000 inmate staff counselling sessions were held during the year. These sessions varied from rather short "advice-giving" ones to formal psychiatric and psychological interviews. The latter included regular weekly (sometimes more often) interviews, extending over a period of weeks. The time spent would be appropriate to the nature and seriousness of the problem. However, it should be noted that this figure includes recorded sessions only. Much counselling between staff and inmates occurs at the informal and unrecorded level. In fact, these contacts probably constitute the bulk of the rehabilitative effort.

This kind of activity occurs in all of our institutions, some with greater emphasis on academic training, others with emphasis on vocational training, still others with emphasis on counselling and group work, and so forth. For example, the Ontario Reformatory at Millbrook had a particularly high church attendance with 6,200 individual attendances during the year, and 1,100 individual attendances at Bible class. There is also considerable interest in the academic programme at this institution with over 9,000 student hours recorded during the course of the year.

The superintendent of the Training Centre at Brampton stated, in reply to a request for information, "an interesting sidelight to this survey is the number of post-discharge contacts staff have had with former students. Apart from a fairly frequent exchange of correspondence between many staff and former students, some of us have personal visits as well from former students who return to renew acquaintances with staff. We think that this kind of identification is supportive and helpful. Certainly it tends to confirm our confidence in our programme and our belief that many young men benefit from their stay here."

At Brampton, the total number of academic student-hours exceeded 77,000 and vocational training student-hours were in excess of 127,000. Formal counselling sessions exceeded 10,000 in number. Again it should be emphasized that these are formal recorded sessions only. The bulk of the rehabilitative effort in many of our institutions consists of the countless number of informal contacts involved in the daily interaction of staff and inmates.

For female offenders, the Classification Programme directs different groups of inmates who are suitable for a particular type of intensive rehabilitation programme to either the Treatment Centre or the Guidance Centre. The difference of emphasis in the programmes can be seen in reported activities.

Equal use is made of academic instruction and vocational training with the selected group of offenders at the Guidance Centre, whereas the emphasis at the Mercer Reformatory is on vocational trade training. Intensive counselling sessions, both group and individual, are given at both the Guidance and the Treatment Centre, whereas the Mercer programme places greater emphasis on testing and evaluation so as to direct an inmate to the most suitable programme.

The foregoing merely reflects the myriad activities that occurred during the last year at our institutions. Further, we must express our appreciation for the continuing interest in our work by many interested citizens, after-care agencies, universities, service clubs, employees, church groups, and government departments. These groups have greatly assisted us. In fact, much of our rehabilitative effort would have been impossible without their assistance.

Yours sincerely,

Deputy Minister.

ANNUAL REPORT ONTARIO BOARD OF PAROLE

Year Ending March 31st, 1964

The composition of the Board is as follows:

MR. D. C. MASON	Chairman
MR. J. S. MORRISON, B.A., M.ED.....	Full-time Member
REV. D. M. KERR.....	Full-time Member
MRS. GLADYS COULTER.....	Part-time Member
MRS. J. ISOBEL ROSS.....	Part-time Member

The authority of the Ontario Board of Parole is set out in The Parole Act of 1946 and the Amendments of 1952 and 1960. New Regulations under the Act were approved in 1961.

The Board meets regularly at the Main Office in Toronto to review files of prisoners who have been automatically scheduled for parole consideration. At these meetings the Board also considers applications requesting a review of cases dealt with previously. During the year 59 meetings were held at the Main Office.

Board meetings are held at those institutions in the Province where prisoners serving indeterminate sentences are confined. The purpose of these institution meetings is to personally interview those prisoners eligible for parole consideration.

The personal interview with the prisoner is considered a valuable experience in deciding for or against parole. Every attempt is made to make the prisoner feel at ease during the interview and he is encouraged to relate his feelings as to the offence, his stay in the institution, as well as his plans for the future. The Board has the opportunity generally to assess the prospects for successful rehabilitation. 91 Meetings were held at institutions during the year.

It is obvious that many factors must be taken into consideration when deciding for or against parole. The Board is in possession of a great deal of information regarding each case: personal history, circumstances of the offence, previous criminal activity, community investigation, pre-sentence report, pertinent psychological and psychiatric reports, institution progress and conduct, proposed parole plans, etc.

The purpose of parole is to assist in the reformation and rehabilitation of the prisoner as well as to protect society. It is a means of assisting the prisoner through guidance and advice to make the difficult transition from institutional security to freedom in society. The Board has the authority to return the prisoner to the institution in the event he fails to comply with the conditions of parole.

Rehabilitation Officers located at the institutions are responsible for completing plans for release. This may entail securing satisfactory accommodation, employment, clothing, tools, etc. The parole plan is sent to the Main Office for approval and the parole certificate is prepared and forwarded to the institution for the prisoner's release.

The supervisor's role is a most important part of the parole programme. Rehabilitation Officers are located at all institutions as well as 5 outside offices throughout the Province, and are responsible for the supervision of juveniles released from Ontario Training Schools and parolees from adult institutions. The rehabilitation programme also offers assistance to those prisoners released at the expiration of their sentences and who request help and guidance in re-establishing themselves in society. Outside offices are located at Toronto, Hamilton, London, Ottawa and Port Arthur.

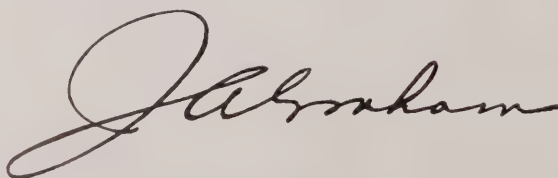

A person released from an institution cannot reform unless he is given a chance to do so. If he is refused an opportunity to work or is shunned by society, there is a good possibility of his return to crime. The people selected for parole have given an indication of their intent to reform and, therefore, society should give them a fair chance to prove themselves.

This year saw the completion of the new Rehabilitation Plan implemented in 1961-62. This programme entails the amalgamation of all supervisory staff, juvenile and adult, plus the establishing of outside offices in areas removed from our institutions. This programme affords greater service to those persons released under supervision from both juvenile and adult institutions.

The Board is indebted to staff of the Department both at Main Office and institutions, the Judiciary, Police Forces and Probation Service for their continued co-operation and assistance. Appreciation is also extended to the many public and private community services and agencies, too numerous to mention, who have co-operated with the Board and the Rehabilitation Service in assisting men and women released from our institutions to rehabilitate themselves successfully.

D. C. MASON,
Chairman.

The Department acknowledges with regret the death of Mrs. Gladys Coulter on January 10th, 1965. Mrs. Coulter was appointed to the Ontario Board of Parole in 1952 and was a dedicated and loyal Member of the Board during her years of service.

THE SALVATION ARMY

REPORT OF POLICE COURT, PRISON, JAIL AND AFTER-CARE WORK IN ONTARIO

For the Year Ending Dec. 31, 1963

Changes of personnel are inevitable, and during 1963 we welcomed Brigadier James Wilder back to Correctional Services in Toronto, and Brigadier Gordon Barfoot to Ottawa, where he visits Rideau Industrial Farm, Carleton County Jail and the police courts.

Brigadier Ernest Hutchinson came new to this field, succeeding Brigadier Allen McInnes at Burwash Industrial Farm. We mourn the loss of the latter as his death last September removed from our midst a valiant worker, but 'we rejoice in hope' too.

Brigadier Thomas Hobbins, London, retired in May, but continues to work with his accustomed zeal as he did before. We have a term which says, 'not retired but retreaded' which seems applicable.

The figures which accompany this report tell only part of the story. Who can estimate the relief and cheer experienced by those who engaged in nearly fifty thousand interviews, and all the activity in family and community as well as individual experiences that flow from such?

The material help given, too, is not calculated in just the expenditure of dollars and cents. But the most heart-warming results may well stem from the over two thousand religious services conducted in correctional institutions in Ontario. Once again we record our deep satisfaction at the new chapels being erected and dedicated to the glory of God and the blessing of inmate populations in our Institutions in Ontario. Here are the facts:

Visits by Salvation Army Officers to prisons and police courts.	9,069
Interviews by Salvation Army Officers to prisons and police courts.....	48,661
Religious services held in Institutions.....	2,113
Attendance at Bible Classes.....	3,963
Total attendance at all religious services conducted by Salvation Army Officers.....	71,100
Men and women handed to Salvation Army care, met on discharge or who came to Correctional Services Officers on their release for help.....	30,490
Meals and beds supplied ex-inmates.....	33,901
Assisted with bus or train fares.....	2,850
Letters and telephone calls.....	33,170
Employment obtained, returned to former jobs, etc.....	2,888

(The usual gifts at Christmas-tide of chocolate bars, pocket calendars, fruit, etc. were made in all correctional institutions throughout the Province.)

As I write this report I am aware that my retirement is near, and that I will not be performing this official act again. My successor, the new Director, will perform this happy duty, and I commend him to your kindly fellowship who read these words. To the Minister, the Deputy Minister, their Staff, to Superintendents and all Staff members throughout this Province I extend my heartfelt thanks for all kindnesses shown to me personally, and for the tremendous interest and co-operation you have given all officers in the institutions, courts, etc.

God bless you all,

Sincerely yours,

J. CLINTON EACOTT, LIEUT.-COLONEL.

ADMISSIONS — FIRST AND SECOND TIME IMPRISONED

This graph shows how, over a period of seven years, the number of people being committed for the first time remains constant at about 17,000 average.

Over the same period, those being committed for a second time also remains constant at about 9,000.

This means that over a period of time about 9,000 out of 17,000 first termers return. On an average, about 53% of first termers in jails recidivate.

TO THE HONOURABLE ALLAN GROSSMAN,
Minister of Reform Institutions.

SIR:

The reports of the following for the year which ended March 31, 1964, are presented herewith for your consideration:

The Training Schools Advisory Board.

The Training Schools Statistics.

The report of the Training Schools Advisory Board is brief and concise, yet it not only gives an account of the activities of the Board for the year but also states some important facts and statistics. The report indicates that meetings were held on Thursday mornings of each week and visits were made to each of the Schools during the year. The sincere interest, and efforts which the members have devoted in discharging their duties, is a fine example of dedicated citizens of high calibre giving voluntarily of their time and talents in public service. Their opinions and suggestions are therefore worthy of serious consideration and study.

In 1962, the Training School facilities were greatly increased by the opening of the Ontario Training School for Girls, Lindsay, The Ontario Training School for Boys, Simcoe, Coldsprings Camp for Boys located in the Ganaraska Forest, as well as a large addition to St. John's Training School for Boys, Uxbridge. At that time all of our training schools were experiencing sustained periods of maximum enrolment but with the opening of these new facilities the pressures of overcrowding were tentatively relieved. However, the increase in new commitments is again resulting in some overcrowding situations, particularly in our Boys' Schools. In order to accommodate this ever-increasing enrolment the Department is already planning an expansion of facilities for the next fiscal year.

It is interesting to note that commitments and admissions to all Training Schools for the period 1955-1959 were 3,657 — an average of 731 per year. During the period 1960-1964, the figure was 5,179 or an average of 1,035 per year. This is an increase of 304 per year or 41% over the first period.

The increase in commitments insofar as the Training Schools of this province are concerned shows little variation per 100,000 population over a 10-year period and we can only conclude that the rise in commitments is the natural outcome of the greatly increased population which in 1955 was 5,266,000 and in 1964 stands at 6,586,000 — an increase of 25%. Over this same 10-year period the juvenile population of the province showed an increase of 88%.

According to The Training Schools Act, which governs the establishment and administration of all the Training Schools in Ontario, wardship may remain in effect until the ward reaches his or her eighteenth birthday. However, this is not intended to restrict the granting of placement. As soon as a child is ready to be returned to the community a recommendation for placement is made to the Advisory Board. Placement may be made to the ward's own home or a suitable foster home. The Board studies each case and makes its recommendation to you, as Minister of the Department, for final decision. While the Act provides for wardship to continue until the child reaches the age of eighteen, it does not necessarily follow that all wardships continue for the full period. Frequently wardship is terminated before the age limit is reached. This is often the case when a ward has demonstrated by satisfactory adjustment that he or she has responded to treatment and where it is felt termination would be in the best interests of the child's future. Termination is then authorized by you on the recommendation of the Advisory Board. The report of the Advisory Board shows an apparent satisfactory adjustment of a very considerable number on release of wardship. This is indicative of the measure of success of our total treatment programme.

The Training Schools have continued to expand their activities with concentrated emphasis on the successful adjustment and rehabilitation of the wards. The total number of wards demanding attention throughout the year has placed heavy demands on the staff. Their untiring efforts have been rewarded by the successful adjustment and future happiness of many young lives. Our future success will depend on the programmes of training and treatment offered in our schools coupled with the loyalty and devotion of a well-trained staff. With this in mind, concentration is being directed towards attracting more professionally trained personnel and at the same time emphasis is being placed on improving the qualifications of all staff. This is being accomplished through in-service training, as well as specially designed courses at the Staff School and McMaster University. It is worthy of note that our Schools are well thought of throughout Canada and we are frequently consulted by other jurisdictions regarding procedures and programmes.

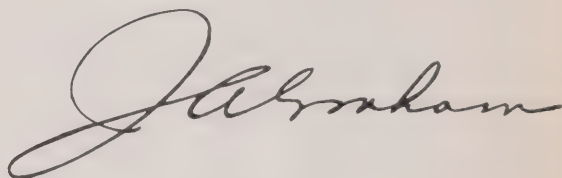

The work being done by the Rehabilitation Officers is very commendable and plays a most important and vital role in the total programme of the training schools. It is the duty of the Rehabilitation Officer to find suitable foster homes, and give guidance and counselling to both parents and foster parents. Home inspections must be carefully carried out and wards directed in their thinking and attitudes to a successful re-adjustment in the community.

The retirement on April 10th, 1963, of Reverend Martin W. Pinker, O.B.E., Chairman of the Training Schools Advisory Board, is noted. He was most resourceful in his dealings with problem children and the application of his extensive experience and talents in understanding the youth of our day will be a great loss to the Board. Reverend Pinker served as full-time chairman of the Board from August 5th, 1958, until his retirement. However, his continued interest in the work of our Department is evident in his Chairmanship of the Ministers Advisory Council on the Treatment of the Offender, where his knowledge and experience prove most valuable.

May I take this opportunity of expressing our sincere appreciation and gratitude to the many interested citizens and organizations who have given generously of their time and talents in assisting us in this most important and rewarding work.

Yours sincerely,

Deputy Minister.

THE TRAINING SCHOOLS ADVISORY BOARD ANNUAL REPORT

TO THE HONOURABLE ALLAN GROSSMAN,
Minister of Reform Institutions.

SIR :

We have pleasure in presenting our Annual Report for the year ending March 31, 1964.

Meetings were held weekly to consider special cases, authority for Placements, Returns to Institutions, and Termination of Wardships. The file on each case is provided for the scrutiny of the members.

The very great increase in the juvenile population of the Province has correspondingly increased the commitments to the Training Schools, causing accommodation problems which they have endeavoured to meet by reducing the period of training. This procedure is not conducive to the successful reformation of many of these young people.

The statistical report which follows does exhibit the work of the Board and is self-explanatory.

Administration and academic building, O.T.S. Galt.

N.B. The reason why the figures in this table may sometimes be found to differ from those submitted by the Schools, is because the School figures refer to individual cases, whereas in this table, if action is taken by the Board concerning an individual case more than once during the period covered, it is shown more than once.

ENROLMENTS

The number of wards in residence and on placement on March 31, 1964, was 3,234, which is an increase of 121 over the same date in 1963, and of 303 over the same date in 1962. It is apparent that practical plans must be implemented to meet the problems of growing institutions.

Certain facts should be considered:

- If the training school programme is to produce the best results in developing a sense of responsibility and good citizenship, then the Schools should be built in locations where families can visit regularly at not too great expense. Family relationships are most important.
- Different Schools with different programmes for Juniors (13 and under) and for Seniors should be planned.
- The increase in the number of commitments from Northern Ontario seems to warrant consideration for a Boys' School in that area.
- It is essential that the classrooms in all Schools should be well equipped and staffed with very capable teachers. This is necessary in order that the child's educational programme will not be interrupted due to the transition from the community school to the Training School and correspondingly so from the Training School back to the community.

Judges seldom send a girl or boy to a training school on a first appearance in Court. Court personnel usually make use of every means possible through the influence of home, school, Church and social agencies, to change the attitude and actions of the youth brought before the Court. Consequently only the most serious cases are committed to the care of the Schools. The Department and the Schools must accept these. The Schools have a clear and definite responsibility to provide the best possible educational and training programme: academic, recreational, religious and vocational. However, increasing enrolments and subsequent overcrowding in some Schools and a necessarily reduced training period will adversely affect the value of the educational efforts of the Schools. No doubt the Department has planned to meet the problem. The comments of the Advisory Board on this matter in the 1962 and 1963 reports need not be reiterated.

PLACEMENTS

The Review Committee in each School assesses the progress of its wards every three months. When it is evident that the boy or girl has improved sufficiently to merit placement in the community, either at home or in a foster home, a suitable home is sought and investigated, and a recommendation is made to the Advisory Board and to the Minister.

For the year ending March 31, 1964, there were 2,177 such placements recommended and authorized. The placement officers of the Regional Rehabilitation Services then have the responsibility of giving regular and friendly supervision. This is a very important service which these young people need at this critical period in their lives. It has been well done and well directed.

RETURNS TO TRAINING SCHOOLS

March 31st, 1964.....

When a boy or girl is first committed to a School, the motivation for trying to co-operate with supervisors and teachers is manifestly good in practically all cases. The majority settle down after classification and assessment and enter freely into the methodical programme of training school life, both inside and outside the classroom.

Usually the first placement is anticipated with pleasure and is a happy one, but on meeting the problems of modern life, the motive for good is lost when things don't turn out as they expected. In some cases a don't care attitude is the result and delinquency follows. This sometimes occurs in spite of the counselling and efforts of the placement officers, and a return to the School for further training seems to be the only solution. Usually no home or foster home will keep these wards.

It is noted that many of the wards returned from placement to the schools for further training have appeared again in either the Juvenile or Adult Courts and have become cynical and quite sophisticated. As a result they are a disturbing factor in the training programme of the school by their example of poor behaviour and conduct. It is the considered opinion of the Board that some thought should be given by the Department for the establishment of a separate programme for the retraining of wards returned from placement and in a setting apart from the other schools.

The increasing rise in the number of children committed to the care of the Training Schools for treatment and social re-education presents serious problems. The overcrowding of accommodation places a heavy burden on existing facilities and restricts to some degree the effectiveness of the training programme. The practice of shortening the period of training to find room for new commitments and returning the student back to the community before he or she is completely adjusted defeats the purpose of the Training School system. Lack of accommodation is never a good reason for ending a period of training for in the final analysis it may prove costly to the community in the years ahead.

TERMINATION OF WARDSHIP

The following table shows that 995 cases for termination of wardship were considered and 952 granted. It is worthy of note that in our opinion 620 of these, 76 per cent, made a satisfactory adjustment in the community.

REPORT OF

INCLUDING REMARKS

It is the privilege of the members of the Board to visit all Schools, to meet the Superintendents and staff members, and to have access to the files of all the wards committed to their care. In our opinion it is only right and just that commendation be extended to Superintendents and Teachers, to Supervisors and Rehabilitation Officers, for their unceasing, conscientious efforts to rehabilitate ward youth, and in providing the best possible conditions for learning and development, in spite of many frustrations.

It is with regret that we record the retirement of Reverend Martin W. O.B.E., Chairman of the Board. His understanding of youthful people who have problems was the result of his extensive experience. In a capable and efficient manner he guided the deliberations of the Board.

Appreciation and thanks are expressed to the officials of the Department and the Schools for the admirable co-operation extended at all times.

We remain,

Sincerely,

JOHN M. BENNETT, Ph.D., Acting Chairman.

C. H. LEWIS, M.D., C.M.

ETHEL SANDERSON.

It is with a deep sense of regret that I report that Mr. Wallace M. Murdoch, appointed a member of the Training Schools Advisory Board by Order-in-Council, September 16, 1948, passed away after a lengthy illness on November 7, 1964. As a business man his wise counsel was of invaluable assistance to the Advisory Board in making decisions regarding the welfare of the wards under the care of the Department. Before retirement Mr. Murdoch was President of the Ford Tractor and Equipment Sales Company of Canada Limited.
